EISENHOWER SAYS NO; 'WILL NOT AT THIS TIME IDENTIFY SELF WITH POLITICAL PARTY'

HAGUE CALLS ON TRUMAN TO ASK GENERAL TO TAKE THE NOMINATION

New Jersey Democratic Leader Says if President Is Named at Convention State Will Go Republican by 300,000.

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has disavowed political ambitions with a statement that he "could not accept nomination for any public office."

He broke a political silence of almost six months last night to take public cognizance of the booming Draft-Eisenhower movement within the Democratic party.

Many leaders of the draft movement said, however, they would not take the General's "No" for an answer and would continue efforts to win the top spot on the Democratic ticket for him.

Hague Still For General.

Frank Hague, New Jersey Democratic leader, issued a statement today, urging President Truman to ask Gen. Eisenhower to accept the nomination.

James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, and a leader in the draft-Eisenhower movement, asserted he was going ahead with plans for a pre-convention caucus of anti-Truman Democrats. He is California Democratic chairman.

(Aids of President Truman said the President regarded the Eisenhower statement as pulling the rug from under opponents of a Truman nomination, and Washington Correspondent Lyle C. Wilson of the United Press wrote that the Eisenhower statement all but wrecked the stop-Truman movement.)

Former Letter Reaffirmed.

Eisenhower's declaration was made public by Robert Harron, Columbia University director of public information. In it the Columbia U. president said:

"I will not, at this time, identify myself with any political party, and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contest."

The statement from Eisenhower, who retired as chief of staff to accept the presidency of Columbia, was in the form of a memorandum to Harron.

Dated July 5 and typed on a sheet crested with the General's five stars and the initials "D.D.E." it read:

"Profoundly touched by the renewed suggestion that I could satisfactorily fill high public office, my views with respect to my proper course of duty are still identical with those presented in the letter I wrote on Jan. 23, 1948."

At that time the General wrote to Leonard Finder, Manchester (N. H.), newspaper publisher, that "I am not available for and could not accept nomination for high political office." Finder said again today the Democrats should draft Eisenhower.

Hague's Prediction.

Hague, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said in his statement that "the position of the New Jersey delegation is unchanged. . . . New Jersey will cast its 36 votes for an out-and-out draft of Gen. Eisenhower at the convention."

The former Jersey City mayor, who on Sunday in Asbury Park led the New Jersey delegation from support of Truman to indorsement of Eisenhower at an extraordinary party caucus, continued:

"I can advise the President that

Text of Eisenhower's Latest Statement on Public Office

Following is the text of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's memorandum to Robert Harron, his press representative, stating his position regarding the Democratic presidential nomination:

I KNOW that your office has for some days been overburdened with innumerable queries concerning my intentions in regard to the current political situation. My decisions and earnest convictions concerning possible personal connection with this year's political contest were given to the public several months ago, but it now appears there has arisen a question as to whether or not I have changed my position. Profoundly touched by the renewed suggestion that I could satisfactorily fill high public office, my views with respect to my proper course of duty are still identical with those presented in the letter I wrote on Jan. 23, 1948.

In response to any further queries as to my course of action during the foreseeable future, and in order that there may be no possible room for doubt in the mind of any interested American will you please invite attention to the firm purposes expressed in my January letter and quote the following as coming personally from me:

"I shall continue, subject to the pleasure of the university trustees, to perform the important duties I have undertaken as president of Columbia. I will not, at this time, identify myself with any political party and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contests.

"This implies no intention of maintaining silence on any issue of importance to the country on which I may feel qualified to express an opinion."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

ALLEN IN TOUCH WITH TRUMAN AIDS ON MISSION TO IKE

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 6—George E. Allen, political handyman to President Truman, kept in close touch with White House advisers during his successful mission over the weekend, capped by Gen. Eisenhower's announcement that he could not accept nomination for any public office.

Despite a flurry of official denials, the effervescent Allen had been informed of the desire of Truman's political "kitchen cabinet" for a Sherman-like statement that Gen. Eisenhower would not accept if nominated. In addition, he was aware that this move had the approval and sanction of the President himself.

The timetable worked out as planned at a strategy meeting of Truman's political advisers last Wednesday afternoon at the White House. It was attended by the President (who was in and out of the lengthy session), Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General Clark, Federal Security Administrator Ewing, Under Secretary of the Interior Chapman, Presidential Adviser Samuel Rosenman, Senate Secretary Biffle, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Matthew Connelly, Truman's executive assistant.

Weekend With General.

Allen, onetime Washington hotel operator who worked his way up—in jocular fashion—to Reconstruction Finance Corporation director and intimate of Truman and other top officials, spent the entire holiday weekend with Gen. Eisenhower near New York.

Notwithstanding the disclosure by the Post-Dispatch that Allen was serving as an intermediary between the White House group and the popular General, Allen kept the White House advised of his progress. It was learned today that he made at least two long-distance telephone calls to one of the White House advisers who sat in on the Wednesday strategy meeting.

In his first "intelligence" report, made either Saturday or Sunday, Allen said he was not certain what Eisenhower would do, that the General himself was still deliberating whether to issue a flat statement.

Phones of Victory.

Allen's second telephone call to the White House group was a victorious one. It was made yesterday morning, and assured the group that Eisenhower had finally "come around" to the fateful decision, and would make an announcement later in the day. This was done, and there was jubilation in the White House. The Allen mission, partly self-imposed but partly in response to the wishes

SUNSET COUNTRY CLUB OPERATES SLOT MACHINES

Gambling Syndicate Splits Profits 50-50, Professes to Furnish Police Protection.

A slot machine syndicate, professing to have ways and means of furnishing protection against law enforcement in St. Louis County, wormed its way into Sunset Country Club, Gravois and Denny roads, during the three-day holiday rush.

Seven "one-armed bandits" did a flourishing business in quarters, dimes and nickels under an arrangement approved by the club directors.

Locker-room conversation was that the club and the slot-machine syndicate were splitting the profits 50-50, with the syndicate furnishing protection from interference by the local constable and the St. Louis county sheriff.

Following publication in today's first edition of the Post-Dispatch that the machines were in the club, the machines disappeared. Deputy Sheriffs Harry Newbold and Philip Moeller, dispatched to Sunset by Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley, searched the premises from cellar to attic and reported there was no trace of the seven machines.

Sheriff Mosley, who is a candidate for re-election, said he had instructed Newbold and Moeller to seize any machines they found and to make arrests, if such action was indicated.

"I don't know of any slot machine syndicate and, as far as I know, there are no machines in St. Louis County," the Sheriff said.

The Sheriff declared he would seek the source of "the protection story." "It is a political year and maybe there is something behind this that I don't know about," he observed.

Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro of St. Louis, a member of Sunset's board of directors, told the Post-Dispatch the slot machine subject was brought up at a directors' meeting he attended about three months ago.

"I announced that the installation of slot machines in the club would be a flagrant law violation," Judge Catanzaro said. "I told them 'we are not going to vote on this, we are going to let it die right now.'" Catanzaro said he had not been in the club for about 30 days, until last Thursday, when he saw slot machines in the club bar.

Constable A. Martin Heutel of the Lemay-Gravois area, told reporters he would have "gone in after the slot machines if I had known they were there."

The constable said that last year his cousin, John Heutel, a member of Sunset, and Karl Menzel, the manager, told him that slot machines were being considered for the club. "I told them the privacy of the club would be no protection, that I would seize slot machines, even if I had to get search warrants to do it," Constable Heutel said. He denied any knowledge of a slot machine syndicate.

ELECTRIC STRIKE THREAT IS ENDED; UNION ACCEPTS LATEST PROPOSAL

9-to-15-Cent Pay Rise, Company to Pay for Pension Plan, Arbitration on Job Inequities Are Agreed On.

The threat of a power strike by Union Electric Co. employes, which would have caused virtual industrial paralysis and made 500,000 persons idle in the St. Louis area, ended today with announcement by officers of Local 148, AFL Operating Engineers, that union members had voted four to one to accept a company offer of a wage increase and a pension plan.

By accepting the company offer, the 1200 union members will receive a two-year contract, retroactive to July 1, with wage increases ranging from 9 to 15 cents an hour, and a pension plan at company expense. The pension plan, which differs from the present pension arrangement, in which the employes are contributors, was the new element in the company offer.

Arbitration on One Point.

Job inequities, which were part of the dispute, will be ironed out through arbitration, it was agreed. An arbitration board of three men, one for the company, one for the union and an impartial third party, will seek adjustment of wage inequities in the several plants. All settlements will be retroactive to July 1.

Announcement that the company offer had been accepted was made at a meeting at Kiel Auditorium this afternoon of union members who were unable to attend a similar meeting last night. Both last night and today the union men voted by a show of hands to extend the deadline of the threatened strike six days, to next Monday, then cast secret ballots on the settlement offer. Ballots from both meetings here and a meeting at Keokuk, Ia., last night were counted today, with the results announced.

Joseph Hodges of Peoria, a conciliator for the Illinois Department of Labor, addressed today's meeting, offering the services of his department in the event an agreement was not reached. Speakers from the floor were heard by persons outside the meeting room as describing the situation as "damn serious." One speaker observed that "a hell of a lot of us want to strike and a lot of others do not."

Union Lawyer Happy.

William H. Bartley, one of the union attorneys, greeted the settlement announcement with the remark, "I'm awfully happy. I can get some sleep now." Union and company negotiators and attorneys had spent long hours in conferences over the three-day holiday, with no indications of agreement.

The difference between the company and the union was at most 6 cents on the wage question. The company offer, which averages 11½ cents an hour, was accepted generally by eight other unions with which the company has wage agreements. Members of Local 148 had been standing pat on an increase of 15 cents "across the board" until the ballots cast last night and today were counted. The average wage of $1.39 an hour will be increased to $1.50 average.

Last night's meeting followed a day of negotiations at the company offices by union and company representatives with United States conciliators. A similar session on Sunday ended with the grim announcement, "No progress."

Speakers at the union meeting included William J. Stuhr, international union representative; George D. Ferguson, local president; Leo Bachinski, business manager of Local 148, and William White, regional director of the United States Conciliation Service. Reporters were barred from the meeting, but it was learned that discussion involved a number of proposals. On the question of strike postponement there were suggestions for setting the deadline back six hours and 48 hours

REAL SOVIET AIM AT BERLIN VIEWED AS BLACKMAIL TO PILLAGE RUHR

Post-Dispatch Writer Stokes Finds No Prospect of Immediate War, Belief That Russians Will Back Down.

By RICHARD L. STOKES
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

BERLIN, July 6—Beneath the incessant drone of relief planes the German capital crouches in hush and tension like those at the vortex of a whirlwind. Mighty currents eddy along the horizon. Strain so violent cannot long endure without explosion. Under American leadership Western powers are gambling that it is Russia that will give way.

Barring some unexpected incident, there is generally held here to be no immediate prospect of war — that is unless the United States chooses to risk one by driving armed convoys or trains across the 125-mile corridor between Helmstedt and Berlin. Even so, betting is 50-50 that the Russians would let it pass unchallenged.

The explanation of this paradox is that Russia at this time is not seriously interested in driving the Americans, British and French out of Berlin, though long-range Kremlin policy is recognized to be the absorption of all Germany. The Soviet blockade of the Berlin land island is interpreted as an experiment in blackmail. By threat of starving 2,500,000 Germans in western Berlin, the Russians planned to extort license to pillage the Ruhr with its rich complex of coal deposits and potential industries.

Russians Need Resources.

For realistic Muscovites Germany is not Silesia or Berlin but the Ruhr. The Russians need its resources because they have already stripped eastern Germany to the bone and are seizing up to 90 per cent of its current production.

In return for participation in control of the Ruhr, from which they were excluded by the recent six-nation agreement in London, it is believed the Russians would gladly internationalize the Helmstedt-Berlin railway and autobahn corridor and also the barge route to Berlin from Hamburg or Bremen. They would, of course, regard it as just another pact to be junked at their convenience.

But the Soviet blackmail plot has backfired with force astonishing not only to the Russians but also to their opponents. In the first place, the exhibition of British-American air power has the Soviets gasping.

The Western Allies could not have devised a more dramatic way of proving democratic vitality, good will and defiance of the Russian Bear in its very teeth. In sight and hearing of all Berlin, a constant stream of relief planes are passing overhead night and day, each with a cargo of priceless food.

Anti-Soviet Sentiment.

Secondly, the threat of starving western Berlin has excited an unprecedented and anti-Soviet outburst not only in the Allied sectors but throughout the Russian occupation zone. The Socialist United party's popular front through which the Communists rule eastern Germany is now at it lowest ebb in favor and prestige.

The Russians also are alarmed by the effect in France, Italy and other countries of western Europe. It looks very bad when the foremost champion of solidarity of the working classes tries to starve 2,500,000 of the proletariat in Berlin. Furthermore the lesson of the Cominform's denunciation of Yugoslavia is not lost on the farmers of Germany and western Europe. It shows an inflexible Communist purpose to exterminate small landholders and collectivize agriculture everywhere.

Thirdly, the Russians have not yet dared to interfere with Allied food armadas of the air. They have been warned that any effort to do so will be met with escorts of fighter planes. Attacks on these would constitute an act of military aggression. The belief remains firm that the Russians not only are unwilling but unable at present to undertake a large-scale war.

Therefore, few Americans here

U.S. DEMANDS MOSCOW END BERLIN BLOCKADE; BRITAIN AND FRANCE ALSO PROTEST

MARSHALL HANDS NOTE TO RUSSIAN ENVOY TO SEND TO THE KREMLIN

Separate Communications by Other Two Western Powers—Action Not an Ultimatum, French Spokesman Says.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The United States demanded directly of the Soviet Government today that the Russian blockade of Berlin be lifted. Secretary of State George C. Marshall presented an American note personally to Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin for transmission to the Kremlin.

The United States acted in concert with Britain and France in protesting strongly against the blockade. Separate notes were delivered to the Russian ambassadors in London and Paris.

Immediately after Marshall handed the American note to Panyushkin, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White issued this statement:

"The Ambassador was informed that it is not the intention of this Government to make the contents of the note public until the Soviet Government had a reasonable period of time to study the note and make its reply."

No Ultimatum, French Say.

White officially gave no intimation of the line which Marshall took. Other diplomatic informants said there appeared no doubt that he demanded the immediate lifting of the Berlin blockade, and protested against Russia's recent policies in the German capital. They said he argued that the Soviet Union must directly accept responsibility for any lack of supplies among the millions of Germans living in Berlin.

In Paris, a French spokesman said the Western notes did not constitute an ultimatum. Other sources there said the three notes made up one of the strongest protests the Western Allies yet have made to the Soviet Union.

Previously diplomatic sources in London said the protest would be a joint one, but later these informants said they erred. France has urged a more moderate line than the one advocated by the United States.

Differences in Notes.

The French spokesman said the main differences in the notes were these: The American note referred to a letter from President Truman to Prime Minister Joseph Stalin; the British document referred to the Potsdam conference. Other Paris sources said all three notes offered to negotiate over-all settlement of Berlin problems if the Russians would lift the 18-day blockade of western Berlin.

White did not define what was meant by a "reasonable period of time" in which the Soviet Government could study the American note. However, the contents of the three notes are not expected to be disclosed for at least several days.

The Western powers' conformance to diplomatic usage in keeping the notes secret until Russia has had a chance to reply was in contrast with the recent action of the Soviet Union in broadcasting memoranda handed to the Kremlin by United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith in what was supposed to be a confidential exchange with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Panyushkin said Marshall had not expressed to him directly any views on Berlin. He did not say what they talked about.

Panyushkin told reporters as he left the department that he had received a note from Marshall but didn't know what was in it. He was in Marshall's office for 14 minutes.

CAROLE LANDIS KILLS SELF WITH SLEEPING PILLS

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (UP)—Movie star Carole Landis, who killed herself yesterday in her luxurious Brentwood home, left no clues to indicate why she took her life, authorities said today. She was 29 years old.

Friends said the actress, who was getting her fourth divorce, had seemed restless and dissatisfied.

Actor Her Companion.

Harrison, married to Actress Lilli Palmer, said he knew no reason for her death, and nothing in her Monterey-style Brentwood mansion told her secret.

Miss Landis, who had been swimming, dining and lunching daily with Harrison the last few weeks, had him as a dinner guest Sunday night. They dined alone and parted at 9 o'clock. Police estimated she swallowed the tablets about four hours later.

Her body was found near the doorway of her bathroom overlooking Santa Monica bay. Her head was pillowed on a brown leather jewel case, and her long hair fell casually to the round neckline of her white lace blouse.

Written on the envelope was a doctor's prescription: "Red—quick—two hours. Yellow about 5—can take two. Use for severe pain."

Note to Mother.

Nearby was a pair of red boudoir slippers, and a sheer dressing gown hung on the bathroom door. The brown-and-red bedspread in her adjoining bedroom was unwrinkled. An empty bottle of sleeping tablets was on the dressing table. Propped against a huge cologne bottle was a note, on her personal stationery, addressed to "Dearest Mommie." It read:

"I'm sorry, really sorry, to put you through this. But there is no way to avoid it. I love you, darling, you have been the most wonderful mom ever and that applies to all our family . . . Everything goes to you. Look in the files, and

THREE POLICEMEN SHOT BY BURGLAR WHOM THEY KILL

Suspect Caught in Liquor Store Grapples With Officer, Seizes His Revolver and Fires.

Three policemen were shot and seriously wounded by a Negro burglar whom they shot and killed after a struggle in a Nine-O-Five liquor store at 1201 Franklin avenue early today.

Most seriously wounded was Sgt. Owen P. Streuter, an acting lieutenant of the Carr Street Station, who was struck in the right side by a bullet which probably pierced his liver. Patrolman William D. Samuels Jr. was shot in the left side of the groin, and Patrolman William G. Lay suffered a scalp wound. Lay and Samuels are also assigned to the Carr Street District. All three are at City Hospital.

The burglar was tentatively identified by his fingerprints as D. L. Regans, who had been sentenced to three terms in the City Workhouse for burglary. His last known address, last December, was 1411 Carr street.

The burglar forced open the rear door of the liquor store with an automobile crank handle, setting off a burglar alarm. Sgt. Streuter, who was cruising alone in a patrol car, was sent to the scene. He entered the rear door of the place and found the burglar sitting in a booth.

Other Officers Arrive.

Just as he was placing the man under arrest, Samuels and Lay drove up in front of the store. Sgt. Streuter motioned to them to go around to the rear, and the burglar sat quietly while the patrolmen entered the place.

Sgt. Streuter directed the other two officers to search the place to see if the burglar had an accomplice. While Samuels was in the front of the store, and Lay was in the basement, the burglar suddenly grappled with Sgt. Streuter and seized the policeman's service revolver, which was in its holster on his belt.

The burglar shot Sgt. Streuter once, and the policeman called for help. Samuels rushed to the rear of the store and grappled with the man. In the struggle, the revolver was discharged once, striking Samuels, and both men fell to the floor.

Blinded by Blood.

As Lay ran up the steps from the basement, the burglar fired at him, and Lay was temporarily blinded by blood streaming down his face from a scalp wound. Lay threw his revolver to Sgt. Streuter, who was lying incapacitated in a pool of blood.

The burglar jumped to his feet and began to run. Sgt. Streuter fired several shots at him with Lay's revolver, and Samuels, though wounded, pursued the burglar out the rear door, firing four times. The man, who had been struck in the lower part of his back and in the left shoulder, collapsed in a rear passageway.

Patrolman Nathan Jordan, the officer on the beat, heard the shots and ran to the rear of the store.

Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell was notified of the shooting and got out of bed to go to City Hospital. Sgt. Streuter who is 51 years old, lives at 3617 North Twentieth street. Lay, 62, lives at 6106 Adkins avenue and Samuels, 42, lives at 5464 Wabada ave.

$300,000 PARIS GOLD THEFT

PARIS, July 6 (UP) — Three wooden crates which had contained 400 pounds of gold stolen from the customs shed at Orly airport Sunday were found floating in the Seine yesterday.

French police continued their investigation of the $300,000 burglary. The gold was in transit from New York to the Bank of Indochina.

DONNELLY GETTING CHECKUP AFTER LIGHT HEAT STROKE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 6—Gov. Donnelly, who was overcome by heat yesterday at Bolivar, Mo., was removed to St. Mary's hospital here last night for a routine checkup.

The attending physician said the sunstroke was a light one; that Donnelly was improving, and that the Governor probably would return home tonight or tomorrow.

The Governor suffered the attack as he was leaving the speaker's platform, following the presentation and dedication of a statue of Simon Bolivar. He was treated by Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, President Truman's personal physician and returned to Jefferson City in his automobile early last evening.

RUSSIANS RESTRICT TRUCKS IN BERLIN

By EDWIN SHANKE

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—The Russians placed strict controls on trucks entering western Berlin from the Soviet sector of the city, today, western-licensed newspapers reported, tightening their land blockade of the American, British and French sectors of the city.

Confiscation of foodstuffs, building materials and telephone equipment on the trucks was reported ordered.

The steady flow of American supply planes into Berlin resumed at noon after bad flying weather in the west hampered the air lift for seven hours. United States Air Force officials said planes again were leaving every four minutes from the Rhine-Main and Wiesbaden fields.

Coal will be added tomorrow to the airlift, T. W. Babcock, United States deputy commandant for Berlin, said the first "experimental" loads of the sorely-needed fuel will be flown in American planes.

United States aircraft flew a record total of 976 tons of food to the city in 214 flights yesterday before bad weather interrupted the flow. The British, who reported weather conditions in their zonal base were good, kept up the momentum of their air ferry service, sending 205 flights into Berlin's Gatow airfield.

DOUGLAS SILENT ON HENDERSON'S BOOM FOR HIM

CAMP LAPOVER, Ore., July 6 (UP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas last night refused to comment on a statement by ADA Chairman Leon Henderson, who said support for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower could be shifted to Justice Douglas now that Eisenhower has announced he "could not accept" a presidential nomination.

Justice Douglas said only that he would remain at this Eastern Oregon vacation spot for the trout fishing season at Green Lake, "where I caught six yesterday on a wet fly." The season closes Oct. 1.

Earlier, before Eisenhower's announcement of last night, Justice Douglas said he "definitely" was not going to attend the Democratic National convention in Philadelphia. He said he was "not running for anything."

In a letter to Irving Dilliard, an editorial writer for the Post-Dispatch, Justice Douglas said a month ago that he had "done everything I can to stop any friends of mine from promoting me for any political office." He added that all activity in his behalf was "against my express desires and wishes."

The letter was dated April 27. It was published June 6 after Justice Douglas authorized its publication.

HOLIDAY VIOLENT DEATH TOLL 555; HIGHEST SINCE 1941

By the Associated Press.

More than 550 persons were killed in accidents over the nation during the three-day Independence Day holiday. The traffic toll for the period is the country's highest since 1941.

The National Safety Council had predicted 235 traffic deaths. The 1941 Fourth of July holiday death total from highway accidents was 384, a record.

This year's death list included four from fireworks.

A final survey of fatalities from violence since 6 p.m. Friday until last midnight showed a total of 555, including:

Deaths from traffic accidents, 297; drownings, 187; fireworks, 4; and miscellaneous causes, 67. The toll of 555 was nine greater than the 546 killed a year ago.

This year's death toll from traffic mishaps compared with 264 last year, while the 187 drownings compared with 114 a year ago.

Missouri reported 133 accidents in which 101 persons were injured and four killed. In the comparable period last year, there were 139 highway accidents, in which 139 persons were injured and 11 killed.

Driver Swept Off Auto by Water Is Marooned in Tree Three Hours

After spending nearly three hours perched in a tree, where he was driven by flood waters in last night's rainstorm, a motorist was rescued in a boat manned by Ladue firemen early today.

William Swaine, 24 Southcote drive, Brentwood, was driving on Rock Hill road when his engine stopped as he crossed the bridge over DeCombe creek, a tributary of the River des Peres. Water from the flooded creek was rising rapidly and in a few minutes Swaine was forced out of his stalled machine.

Unable to open the door, he crawled through a window and sat on the hood. The waters lapped higher, and he climbed to the roof of the machine.

Then Swaine was swept off the automobile and carried eastward about 300 feet, where he managed to grab a tree and took refuge on a branch.

Firemen rescued him at 1:20 a.m. At St. Louis County Hospital he was found to have suffered no ill effects and was released.

Told He Had Only Months to Live, Man Sues Doctors 6 Years Later

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—J. F. Whiteford, an American consulting engineer, sued two London doctors today for telling him in 1942 that he had only a few more months to live.

Whiteford's claim for damages charged John Bowman Hunter, a surgeon, and Dr. Seymour R. Gleed with breach of warranty and negligence. They denied the allegations.

Whiteford complained that the doctors incorrectly diagnosed a bladder ailment, removed his prostate gland, and told him he was suffering from inoperable cancer.

Whiteford said he gave up his business here, sold his furniture, and returned to the United States to die.

An American physician, his lawyer said, told him there was nothing wrong but a bladder complaint.

TRUMAN THINKS ONLY THREAT TO HIS NOMINATION HAS BEEN ENDED

News of Eisenhower's Statement That He Cannot Be Candidate Given to President on Special Train.

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—President Truman sped back to Washington today with what his aids said was the feeling that the rug had been pulled out from under opponents of his nomination.

They reported Truman was convinced Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's assertion he cannot accept nomination for public office had removed the only dangerous threat to his first-ballot selection at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

Truman had retired for the night aboard his private car when it reached St. Louis shortly before midnight. A telegram form the Associated Press to this correspondent aboard the presidential special train was the first word Truman had of Eisenhower's action.

News Sent to President.

The reporter sent the telegram to the President via Brig. General Wallace H. Graham, the White House physician. Graham returned with this comment from the President: "Gen. Eisenhower is an honorable man."

Presumably, Truman referred to Eisenhower's statement several months ago in which the general said he sought no political office.

One presidential assistant said, "the boss believed Eisenhower the first time."

In a before-breakfast appearance at Cincinnati, Truman said, "no comment," when asked about Eisenhower's statement. He showed interest, however, in a copy of the Cincinnati Enquirer which contained the story. Truman told reporters he had "a lot of reports to study" on his return to Washington where he is due at 8:35 p.m.

Most of the members of the President's staff were still asleep when he walked the length of the train on the station platform and was applauded by early travelers.

At Chillicothe, O., some in a crowd yelled: "come on out Harry." The President moved out to the rear platform to wave. A woman shouted: "He's the best Democrat I've ever seen." A man yelled: "Did you hear that Harry?" The President smiled. Said another woman to the chief executive: "You're better looking than your pictures."

Meets Missouri Crowds.

Truman appeared in good humor as he met crowds at Willard, Mo., Springfield, Mo., and other points on his way back east from Bolivar, Mo., where he spoke yesterday with President Romulo Gallegos of Venezuela.

Asked to "say something" at Newburg, Mo., he replied "there is nothing to say—this is really a non-political trip."

At Springfield the President asserted that peace is easier, cheaper and more beneficial to the world than "the approach from a shooting angle."

"I never want to see another war," he said.

Gift of German Pistol.

Old friends swarmed aboard the car for a handshake with the Chief Executive. He got a gift from Stephen Stoeltz, 6-year-old stepson of Dr. George I. Mills Jr., Springfield dentist—an especially made German automatic pistol with "Harry" on one side and "Truman" on the other.

"Is that for the Democratic national convention"? a reporter asked.

"Oh no, not necessarily," Truman replied quickly. "I might use it in the campaign," he smiled broadly.

"We want to see Mrs. Truman and Margaret," some one shouted from the crowd around the train.

The President said his wife and daughter were driving from Bolivar to the summer White House at Independence, Mo.

The President said he had not planned to make a speech in Springfield but could not resist the temptation to say hello to so many old friends.

"You know a Senator never misses an opportunity to make a speech," he said.

Gift From Two Friends.

At Lebanon, Mo., the sun-tanned President again appeared on the platform. He said he had not suffered from the heat at Bolivar—that the regular sunbaths at the White House had accustomed him to it.

At Newburg, two friends Truman had known for 40 years brought him fresh-killed squirrels and huckleberry jam. They were Dr. Neal D. Williams and his wife from Waynesville, Mo. Dr. Williams said he was in the same brigade of the Thirty-fifth Division with Truman in the first World War.

President Romulu Gallegos of Venezuela who accompanied Truman to Bolivar, flew to New York in the President's plane, the Independence.

The Venezuelan President and Senora Gallegos said goodby to Truman at Willard, where they left the presidential train, and were escorted to Springfield airport by the highway patrol.

PLANE FLYING FOOD TO BERLIN CRASHES, DU QUOIN MAN HURT

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 6 (AP)—United States Air Force headquarters said today an American plane flying food to blockaded Berlin crashed last night, slightly injurying two crewmen. The plane, a C-47, was badly damaged.

Officials said the plane, trying to land in bad weather, struck a clump of trees several hundred yards from Wiesbaden airbase. It was the first accident in more than 1100 food-shuttling flights to Berlin, they said.

The pilot was identified as Lt. Frederick P. Davison of Du Quoin, Ill. The co-pilot was Lt. Harry N. Sammis of Bladen, Nebr. Both were released after first aid treatment.

15,000 Attend Bolivar Dedication in Broiling Sun; Hour-Long Parade, Talks, Picnic Mark Ceremony

Truman Says Town Will Long Remember Celebration — Donnelly Among 30 Treated for Heat.

Text of Truman Speech on Page 10A.

By SELWYN PEPPER
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOLIVAR, Mo., July 6 — The people of Bolivar, President Truman remarked, will talk about the celebration they had yesterday for at least a generation.

Fifteen thousand visitors, including the Presidents of the United States and of Venezuela, and Ambassadors of four South American countries, came to this Ozarks community to witness or take part in the dedication of a bronze statue of Simon Bolivar, liberator of six countries and namesake of this town.

The weather almost stole the show. Thermometers climbed to 104 degrees as the crowd sat or stood patiently under the broiling sun in Neuhart Park, a triangular plot across the road from a chicken hatchery, to watch the ceremonies. At least 30 persons, including Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, were treated for heat prostration and scores more applied for treatment for sunburn, fainting spells and heart attacks.

After resting in an auditorium, the Governor said he felt better. Last night he entered a Jefferson City hospital for a checkup.

Parade and Picnic.

An hour-long parade, with as many drum and bugle corps as in an American Legion convention parade, preceded the unveiling of the $100,000 statue. Afterward, there was a picnic on the tree-shaded campus of Southwest Baptist College, and thousands of guests enjoyed succulent country ham, roast turkey, baked beans, potato chips, iced tea, cake and coffee. Then to top it all off, the home county of the Palomino horse held its annual horse show.

The heroic figure of Bolivar, seven feet tall and mounted on an 11-foot marble base, was unveiled by President Romulo Gallegos after a long program of speeches and music.

In an address in Spanish, which he read from a manuscript in book form, President Gallegos said:

"In presenting, in the name of the government and the people of Venezuela, this statue of the liberator of my country, I entrust it to your generous devotion to Bolivar as though I were giving you a seed of love for Venezuela, to be planted in your soil, in the hope that the flower that eventually blooms upon the plant grown from that seed will be love for that America which we all share."

Truman Accepts Gift.

President Truman, as uncomfortable as everyone, even though he wore a cool-looking, light gray suit, said, in accepting the gift:

"The example of Pan-American co-operation, worked out slowly and painstakingly over the years, shows us that we can succeed in establishing the same kind of co-operation with other countries in the United Nations. The way before us is not easy. We must expect delays and disappointments. But we can succeed."

Before beginning his formal address, President Truman remarked with a broad smile: "This is certainly a great celebration today. It's the one and only of its kind in the history of the state.

"I can't tell you how pleased I am that so many Missourians and so many of our neighbors turned out. We are celebrating two Independence days today." (It was the 137th anniversary of Venezuelan independence and the 172nd anniversary of the United States independence.)

After thanking Mayor Doyle C. McCraw and others who had a part in planning the festivities, President Truman said: 'People will talk about it here for the next generation."

Two hours before the arrival of the special train bearing the two Presidents and about 150 other guests from Washington, Bolivar already was jammed with 5000 visitors. Many took places in the square around the Polk county courthouse for a better look at the proceedings. Girls in Scotch kilts, military police in white gloves and white leggings, 45 state troopers, boy and girl scouts, Secret Service men and American Legionnaires thronged the streets.

21-Gun Salute.

Promptly at 9:45 a.m., the 14-car train arrived at the small Frisco station, as 1000 spectators watched with interest and a 21-gun salute from 105 millimeter howitzers boomed in the distance.

President Truman looked pale and rather drawn, in contrast to his healthy suntan when he made a train platform talk in East St. Louis a few weeks ago, near the end of his cross-country trip. Later yesterday, however, he regained his healthy glow and appeared to enjoy the entire celebration with his fellow Missourians.

After welcoming the distinguished visitors, Mayor McCraw, who is a surgeon as well as chief executive of the 3000-population town, presented large gold keys to the city to Presidents Truman and Gallegos. The Venezuelan President replied in Spanish and Walter J. Donnelly, United States Ambassador to Venezuela, translated: "President Gallegos said, in beautiful Spanish, that on receiving the key, he was deeply moved by the sentiments of the Mayor and thanks you most sincerely."

Motor Cavalcade to Square.

Then the Presidents entered a gleaming new Lincoln convertible and started toward the square, as a formation of 48 Navy fighter planes flew overhead. Spectators, five deep along the curbs, applauded and cheered the visitors. The motor cavalcade moved to the rear of the courthouse and then the guests walked through the building, across a ramp and took their places in the reviewing stand.

As photographers moved in for more pictures, President Truman asked: "Should I turn on the heat?" A photographer replied, "It's always hot in your state, Mr. President." He confessed, "It's too hot for me."

Military police stood rigidly on the roofs of buildings overlooking the square as the parade began. Leading the long procession was the 110-piece Air Force Band, sporting new uniforms of white blouses and sky blue trousers.

Close behind was the band of the Thirty-fifth Infantry Division, President Truman's World War I outfit. Then came a National Guard armored unit, followed by the first of dozens of drum and bugle corps. Drum majorettes displayed an infinite variety of prancing steps, one girl stopping directly in front of the reviewing stand and bowing almost to the asphalt pavement.

Six pretty girls in North and South American dress represented the Bolivar public schools on a truck float. Freedom of worship was portrayed on a float reproducing the interior of a church with a minister and a small congregation riding on the truck.

O'Reilly Veterans' Hospital at Springfield, represented by a patient in a wheelchair and a nurse, won warm applause from spectators. Then came boy, girl and cub scouts on foot, followed by a float of crosses like those in American military cemeteries, a display from the American War Dads.

Polk County Floats.

In the reviewing stand, Presidents Truman and Gallegos were happy to accept glasses of cool water.

Next in the parade came floats depicting the products of Polk county. A huge Leghorn chicken in papier mache bore a sign, "The Chicken Center of the World," and other displays asserted that "Polk county is tops in turkeys."

An Independence (Mo.) delegation quickly caught the eye of their leading citizen, President Truman. He waved to the group and pointed to friends among marching Legionnaires.

A ring-tailed live raccoon on a truck of the Ring Tailed Plumbing Co. and finally the beauty queen of the celebration, Miss Barbara Braithwait, riding on a small airplane pulled by a jeep, brought up the rear of the procession. The queen, a 19-year-old employe of a Bolivar bank, carried a large bouquet of roses. Her trim figure, hazel eyes and brown hair won the approval of the crowd.

After the parade ended and President Truman took his seat again in the green convertible, a man ran to his side to say "Harry, I'm going to drop one in for you."

Arrival at Park.

Arriving at the little park, four blocks from the square, President Truman waved his panama hat to the spectators who had hurried there before the parade ended. Dark-complexioned President Gallegos, also in a summer suit, stood at attention with Truman as the Air Force band played the stirring "Hail to the Chief."

Flowers were banked around the still-covered statue. Flags of the United States and Venezuela hung at the front of the guests' platform and in the rear, the flags of other South American Republics were on display. Mrs. Truman sat in a front row seat, wearing a blue linen dress, white hat with bow and white gloves. Beside her sat Mrs. Gallegos in a mannish panama hat, black print dress and mirror-type glasses.

Spectators quickly identified the President's daughter, Miss Margaret Truman, who sat a few rows back, wearing a navy blue polka dot dress and gray hat with pink flowers. She and her mother used programs as fans. Spectators, many of them holding uncomfortable, crying infants, fashioned hats out of newspapers or tied handkerchiefs on their heads to shield the sun.

The speaking program had just begun when 24 Superfortresses and dozens of Army and Navy fighters and bombers roared over the little park. Stopped in midspeech were Frank L. Stufflebam, editor of the weekly Bolivar Herald, and later Robert E. Fowler, chairman of the Bolivar Memorial Foundation.

Proud Day for Town, Mayor Says.

Mayor McCraw said it was a proud day for Bolivar, which he pronounced "BOLLiver," as did other Missouri speakers. The Latins gave it the Spanish pronunciation, "BoLEEvar."

Mayor McCraw said he was sorry time did not permit introductions of the Mayor of Bolivar, Pa., the Mayor of Bolivar, O., the Mayor of Bolivar, W. Va., and the postmaster of Bolivar, N. Y., all of whom took part in the celebration.

He introduced the man who conceived the idea of a memorial to the liberator in Bolivar, Mo., John M. C. Crane, an American born in Brazil. Crane, a Washington neighbor of President Truman, interested him in the project when Truman was a Senator from Missouri.

After the introductory speeches, the band played the National Anthem and Miss Gladys Swarthout of Deepwater, Mo., and the Metropolitan Opera, led the singing. Her Chinese coolie hat, giving her fine protection from the broiling sun, aroused the envy of bareheaded women spectators.

When she sang "Bless This House," at the conclusion of the program, Margaret Truman, who hopes to make a career of singing, leaned over the platform railing and peered around the statue for a better look at Miss Swarthout's technique.

Statue of Bolivar.

When the statue was unveiled, Bolivar was revealed holding a saber in his right hand and a scroll, representing legislation, in his left. The statue faces south, on the advice of the National Park Service, which pointed out that amateur photographers prefer a statue facing the sun, with as few shadows as possible.

The heroic figure, made in Milan, Italy, will look out over a plaza to be landscaped in South American fashion. Photographers, amateur and professional, made pictures of it from all angles all the rest of the day.

The three-day celebration, which included a tortoise race, square-dancing, Joropa dances of South America, band concerts and swimming races, cost $21,000. The state appropriated $15,000 and Bolivar citizens raised $6500. Whatever is left from souvenir program sales will be used for a library department on South American countries.

Bolivar, 230 miles southwest of St. Louis and 32 miles north of Springfield, in the rolling Ozark foothills, never experienced such a celebration in its 113-year history. As they cleared the streets of debris, removed the refreshment stands and took down the bunting today, Bolivarians, some of whom had as many as 22 house guests, said they weren't likely to forget the festival as long as they live.

BOLIVAR, MO., NOT NAMED DIRECTLY AFTER PATRIOT, BUT FOR TENN. TOWN

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOLIVAR, Mo., July 6.

THE town of Bolivar, Mo., wasn't named after Simon Bolivar, the South American patriot—at least not directly. It was named after Bolivar, Tenn.

This Southwest Missouri town, where President Truman and President Gallegos of Venezuela participated in the dedication yesterday of a statue of Simon Bolivar, was founded more than 100 years ago by the Campbell family.

They migrated here from Bolivar, Tenn., and gave this community the same name as their former home. The Tennessee town presumably was named after the South American hero.

There are eight Bolivars in the United States—in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee, Ohio, Mississippi, Louisiana and Missouri.

UNION ELECTRIC HEAD WARNS OF RATES INCREASE

J. W. McAfee Says Consumers Will Absorb Excessive Wage Costs; Tells of Lower Profits.

Electric rates to consumers must be increased to absorb any wage increases made to Union Electric Co. employes which are not in proportion to the utility's revenue, J. Wesley McAfee, president, said last night in a talk over Radio Station KSD.

Reviewing the progress of negotiations with the AFL Operating Engineers' Union, Local 148, McAfee reiterated the company's offer to arbitrate the dispute which had resulted in a strike being set for 7 a.m. today in the East Side and Keokuk (Ia.) plants. The strike, postponed last night until next Monday morning, was called off today when the union voted to accept the company's latest terms.

Earnings Decline.

"Although our gross sales in 1947 increased $6,000,000, our earnings were down almost $250,000 from the previous year," he said. "The same trend has continued through the first six months of 1948, so obviously the factor of high profits doesn't exist in our case."

Using 1941 as a standard, McAfee said the cost of living in St. Louis has risen 67 per cent while Union Electric employes have been granted pay increases of 79.5 per cent. Since the last contract with the nine unions representing the utility's employes the cost of living has increased 8 per cent and eight of the unions already have accepted wage boosts amounting to about 8 per cent, he said.

The average wage of the operating engineers is $1.39 an hour. The company offer to the union would increase the hourly rate to $1.50, which compares favorably with similar positions in other industries in the St. Louis area, McAfee said.

$30-Rise Explained.

The $30 monthly increase recently granted to supervisory personnel, which was partly responsible for the engineers' rejection of the company's wage proposal, was discussed briefly by McAfee. Although the increase represents an hourly increase of 17 cents an hour, he pointed out that supervisors do not receive additional pay for holiday work nor do they "have anything like the liberal overtime" of union members. Therefore, they are actually receiving about the same increase, he said.

McAfee also emphasized the importance of job security and the continuity of employment with the company. He said the firm is attempting to hold the cost of electric power at a "reasonable level."

Strikers Close Vichy Baths.

VICHY, France, July 6 (UP)—Cure-takers in this famed mineral water resort were left high and dry today when workers in the baths struck for higher wages. The strike closed every public bath in the city.

Bolivar Woman Has 22 Guests Over Weekend

Beds for 16, Cots for Others—Biscuits for Breakfast.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOLIVAR, Mo., July 6.

ONE Bolivar resident, Mrs. John E. Smith, had 22 weekend guests. She reports she had beds for 16 and the rest slept on cots. In preparation she baked hams and turkey. Her breakfast menu included hot biscuits.

One of the visitors for the occasion was the Mayor of another Bolivar — Bernard Christman of Bolivar, O.

Mrs. Smith's husband converted his hatchery, just across the street from the statue, into press headquarters for the occasion and personally supervised service to reporters, telegraphers and other members of the press.

* * *

Bolivar officials wanted to make sure in case there were troublemakers that there would be plenty of room in the jail. As a result, all prisoners serving time or awaiting trial were moved from the Polk county jail to the Greene county jail at Springfield to be kept until Tuesday.

* * *

Yesterday was the second time a United States President had taken part in dedicating a statue of Simon Bolivar. Back in 1921 President Harding participated in a similar ceremony when Venezuela presented a statue of Bolivar in New York City. The ceremony was held in Central Park on April 19. Harding spoke on the Monroe Doctrine.

* * *

On arrival, the presidential party boarded a caravan of 20 convertible automobiles and went immediately to the bunting-draped reviewing stand on ghe north lawn of the Polk county courthouse.

* * *

Mrs. Truman and Margaret came here from Independence and received considerable attention from a record number of photographers. There were newsreel cameramen, State Department documentary film makers and, of course, the regular corps of news and wire service photographers.

* * *

One ovation followed another after Truman's appearance. Overhead, 72 planes zoomed in low-flying formations. The planes came from naval air stations at Olathe, Kan.; Dallas, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn., and St. Louis.

* * *

The square was packed long before the presidential party arrived. The early arrivals at Neuhart Park stood in a broiling sun or spread blankets for family groups.

* * *

The site of the statue is actually a triangle. It is bounded on the south by a street about one ordinary block long. The triangle points toward the Polk county courthouse and town square. Simon Bolivar's statue faces southward.

LAST K.C. VOTE FRAUD CHARGES ARE DISMISSED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 6 — The charge of vote fraud conspiracy in the 1946 primary against Joseph M. Tanner, member of the Legislature; Charles Modica, deputy circuit clerk, and three others, was dismissed by United States District Judge Richard M. Duncan today, at the request of Richard M. Phelps, special federal prosecutor. This was the last of the conspiracy cases growing out of the frauds committed in the primary of two years ago.

Tanner and Modica served as Democratic election officials in the primary. The only case remaining in connection with the election is a perjury charge against A. A. Williams, former deputy conorer. The charge grows out of Williams's testimony before a grand jury.

Phelps, in moving dismissal of the conspiracy case, said Judge Duncan's ruling against admission of testimony of members of a former state grand jury made it "a futile gesture" to proceed with the case. The testimony of grand jurors was necessary to prove a miscount, he said, in view of the theft of ballots in May 1947 from the Election Board safe in the Kansas City courthouse.

MISSING JEWELRY VALUED AT $150,000 FOUND IN HAMPER

SOUTHAMPTON, L.I., July 6 (UP)—Police solved the mystery of the missing jewels in short order yesterday when they found the $150,000 worth of gems wrapped in a towel in a laundry hamper at the home of Dr. William Gaynor.

The jewels belonged to Mrs. Gaynor, the daughter of the late Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt II.

Gaynor called police and reported that his wife had wrapped the gems in a towel after a party Sunday night. When she looked for them in the morning they had disappeared. The searchers found them tucked away in the laundry hamper.

DELUGE FLOODS ROADS, HOMES, AIRPORT, CAUSES HEAVY DAMAGE

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine.)

A thunderstorm that deluged parts of the St. Louis area with more than four inches of rain last night did extensive damage, inundating highways crowded with holiday motorists, flooding the municipal airport and forcing cancellation of fireworks displays and other special events.

Intermittent showers which drenched picnickers during the day were followed by a torrential downpour between 8 and 10 p.m. The storm broke as highways were thronged with motorists returning from holiday trips and outings in the country. Some St. Louis county roads were flooded to a depth of four feet, and in underpasses the water was 15 feet deep.

The rain was spotty. The Weather Bureau at Lambert-St. Louis Field reported 4.68 inches, of which 3.56 inches fell in a two-hour period. In downtown St. Louis, however, precipitation measured only .82 of an inch.

Homes Flooded.

Calls for help poured in to police not only from stranded motorists but from flooded householders. Clayton police dispatched a rubber boat to evacuate 12 families in a subdivision on Haddington court. A rowboat was used to carry five workers from flooded factories in the Brentwood area.

The Express Highway was closed from 9:45 p.m. to 11:03 a.m. Water piled up in the Hampton and Tamm avenue underpasses, and fater it ran off left a treacherous film of mud. An automobile that had stalled in the Tamm avenue underpass was being pushed out by a jeep when a third machine, unable to stop, collided with the other two. No one was hurt, however.

Airport Closed.

Flooded runways forced closing of Lambert-St. Louis Field at 9:20 p.m. Three American Airlines planes from Chicago, one from Tulsa, Okla., and one from Fort Worth, Tex., unable to land here, carried their passengers to Springfield, Ill. The St. Louis airport was reopened at 4:53 a.m., when one of the north-south runways was cleared of water.

Even the Weather Bureau at the airport was flooded. A leak in the office roof forced employes to wade barefoot through two inches of water on the floor.

Lightning struck the radio tower at the Missouri Highway Patrol station on the Daniel Boone Parkway north of Kirkwood, putting the sending apparatus out of commission between 8:15 and 10:30 p. m. A patrol automobile parked outside the station was used to send messages during the emergency.

Lightning also struck the new radio tower of the St. Louis county sheriffs office on the courthouse square in Clayton, extinguishing all aircraft warning lights on the tower, which is not yet in use.

Lightning Hits House.

A number of homes in Kirkwood were deprived of electricity when lightning struck a transformer in the 200 block of East Argonne drive. Homes at 314 Park lane, Kirkwood; 431 South Clay avenue, Kirkwood, and 10311 Baltimore avenue near Overland were struck by lightning, but damage was slight.

The St. Johns-Overland Fire Department was busy pumping water today from flooded basements. Foundations of several homes on Dix avenue south of St. Charles Rock road, weakened by water, collapsed. Stores in the 2400 and 2500 block of Woodson road in Overland were flooded.

Fireworks displays in Clayton, Maplewood and Webster Groves were postponed until tonight.

The opening Municipal Opera performance of "The Three Musketeers" in Forest Park was canceled. The final show of the Shrine circus at Public Schools Stadium was rained out, as was the formal dedication of St. Louis county's new Tyson Valley Park.

The harness racing program at Fairmount Raceways was called off, but the St. Louis Cardinals managed to play a doubleheader at Sportsman's Park, the first game being delayed by the rain and the second game being called on account of darkness at the end of five and one-half innings.

The meteorological fireworks now are over, at least for the time being, said Forecaster Harry F. Wahlgren. He predicted partly cloudy skies for tonight and tomorrow, but no rain. The heavy rains here had one advantage, he pointed out; the mercury never got above 84 degrees yesterday, while Kansas City had 95, Birmingham and Chattanooga sweltered in 100 degree heat, and Jackson, Miss., saw the mercury climb to 102.

MRS. VIOLA MILLER

JOHN FRANK MILLER

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

The harpoon barb with which Mrs. Miller killed her husband.

John Frank Miller was stabbed to death on an East St. Louis street yesterday by his bride of one week. The stabbing, with a seven-inch harpoon barb, followed a protracted dispute, she told police.

The Millers lived at 738A Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis. Mrs. Miller, who was treated at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, for a fractured left wrist and bruises, said the dispute began in a tavern late Sunday night when Miller took her purse away from her.

Miller failed to come home Sunday night, Mrs. Miller said, and when she found him in a tavern at Fifth street and Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, yesterday afternoon, he refused to return her purse. They left the place together and got into her automobile, parked in the 400 block of Collinsville avenue. He picked up the harpoon barb, which was on the floor of the automobile, and threatened her, she said.

She got out of the machine, and he pursued her, kicking her in the left wrist and striking at her with the barb, she said. She grappled with him, managed to take the barb away from him, and stabbed him, she said. A witness, James Wright, 237A North Sixth street, East St. Louis, called police.

WOMAN SWIMMING IN RIVER IS FISHED OUT BY POLICEMAN

Mrs. Gladys Blackmer Taylor, sister of L. Guy Blackmer, president of the Blackmer & Post Pipe Co., was fished out of the Mississippi river by two policemen last night when she went swimming in the rain.

Mrs. Taylor lives at 427 Lake avenue. She was swimming in a bathing suit near the foot of Locust street when the two policemen arrived. The officers were Patrolman Charles Craft and Cpl. Richard O'Connell, son of Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell.

After considerable coaxing, she agreed to swim to shore, they reported, but after approaching the bank, she suddenly began to wade out again and then fell into the water. The officers waded out to her and pulled her to the shore.

She was taken to City Hospital, where physicians said she had been drinking, and then was turned over to her brother. Her husband, from whom she had been divorced, was Vance E. Taylor, a contractor who died in 1940 from a heart attack while he was swimming in a river on his farm at Urbana, O.

TRUMAN DOUBTS THAT EXTRA SESSION WOULD AID HOUSING

President Truman is seriously considering the calling of an extra session of Congress, in the hope of getting effective housing legislation enacted. His doubt whether such action would be obtained was expressed in a letter written by him to Representative Frank M. Karsten (Dem.) of the Thirteenth (St. Louis) District.

Karsten wrote to the President last week, urging that Congress be called into special session to enact housing legislation. He said the people were disappointed and shocked over the failure of Congress to pass an adequate housing measure. He got this answer today:

"I appreciate very much your letter of June 30 in regard to the housing situation. Of course, I am well acquainted with its seriousness and I am sincerely sorry that the Eightieth Congress did not see fit to take action. However, I can't see very well the necessity for calling back the same Congress to do nothing about it, although I have the matter under serious consideration.

"Sincerely yours,

"HARRY S. TRUMAN."

BURGLARS OPEN SAFE, SEIZE $500 COIN COLLECTION

A collection of old coins, valued at about $500, was taken in a burglary over the weekend from the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 3520 St. Louis avenue, August Voigtmann, president of the company reported to police today.

The coins, which Voigtmann said took him 50 years to collect, were taken from a partially-locked safe. The outer door of the safe had been left open and the burglars knocked the lock off the inner door.

Another small safe remained closed after futile attempts were made to open it.

WIFE SUES JAMES S. BUSH, SEEKS DAUGHTERS' CUSTODY

Suit for divorce was filed in circuit court today by Mrs. Caroline Patterson Bush against James S. Bush, vice president of the Industrial Bank. Their home is at 26 Portland place.

Mrs. Bush alleged general indignities and asked custody of their two daughters, Caroline Patterson Bush, 15 years old, and Flora Sheldon Bush, 13. They were married Jan. 19, 1929 in Dayton, O., and separated last Sept. 15. Bush formerly was a vice president of the First National Bank in St. Louis.

911 CARS OF WHEAT FOR TRADE; RECORD FOR EXCHANGE HERE

A record consignment of 911 freight cars of wheat was being traded at the Merchants Exhange of St. Louis, 111 North Third street, today. It was the largest number of carloads recorded for trading in any one day in the history of the exchange.

Today's wheat was accumulated over Saturday, Sunday and yesterday while the trading floor remained closed. The previous record delivery, 842 cars, was received over a two-day period and listed as of July 10, 1939.

At that time No. 2 grade red winter wheat, considered standard, sold for from 69 to 70 cents a bushel. Sales of the same grade today brought as high as $2.29½ a bushel in early trading.

The large quantity of wheat, harvested in Missouri and Illinois, was attributed by brokers to a bumper crop in both those states this year. Each carload, they said, contains about 1800 bushels, and the total consignment about 1,639,800 bushels.

TWO ST. LOUISANS DROWN ON TRIPS OVER THE HOLIDAY

One Man Loses Life in Reservoir at Dubois, Ill.—Other Found in Pool Near Dudley, Mo.

Two St. Louisans were drowned Sunday while on holiday visits in Illinois and Missouri.

They were L. Glenn Kinder, service manager for the Oakley Motor Co., 2807 Olive street, and Clyde F. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Miller, 4162 Washington boulevard.

Kinder, who resided at 4066 Lindell boulevard, was attending a picnic in Dubois, Ill., in Washington county, 75 miles southeast of St. Louis with his parents and a brother when he went swimming in a reservoir with a group.

Kinder's disappearance was not noted at first and it was not until yesterday that his body was found in 20 feet of water after volunteers had dived for nearly 20 hours in the Illinois Central Railroad Reservoir.

Kinder, 37 years old, is survived by his wife and a 2-year-old son who were visiting in Portageville, Mo., at the time of the tragedy.

Miller was found drowned in a shallow pool near the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks near Dudley, Mo. Miller, 19 years old, is believed to have jumped from a moving freight train to visit his grandfather, Laxton Garret, who resides near where the body was found.

Funeral services were held today for Miller at Dudley, which is in Stoddard county, 150 miles south of St. Louis.

MERCURY SOARS TO 93.3 HUMIDITY TO A STEAMY 70

The weather, which has been at sub-par levels for a month, finally began to steam up to St. Louisans' ideas of real summer this afternoon, and the mercury at the weather bureau downtown climbed to 93.3 degrees at 3:30 p.m., a new high for the summer.

The humidity wasn't helping cool things off. It was a wet 70 per cent at noon. Highest temperature recorded downtown to date was 93, on June 6.

YOUTH HELD AFTER PISTOL IS DISCHARGED IN TUSSLE

Raymond Gilbert Travis, 17-year-old X-ray technician, was held suspected of assault with intent to do great bodily harm after a struggle last night with a pharmacist in which a revolver was discharged once. The men suffered only minor cuts.

Everett Fisher, a pharmacist at a drug store at 1801 Chouteau avenue, said Travis, 1108A Dolman street, entered the place and walked into a physician's office in the rear. When he came out of the office several minutes later, he was weaving and knocked over a merchandise display, Fisher said.

Fisher ejected the youth. Some time later, the youth returned to the store, displaying a .38-caliber revolver, Fisher said, and Fisher grappled with him, subduing him. The revolver was discharged in the struggle.

MILK TO GO UP 2C AND IS EXPECTED TO STAY THIS TIME

St. Louis Dairy Boosts Charge Late Sunday and Pevely Follows With Same Increase.

Milk will be two cents a quart higher in price at major St. Louis dairies tomorrow and the increase apparently was for keeps this time, following a stalemate late last week between Pevely and St. Louis dairies, the largest distributors.

St. Louis Dairy broke the deadlock late Sunday, announcing a rise from 21½ to 23½ cents a quart for regular grade A milk and from 22½ to 24½ cents for homogenized. Pevely followed yesterday with announcement of a similar increase.

A buyers' strike protesting against the current increase will be called in the near future by the St. Louis Consumer Federation, an organization composed of representatives of 52 civic, labor, racial and other groups, it was announced today by Mrs. Loretta Vrooman, chairman of the federation milk committee.

Mrs. Vrooman said the committee would decide this afternoon when the membership would be asked to stop buying milk and for how long. Last Jan. 27 the federation called a three-day strike over a 1-cent-a-quart increase. Heavy losses to dairies followed, due to cancellations by customers, and a week later the dairies reduced prices.

Consumers will be urged to buy either canned milk or packaged milk at retail stores which is sold for less than the delivered price, Mrs. Vrooman said.

The federation's position, she asserted, is that an increase at this time is not justified, since the price to be paid producers, effective last Thursday, was known long in advance and since dairies did not lower their retail prices last spring when the price to producers went down.

"The present increase follows the pattern used by the dairies for several years," she continued. "When the price to the farmer goes down, the dairies never feel it necessary to reduce prices to the consumer, but any increase to the farmer becomes an excuse for another rise in consumer prices."

Adams Dairy, Inc., which sells milk wholesale in paper cartoons for distribution through groceries, also announced a two-cent increase, bringing retail prices from 19½ to 21½ cents a quart for regular grade A, and from 20½ to 21½ cents for homogenized milk.

Last Thursday Pevely had boosted its price two cents, but restored the old price Friday when St. Louis Dairy failed to follow suit. Saturday three of the smaller dairies announced two-cent increases and a St. Louis Dairy spokesman said an increase was "under consideration."

Others Fall in Line.

Today four other smaller dairies, among about 25 such firms, announced two-cent increases and most said a rise was inevitable due to the rise of about one cent a quart in price to producers, effective last Thursday.

There were corresponding increases also in other milk products like chocolate milk and cream.

Both Pevely and St. Louis dairies, in announcing the new prices, referred to their statements last week, which emphasized increased costs. Pevely had said it had been losing money in its dairy division since last November.

In its statement yesterday Pevely said further that it would be "more than willing to join any public move to place the dairy business under state control, similar to that in 17 other states, where a fair and unbiased board sets the price at which milk is sold."

Pevely warned last week of even further possible increases which may result from pending union negotiations for a new contract, and from an application by producers for another increase in price paid them for raw milk. Dairy employes are seeking a wage increase of 20 cents an hour.

The position of the small dairies was presented in a statement made public by the Golden Rod Dairy, 4532 North Newstead avenue. Referring to the price increase to farmers, ordered by the Department of Agriculture, the statement said:

"When there is a major increase we must raise our price if we are to survive. We prefer to do business on a low-price level because this stimulates consumption and provides a greater volume turnover, but we are between the devil and the deep blue sea.

"Our choice of action is very limited. We are not fettered by any excessive administration costs or high fixed charges; the earnings of the management are frequently lower, in proportion to the value of services rendered, than those of their key employes."

Carole Landis Kills Self With Overdose of Pills

there is a will . . . Goodby, my angel, pray for me. Your baby."

The actress's mother, Mrs. Clara Landis of Seminole Hot Springs, Calif., arrived at her daughter's home four hours after the discovery. She collapsed, crying:

"Oh, my baby, I want to see my baby. Why didn't somebody call me?"

Mrs. Landis said she learned of her daughter's death on a radio news broadcast.

The mother was accompanied by Miss Landis's sister, Mrs. Walter L. Ross of Long Beach, Calif. Other survivors are the father, Alfred L. Ridste of Richmond, Calif., and a brother, Lawrence B. Ridste, San Bernardino, Calif.

Actor's Story.

Yesterday, Harrison telephoned Miss Landis about 11 o'clock to check on his luncheon date with her. Miss Landis's maid, Fanny May Bolden, said she was asleep.

"I was detained. I rang her again at 3," Harrison told reporters. "The maid said she still was sleeping, and I thought that strange. I went to her home, which is near mine, and the maid and I knocked on her door. We entered and found her."

The maid said Harrison's face twisted when he saw the body. "Oh, no, honey!" he gasped, "why did you do it?"

Harrison called a doctor and then the police.

Miss Bolden said the British actor and Miss Landis had dated constantly the last few weeks. A few months ago the gossip columns reported that Harrison and Miss Palmer had separated, and that the actor was dating Miss Landis.

Later, the Harrisons denied separation rumors. The actor telephoned the news to Miss Palmer in New York. She was to fly to Hollywood today.

Attorney Jerry Giesler, representing Miss Landis in her suit to divorce theatrical producer Horace Schmidlapp, was to have seen her today to discuss a property settlement.

"I don't think this divorce had anything to do with her suicide," he said.

Sold $100,000 Home.

Her press agent, Ed Ettinger, said he didn't think her career had made her unhappy, either. He said she recently was financially embarrassed, but had sold her $100,000 home. She was also assured comfortable alimony from Schmidlapp, and was to make a movie for Eagle-Lion studio here and another in England next September.

Miss Landis still was an established star although her box office appeal had declined in recent years. Fans still flocked to see what artist James Montgomery Flagg once described as "her startling physical silhouette, bordering on the magnificent."

CAROLE LANDIS

The daughter of a San Bernardino (Calif.) mechanic, she became the hit of 12 motion pictures but was the flop of four marriages. She married writer Irving Wheeler when she was a sweater girl of 15. The union lasted 25 days.

Her second marriage, to broker Willis Hunt Jr., lasted two months. She married Air Force Capt. Thomas C. Wallace in 1943 but they were divorced two years later. The actress and Schmidlapp were married in New York in December 1945.

Sang in Cabarets.

She crashed the movies via San Francisco. In that city she sang in cabarets then moved south to take a chorine's job in a movie in 1937. Dance Director Busby Berkeley spotted her, and fame and fortune took her from there.

She first starred in the movie "One Million B.C." Other movies included: "Turnabout," "Four's A Crowd," and "I Wake Up Screaming."

During the war, she gave up movies to tour European and North African Army camps with Martha Raye, Mitzi Mayfair and Kay Francis. She wrote of her experiences in a book, "Four Jills in a Jeep."

Miss Landis was the third Hollywood star to end her life in the last 12 years. Lupe Velez, the "Mexican Spitfire," swallowed sleeping pills Dec. 14, 1944, and Thelma Todd was found dead in her automobile Dec. 16, 1935.

EARNINGS TAX BILL PREPARED FOR CITY

Copies Mimeographed for Aldermen, Counselor's Aids to Explain It.

Preparations for the intended enactment of the city earnings tax bill, at a special session of the Board of Aldermen to be called for July 20, were under way at City Hall today. Mimeographed copies of the proposed bill were being made, and will be distributed at the City Register's office, on the second floor of City Hall, beginning tomorrow.

Two members of City Counselor George L. Stemmler's staff, James V. Frank and Aubrey B. Hamilton, will be in the Law Department office tomorrow, Thursday and Friday afternoons, from 2 to 5 o'clock, to explain the measure to any inquirers.

Copies of the ordinance will be delivered to the Board of Aldermen, to give members an opportunity to study it before the intended special session. July 20, the day the special session will be called, is the day after the state enabling legislation becomes effective.

The bill is similar in most provisions to the measure of 1946 which was held unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court, in the absence of such an enabling law as now exists. It places a tax of one-half of 1 per cent on incomes of individuals earned in St. Louis, and applies to non-residents who are on the payrolls of St. Louis business establishments. The same tax is levied on the net income of corporations, and on net profits from businesses conducted in the city by non-residents; also on net profits of work done or services performed in the city. It is estimated to yield $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 a year, and if enacted to become effective Sept. 1 will cover more than one-half of the fiscal year ending next April.

LIVING COST IN ST. LOUIS UP SIX-TENTHS OF 1 PER CENT

The cost of living increased .6 of 1 per cent in St. Louis between April 15 and May 15, the Consumers' Price Index showed today. Food and fuels each advanced 1.3 per cent in price in that period. No change in housing costs was found. Clothing was up .3 of 1 per cent, and house furnishings were .1 of 1 per cent higher. Sundries were .1 of 1 per cent lower.

The price index for St. Louis increased 8.8 per cent from June 1947 to mid-May 1948. Food was up 10.9 per cent, fuels 13.3 per cent, house furnishings 10.4 per cent; housing, 6.8 per cent; clothing 3.9 per cent; and sundries, 6.9 per cent. The index in June 1947 was 148.7, on a basis of 1939 prices as 100; in April 1948, it stood at 160.8 and in May 1948, at 161.8.

GIRL, 11, STABBED TO DEATH ON BICYCLE; ASSAILANT FLEES

BALTIMORE, July 6 (UP)—Marsha Brill, 11 years old, was stabbed to death today as she rode her bicycle on a suburban street.

Police said two of the child's playmates reported that the killer was a tall Negro wearing a blue shirt and dungarees. They told police they saw the killer run from a nearby woods, plunge a knife into the girl's chest and flee.

The killing recalled the murder in Washington nine days ago of 11-year-old Carol Bardwell. Her body was found in a woods near her home in north Washington after she had left on her bicycle for a park playground. She had been criminally attacked. Police found no trace of her assailant.

EISENHOWER SAYS NO; WON'T LINK SELF WITH PARTY

New Jersey will go into the Republican column by over 300,000 votes" if President Truman is the candidate. He added, however, that if Gen. Eisenhower were drafted at the request of the President the state would remain Democratic by more than 200,000.

Referring to Eisenhower's statement Hague said:

"I think Gen. Eisenhower's brother, Earl Eisenhower, expressed clearly the thought that is in the general's mind when he said that if President Truman were to request the general to accept the nomination it would afford the general an opportunity to serve the American people without being involved in a partisan controversy for the nomination."

Comment of Brother.

Earl Eisenhower said yesterday: "Dwight has the firm conviction that he wants to do what is best for the nation. I don't think he believes a presidential race is best."

Earl Eisenhower said the General was neither a Democrat nor a Republican.

Hague said the Eisenhower disavowal statement last night "intimated that he did not wish to become involved in a partisan controversy for the nomination for President at the Democratic convention."

Hague said:

"It is inconceivable that the President would enter a campaign as important as this one without conferring with the Democratic leaders throughout the country and ascertaining the true sentiment of the people rather than relying upon the advice of a few inexperienced advisers.

Warning of Disaster.

"If the President knew the real conditions and knew the disastrous results that confront the Democratic party in this campaign I am sure that he would hesitate to subject the party to such a disastrous defeat."

Hague later announced he had wired James Roosevelt that he would be present at the caucus of Eisenhower supporters in Philadelphia next Saturday. Acknowledging receipt of a telegram last night from the son of the late President inviting him to the Philadelphia meeting, Hague said:

"The people must be given an opportunity to vote for the candidate of their choice or it (the Democratic party) will fail in its duty to the nation. If it so fails in its duty at this time the people will show their resentment by burying the Democratic party under an avalanche of votes."

Roosevelt Statement.

Roosevelt issued the following statement:

"Gen. Eisenhower's statement confirms his desire not to seek partisan political office. The people of this country, at this time I believe, desire a national unity candidate.

"The Republicans have nominated a purely political candidate. It is up to the Democratic party to enable the people of this country to have the opportunity of voting for Dwight D. Eisenhower as a national candidate, unfettered in these days of international crisis by the normal trappings of partisan politics.

"I hope and believe the Democratic party is equal to this challenge and will meet this opportunity to serve all the people of our country.

"Gen. Eisenhower's statement clearly indicates that he will not serve as a partisan President but will answer a call to national duty. I am . . . therefore, reissuing the call for the caucus to be held in Philadelphia this coming Saturday night."

Views of Illinoisans.

In Chicago, Cook county Democratic leader Jacob M. Arvey said Eisenhower "cannot and will not refuse to serve his country" if he is drafted at the party's convention.

Arvey's statement, issued after he had talked with state and national leaders, suggested he was refusing to abandon the "Draft-Ike" boom which he helped launch.

Earlier, two prominent downstate Democratic leaders; ex-Gov. John Stelle and Senator Scott W. Lucas, expressed belief that Eisenhower cannot be considered as a contender and that the bulk of the Illinois delegation will back Truman.

Arvey declined to comment on how he thinks the Illinois delegation will vote at Philadelphia, but he said he still plans to attend the Saturday caucus called by James Roosevelt.

Virginia for Eisenhower.

Gov. Tuck of Virginia said he would attend the caucus.

Virginia's national committeeman, G. Fred Switzer, said that state's 16 votes will be cast for Eisenhower in accordance with instructions of Friday's state convention.

Harry Carlson, New Hampshire's national committeeman and a leader of the draft-Eisenhower movement, also refused to give up.

"I believe the American people should continue their efforts to draft Eisenhower," Carlson said.

Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, among the leaders who called the caucus, was not available for comment.

Meantime Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath appealed for "all loyal Democrats to contribute to the unity of the party."

He said in a statement:

"Gen. Eisenhower's restatement of his position that he could not accept a political nomination in the forthcoming presidential election, offers an appropriate time to ask all loyal Democrats to contribute to the unity of the party.

"This does not mean that there should be no division of opinion or that our convention should not be a free and open forum. It does, however, suggest that the time has come when we should be proclaiming the achievements of our party and its leadership.

"Knowing the forthrightness of Gen. Eisenhower, I have never entertained the slightest doubt of his original statement. This being so, I have adhered to the view which I now restate, that in my opinion, President Truman will be nominated, as he deserves, by the forthcoming Democratic national convention on the first ballot."

Reaction of Other Leaders.

Among those who accepted the Eisenhower statement as a final refusal was Leon Henderson, chairman of Americans-for-Democratic-Action. He said it amounted to a rejection of the nomination.

A similar view was expressed by Cy Bevan, Michigan national committeeman, who said that "it appears beyond question that he (Eisenhower) will not accept. That's the end of it as far as I'm concerned."

James S. Peters, Georgia state chairman, said his state's convention votes now would go to Senator Russell of Georgia. They had been pledged to Eisenhower.

Political Leader E. H. Crump of Tennessee predicted the nomination of Truman in spite of the boom for Eisenhower. Crump decided several weeks ago to boycott the convention because he expects Truman to be nominated.

110 Votes Committed.

With 110 convention votes definitely committed to Eisenhower, it had become obvious that nothing less than a flat "no" would shut off the boom short of a Philadelphia vote.

One of the most important developments yesterday was action by former Senator Hugh B. Mitchell (Dem.), Washington, a member of the platform committee for the Democratic national convention, who telegraphed Truman asking the President to take the leadership of the Eisenhower movement.

Mitchell said his attitude was "not changed one bit" by Eisenhower's statement.

"What I expressed in the telegram still stands," he said.

Gov. Ben T. Laney of Arkansas, chairman of the states rights Democratic organization in the South, said in Little Rock yesterday that Truman—by stepping out of the picture for the Democratic presidential nomination — could make "a real contribution to the nation and the world."

"If he wants the country to become united and if he honestly desires political and military peace in the world," Laney said in a statement, "then why not sacrifice his own personal ambition and support the nomination and election of Gen. Eisenhower?"

Farley's Comment.

Among those who believed Eisenhower had killed the movement to draft him was J. Oliver Emmerich of the southern states' rights group which had backed Eisenhower. In any case, Emmerich said in McComb, Miss., the boom "showed up the weakness of Truman. People already are convinced that Truman is a dead duck."

Senator John J. Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, said: "It seems definite and final. I don't see how we (anti-Truman Democrats) can unite now on any one candidate."

Other comment:

James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman: "I am not at all surprised. That is just the kind of statement I expected him to make. It certainly puts the Democratic leaders behind the eight ball. I'll bet they're stewing around. . . ."

Senator Lister Hill (Dem.), Alabama: "It sems to make it definite that he would not accept the presidential nomination. . . . We must turn to someone else. . . ."

Gov. Jim McCord of Tennessee: "This is to be regretted very much."

Truman Campaign Plans.

Even before the Eisenhower statement, Truman's friends had reported he was so confident of the nomination that he was making plans for his first campaign speech next month.

If those plans materialize, they said, the campaign kickoff would take place in Minneapolis. Subject: farm problems.

Truman, they added, doesn't plan to begin active campaigning until September, about the time Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican nominee, is expected to get into action. The Minneapolis speech would be a one-shot affair.

The President was reported certain not only of victory in Philadelphia but of victory in November.

When a group of Senators visited him recently, one of them spoke of certain public works that might be carried out "if we win the election."

The President was quoted as objecting to the word "if," declaring that he is going to win.

Eisenhower Says Some Serve in One Way, Others in Another.

NEW YORK, July 6 (UP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, told the opening assembly of the summer session today that the American Army "has existed from the beginning not just to defend life and property but to protect a way of life."

Eisenhower did not mention the controversy over his refusal to accept the Democratic presidential nomination if it is offered to him. But he said some men served their country in one manner, some in another.

"Such men as Washington, Jackson, Grant and Pershing did it in uniform. Jefferson, Marshall and Lincoln did it in civilian activity," he said.

ELECTRIC STRIKE THREAT IS ENDED; OFFER ACCEPTED

Leaders Willing to Carry On.

Union leaders addressing the meeting told the members that, although worn out by continued negotiating sessions, they were willing to carry on the negotiations as long as the membership wanted them to. The officers assured the members also that there would be proper leadership in a strike. In the discussion of the company proposal, the suggestion was made from the floor that a new agreement be subject to reopening next April for wage discussions.

While the union meeting was in progress, Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann called city department heads into conference in his office to discuss emergency measures for keeping public services in motion on a reduced scale if power was cut off. Permission was granted Public Service Co. to operate busses over streetcar routes, to replace so far as possible the streetcars withdrawn because of lack of electric power. Arrangements were also made to reduce the number of street lights.

When word of the strike postponement was received, Mayor Kaufmann expressed relief and the hope that the difference could be composed. He urged the negotiators to consider that "a third party—the public—is involved."

In refusing to arbitrate, members of Local 148 are following accepted union policy not to arbitrate wage questions. Union President Ferguson explained: "Our members have always opposed arbitration of wages, although we may arbitrate other issues. We feel we cannot come out of a wage arbitration with a fair break. An arbitrator unfamiliar with our work problems is not likely to render a fair decision. He just does not understand the problem. Then there is the cost of arbitration. There have been some very expensive arbitration cases, like the streetcar arbitration and we can't afford that."

Reluctance to arbitrate extended to a refusal by the union to name a representative to a public arbitration panel, as requested by Vance Julian, chairman of the State Board of Mediation. The deadline for making a selection was passed last night.

Julian announced last week at a meeting with union leaders that the State Board of Mediation had claimed jurisdiction in the wage dispute on the theory the company is a Missouri corporation and the wage contract would cover Missouri workers as well as those in Illinois and Iowa. The union has disputed the mediation chairman's position, and Julian agreed that his office would have no control over strikers in Illinois and Iowa.

17-Cent Rise for Supervisors.

A situation which "blew the top" of a union meeting Saturday night, at which the company wage proposal was rejected, arose when rank and file members reported a "secret 17-cent rise to supervisors." J. Wesley McAfee, Union Electric president, discussed the supervisors' increase in a talk over Radio Station KSD late yesterday. McAfee stated the supervisory employes were granted an increase of $30 a month, about 17 cents an hour, and explained that these employes have no paid holidays and less liberal overtime pay than member of Local 148. Under these circumstances, the company felt the $30 increase does not actually exceed the offer made to the engineers.

Union Electric executives and many of the office employes were at their desks Sunday and yesterday, preparing for the curtailed service that would be necessary in event of a strike.

The East Side power plants at which the workers threatened to strike are the large Cahokia generating station, two plants in Venice and one in Granite City. Cahokia and Venice Plant No. 2 are the large power producers.

$165,000 FOR WOMAN WHO BET $2000 ON HORSE AT 66 TO 1

LONDON, July 6 (AP) — The "supreme court" of English handbook betting decided yesterday that Rachael Evans has 41,250 pounds ($165,000) coming to her for her flyer on the 66 to 1 shot, Regret, in the Manchester Handicap last November.

Her bookmaker had disputed payment of Miss Evans's winnings on a bet of 500 pounds ($2000) win and place, claiming he limited wagers by mail to two pounds ($8).

The Tattersalls committee, a bookmakers' organization recognized by the Jockey Club as the final arbiter in betting, decided for Miss Evans. Regret is no relation to the filly of the same name who won the Kentucky Derby in 1915, only one of her sex to do it.

14 U.S. WARSHIPS IN MEDITERRANEAN AREA ARE ON MOVE

Sailings Reported From Ports in Italy, France and Turkey.

ROME, July 6 (AP) — United States warships in the Mediterranean were on the move today.

Four ships, headed by the aircraft carrier Kearsarge, sailed from Naples in a southwesterly direction. The naval attache at the United States Embassy here said they were under secret orders. Also sailing were the destroyers Meredith, O'Hare and James C. Owens.

An Istanbul dispatch said three United States cruisers and an escort carrier had sailed from there a day ahead of schedule. They were the cruisers Fargo, Huntington and Juneau and the carrier Palau. Istanbul sources said urgent messages regarding the Palestine situation were received yesterday (In Washington, the Navy said movements of seven of the ships had "nothing to do with Palestine.")

The Palau will stop at Cyprus to pick up the body of Thomas C. Wasson, United States consul general of Jerusalem, who was killed by sniper fire in Palestine. It will then return to the United States.

From Nice, the aircraft carrier Coral Sea sailed for Gibraltar and the battleship Missouri for Algiers. The Coral Sea was accompanied by the destroyers Dyess and Bordelon and the Missouri by the destroyers Leary and Vesole. The ships will assemble off Gibraltar in five days and sail for Cuba and the United States.

TWO LEFT LEGS

In this case they were not attached to the left feet of that well known dancer, but belonged to a pair of ball players down in old Vermont. In a recent game each man broke his left leg sliding into second base. We have observed that no matter how good Vermont granite is, it is no substitute for the stuffed canvas bases. We go in for local pride too, but we express it by serving our patrons the best of viands gathered from wherever they are produced. Old Man River doesn't yield Maine lobsters.

STOREOWNER'S SON ROUTS BURGLAR, WOUNDS MAN

Edward Dickerson, Negro, was shot and wounded in the right shoulder yesterday by Joseph Krohn, who told police he fired through an open window when he saw someone attempting to break into his father's grocery at 2612 Chouteau avenue.

Krohn said he was asleep in the rear of the store when he heard a nose and saw a man attempting to break in the front door. When the man ran east on Chouteau, Krohn said he fired one shot from a pistol. Dickerson, who lives at 4051 Cote Brilliante avenue, was found lying in the rear of a tavern at 2601 Chouteau, suffering from a gunshot wound.

Dickerson said he was merely walking down the street when he was shot. Krohn was unable to identify Dickerson as the man who attempted to enter the store. Dickerson was booked suspected of attempted burglary.

53 PERSONS HURT BY FIREWORKS IN 3-DAY HOLIDAY

Most of Them Children—Three Arrested for Discharging Firecrackers in City.

Fifty-three persons, the majority of them children, were treated at hospitals in the city and St. Louis county over the holidays for burns caused by exploding fireworks. None suffered serious injuries.

Despite a city ordinance forbidding the sale of fireworks and a St. Louis County Court ruling denying a license to any merchant who proposed to sell only fireworks, those who sought torpedoes, salutes, skyrockets and sparklers apparently had little trouble obtaining them. The sound of discharged fireworks could be heard at sporadic intervals in the city and county throughout the three-day period which began last Saturday.

Two Negroes, J. T. Stewart, 1201 Walton avenue, and Sherman Borum, 1344 Garrison avenue, were arrested in Forest Park yesterday after park police found them setting off firecrackers. Both were charged with violating the city fireworks ordinance. Clarence Butler, Negro, was arrested Sunday when police found him discharging fireworks in the street near his home, 2603A Hickory street.

Of those injured, 25 were taken to St. Louis County Hospital and 28 to hospitals in the city. All returned to their homes after treatment.

Howard W. Swacker, of Rural Route 12, Kirkwood, suffered burns of the right hand Sunday night when a Roman candle he had ignited backfired. He was treated at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Constance Davis, 2 years old, suffered burns of the feet when she stepped on a lighted sparkler dropped in front of her home at 1236 Dillon drive by two boys passing by. Elmer Cottner, 13, of 2219 Lynch street, suffered a burn of his right hand when a firecracker he had lighted exploded before he could toss it out of the automobile in which he was riding with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cottner, on U. S. Highway 61, St. Louis county.

Russell Schodroski, 8, of Rural Route 9, Lemay, narrowly escaped serious injury when a giant firecracker exploded seconds after he had lit the fuse. He was treated for burns of the face at Alexian Brothers Hospital.

Ten Negroes were treated over the holidays at Homer G. Phillips Hospital. Five casualties were taken to City Hospital, seven to Alexian Brothers, three to St. Anthony's, two to De Paul and one to Christian Hospital.

In Collinsville, two boys were seriously injured yesterday when an aerial flare they picked up from the remains of a fireworks display held by the Odd Fellows and Veterans of Foreign Wars at the high school athletic field Saturday night, went off after they had ignited it.

The boys, George Allen Phillips, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Phillips, and Raymond Hydron, 16, son of Mrs. Edward Kline, both suffered burns of the hands and face and chest and were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where they remained for further treatment.

FINED $5 FOR KNOCKING DOWN 2 CITY DETECTIVES

Charles S. Miller, who felled Detective Lt. John Sinclair and Detective Cpl. James Ogden outside a restaurant early Saturday, was fined $5 by Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro today when he pleaded guilty of resisting arrest.

The incident occurred outside Garavelli's Restaurant, 5701 Delivery avenue, after Sinclair and Miller had exchanged a few words inside the place and Sinclair and his partner, Ogden, had placed Miller under arrest and taken him outside. Miller gave his address as 2828 Colonial drive, Normandy.

FIRE DOES $2000 DAMAGE AT PRODUCE FIRM PLANT

A fire at the Zonnis Produce Co., 813 North Fourth street, yesterday caused damage estimated by Fire Chief Frank Egenriether at $1500 to the two-story, brick building and $500 to the contents. The company is owned by Nathan Zonnis, 5793 Westminster place.

Chief Egenriether said the blaze apparently was caused by a defective gas heater used to ripen tomatoes. Six engine companies and two hook and ladder trucks fought the fire. No one was injured.

U. S. Pair Wounded in Germany.

NUERNBERG, Germany, July 6 (AP)—Holdup men shot and wounded Maj. and Mrs. Harold J. Pangle of Salem, Ore., Saturday night, Army officials here said today. Pangle, former Oregon State University football player, was shot in the chest and his wife in an arm by two men as they stepped out of their car at their home.

Malaya Sends Rubber to U.S.

SINGAPORE, July 6 (AP)—Malaya shipped 87,368 tons of rubber abroad in June. The United States was the largest purchaser with 38,355 tons. The United Kingdom second with 13,200 tons. The Soviet Union purchased 5531 tons.

JEWS REJECT BERNADOTTE PROPOSALS FOR PALESTINE

Neither Side Gives Definite Answer on Extension of Truce—Fighting Breaks Out in Jerusalem.

By MAX BOYD

CAIRO, July 6 (AP)—Israel today formally rejected Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine peace proposals. Neither Arabs nor Jews gave a definite reply on the United Nations mediator's bid for an extension of the Holy Land truce.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok handed Bernadotte a 1000-word reply to the mediator's proposals which would partition Palestine; create an Arab-Jewish economic union; throw Arab Palestine in with Trans-Jordan, and put Jerusalem under Arab rather than international rule. The U.N. would get the final say on immigration.

The reply said Israeli leaders were deeply wounded by the Jerusalem proposal. The Jews expressed emphatic opposition to any restriction on immigration, and urged Bernadotte to reconsider his whole approach to the problem. This latter was taken as an indication that the Jews are willing to extend the truce if new talks develop. The truce expires Friday.

27 Votes Against Plan.

A dispatch from Tel Aviv last night quoted an Israeli Government spokesman as saying 27 Cabinet members voted against the Bernadotte proposals and four abstained, after a three-and-a-half-hour Cabinet session.

The official Arab reply has already been given to Bernadotte by the seven-nation Arab League. Although its contents was not disclosed, the reply was reported to have contained a number of counter-proposals to the mediator's suggestions.

However, the Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin el Husseini, said the reply was a complete rejection of Bernadotte's suggestions.

Emerging from a three-hour conference of the Arab League's political committee, Secretary General Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha reported today no decision was reached on the truce extension proposal.

Azzam Pasha said Bernadotte had been sent to the Middle East primarily to reach a final Palestine settlement, not a truce, and that such talks might continue six months, even if fighting is resumed in the Holy Land. An Egyptian Cabinet source said last night the majority of Arab leaders opposed extending the truce. He said there was little doubt the Arabs will resume fighting when the truce expires.

Later, the chiefs of staff of the Arab armies were summoned to a meeting today in the Egyptian capital.

Bernadotte returned to Cairo from Tel Aviv tonight. His proposal to extend the truce already has been forwarded to the U.N. Security Council, at Lake Success, N. Y., it was learned. It was reported that America and Britain will support the proposal in the Council.

The Arab Aim.

Arab League officials said their organization had a dual aim: speedy conclusion of the holy land war and creation of an "Islamic bloc."

Military informants said Arab chiefs of staff and defense ministers met twice last week to study creation of local civil administration in Arab held areas of Palestine, thus permitting Arab armies to concentrate on military actions.

A league informant said creation of an Islamic bloc is being considered to enable "Moslem countries to stand in front of the western powers and America." The source said the Egyptian Government had drawn plans to call 21 Islamic nations to a parley here to discuss the project.

In Jerusalem, where Arabs and Jews engaged in gun duels Sunday and again yesterday, Israeli forces have begun digging in for an all-out resumption of war. A Jewish military leader in the holy city said Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern group will fight on until Jerusalem is a part of Israel, even if the Israeli Army accepts a truce extension. The two Jewish extremist groups are still separate from the Israeli Army in Jerusalem.

The cease-fire was broken in Jerusalem early yesterday for the second time in two days when Jews, entrenched on Mount Zion, and Arabs in the old city exchanged mortar and machine gun fire.

During Sunday's shooting in the holy city, an American Marine, Edward Brodeur of Webster, Mass., caught a glass splinter in the eye when a bullet struck the windshield of his jeep.

Killed in Heater Explosion.

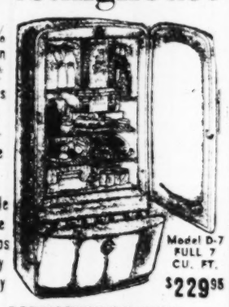

LEWES, Del., July 6 (AP)—Mrs. Andree Francois of Washington wife of a United Nations food and agriculture attache, died yesterday from burns caused by an explosion in a gas heater. She was 45 years old. The explosion occurred in a cottage at Rehoboth Beach, where Mrs. Francois and her family were spending the holiday weekend.

It won't work...by itself

Before a telephone will work it must be connected by a pair of wires from your home all the way to the switching equipment in the central office.

Telephone wire and cable are still scarce compared to the large amounts we need. We are placing and splicing new cable as fast as we can get it, but in many cases there isn't enough to go around.

At the present time there isn't enough space on the St. Louis switching equipment to connect new telephones for everyone waiting, in spite of all the equipment we've added. Still more equipment is scheduled to be added to every central office in St. Louis, and when the work is completed there will be room available to connect more telephones.

* * *

We have asked all new residence customers to take party line service so that more people can have service sooner. The tremendous demand for telephones in St. Louis means that it will be some time before we can furnish straight-line service for those who want it. We are working toward that now—but our biggest job still is to serve the greatest number of people with the equipment we get.

It is still an uphill pull, but we are gaining on it, and we are grateful for your patience and understanding.

HEIDELBERG NOW U.S. HEADQUARTERS OF ARMY IN EUROPE

Chief Problem of City Is Housing, for Population Has Grown Since War.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, July 6—(AP)—This historic city is the new headquarters of the United States army in Europe. Its narrow streets are alive with khaki uniforms and sleek American automobiles.

The appearance of Americans—and armies—is nothing new to the town. Prewar students and tourists included many from the United States. Since the war, Heidelberg has been, in turn, the headquarters of the Third Army, the Seventh Army, the United States constabulary, and now the European command.

Napoleon's army destroyed Heidelberg. In World War II it was one of the largest cities to escape serious damage. Allied sources say this was because it was a hospital town and not a military target.

Germans have a more interesting version. They say the allies promised not to bomb Heidelberg if the Germans spared Oxford and Cambridge.

The chief problem facing Americans and Germans in Heidelberg at the moment is one of housing. Before the war, the university city had a population of about 85,000. That was increased to about 125,000 through the influx of Germans from the east.

The move of army headquarters from Frankfort, to make room for British-American bizonal officials, meant the transfer of about 6200 Americans, including wives and children. This number does not include the army's "indigenous personnel"—or German employes.

REAL SOVIET AIM AT BERLIN VIEWED AS RUHR BLACKMAIL

would be surprised if within the near future the Russians discovered "repairs" on the Madgeburg bridge have suddenly been completed, if the checking post on the autobahn at Marienborn vanished overnight and the barge routes were cleared. The price they would expect is reopening the question of four-power control over all Germany perhaps through another conference of foreign ministers or even the heads of state.

Air Program Expensive.

Americans on their side have many reasons to bargain. The airlift program, though theatrical, is also expensive to a degree estimated at $250,000 a day. It is obviously an emergency program which cannot be extended indefinitely. It can save Berlin temporarily from famine with the help of the 25 to 30 days' food supplies already stockpiled in the city. The output of Berlin factories already is cut in half. It is regarded as providential that the crisis came in summer and not winter.

No electric current is available from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. German hospitals are hard hit. There have been no X-ray films for the last week and the same bandages used for one operation must be sterilized for the next. Snack bars' breakfasts have been canceled and American clubs and menus slashed to a few essential items.

The chief obstacle to new four-power talks on Germany is the State Department's almost psychopathic revulsion against further conferences with the Russians. The Americans had their fingers severely burned at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam. They were completely frustrated at two successive meetings of foreign ministers. But a great change has come about. The Americans are totally cured of blind trust in Soviet good faith and would be scrupulously on guard against deception.

In addition Americans cannot endure having the possibility of renewed blockades of Berlin held forever over their heads even if the present beleagurement were raised. They feel they must have a formal treaty putting communications with the capital on an international status.

Summary of Situation.

The belief today is we shall remain in Berlin because the Russians are yet ready to expel us by force and because departure except under military pressure would cause such loss of prestige as to wreck the entire policy of European recovery. It would mean abandonment to slave camps or death of brave Germans who have openly defied Russians in our behalf with the Soviet Army breathing down their necks.

Summing up the present crisis in Berlin is not regarded as a major event in itself but as an incident in the titanic power struggle between the Orient and Occident for mastery of Germany and thereby of all Europe. As such, the incident though a perilous one need not inevitably bring on war. The chief danger is that military hotheads and fanatics in Russia may conclude this year is Communism's rendezvous with destiny.

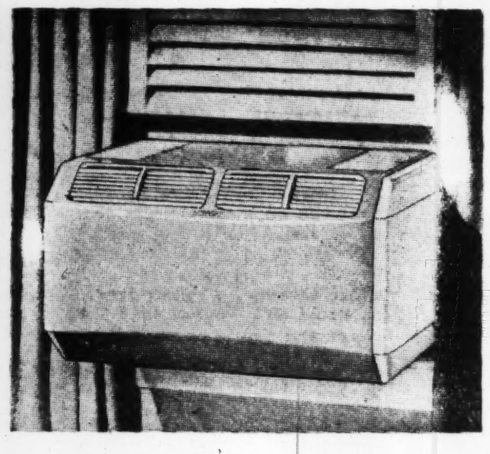

Judge John M. Tuohy Wed.

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Appellate Court Judge John M. Tuohy and the former Mrs. Mary Poe Mayo of Dundee were married Friday, the couple disclosed in telegrams to friends here. The telegrams were sent from Milwaukee. Judge Tuohy, a brother of State's Attorney William J. Tuohy, was born in Bloomington. His first wife died in 1942.

NEGRO BOY SAYS HE WAS BRANDED, KEPT AS SLAVE

Youth Exhibits Burns He Says Were Inflicted by Louisiana Parish Official.

Henry Williams, a Negro boy who said he had been enslaved for as long as he can remember on a 560-acre farm owned by a Louisiana parish official, was assured of a permanent home today with the family of William Brown, Negro, 1023 Calhoun street, Venice.

Henry Williams.

The 15-year-old Negro, who exhibited 1½-inch square scars on the left side of his abdomen and the back of his left hand, which he said were the marks of branding, escaped from the farm by diving from a window of a loft in a barn, swimming and wading through ponds and swamps and hitch hiking a ride on a produce truck.

He told his story to Mrs. Mary Franklin, Negro, 1013 Calhoun street, Venice. He told her his master had a small piece of tin with a wire handle. He branded the youth with this and threatened to shoot a hole in his heart if he ran away.

Williams said he had never been off the farm, which is in Tangipahoa Parish, 60 miles north of New Orleans. The barn loft in which he slept was locked during his sleeping hours. To escape he broke the only window. When he reached the highway, he assisted a produce truck driver change a tire on his truck and was offered a ride in return. He came to the East Side, because that is where the trucker was headed.

When he arrived, he was barefooted and his clothes were ragged. He told Mrs. Franklin he had always worn cast-off clothes of other farm workers, most of whom were white people who had been convicted of law violations and whose "freedom" had been purchased by the farm owner. Williams said he had seen the owner shoot some of these convict-workers when they tried to escape. The owner carried a rifle and a pistol and had 15 bloodhounds on the place.

The husky youth, who appears older than 15, is not in good health a physician said, because of die deficiencies. He said he had been fed beans for every meal on the farm. His parents, he was told, were killed in an automobile accident.

Alderman Sam Buck of Venice, a chipper at the General Steel Castings Corp., when told of young Williams's treatment in Louisiana, said he would present the case to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for an investigation.

Since shortly after his arrival on the East Side, Williams has been staying with Otis Butler and Edward Miles, Negroes, who live on Slough road, Kerr Island, a Negro community on the Venice waterfront. Today, however, he will move in with the Browns. They will send him to school and try to build up his health through proper diet.

Williams was given a fried chicken sandwich yesterday. It was the first time he had ever tasted chicken, he said, adding, "That's a rare treat."

CARD TAKES 54 YEARS TO TRAVEL 15 BLOCKS

RICHMOND, Va., June 29 (UP) —In October 1894, the city editor of the old Richmond Dispatch mailed a post card to a correspondent who lived 15 blocks away. It wasn't a newspaper stunt, but the card wasn't delivered until 54 years later.

Addressed to Miss Kate Don Leavy, who has been dead more than 25 years, it was delivered to a nephew, R. C. Don Leavy. Don Leavy estimated it had traveled 4000 miles. Postmarks indicated it had been kicked around in a Philadelphia mail bag most of the 54 years.

MIAMI DETECTIVE CHIEF DIES

MIAMI, Fla., July 6 (AP) — Capt. Edward W. Melchen Sr., head of the Miami Detective Bureau, died yesterday after a heart attack. He was 55 years old. He was a key figure in the investigation of the murder of Sir Harry Oakes at Nassau in 1943.

He was one of two Miami officers summoned to Nassau by the Duke of Windsor, then colonial governor of the Bahamas, to investigate the death of Oakes, one of the world's richest men. Alfred de Marigny, son-in-law of Sir Harry, was accused of the murder but was acquitted after a long trial. The case was never solved. De Marginy was ordered to leave the islands.

Glubb Writes Book on Arab Legion

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—A new book here is the "Story of the Arab Legion," by John Bagot Glubb, military adviser to King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. Glubb organized the 10,000-man, British-created Arab force which spearheaded the invasion of Palestine. The book recounts his 27 years in Arab countries but steers clear of the Palestinian issue.

TALK OF STATES' RIGHTS PLANK TO PLACATE SOUTH

Democratic Platform Writers Seek Compromise to Avert Split on Truman Program.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Democratic platform drafters talked today of writing in a strong states' rights plank to help cool off southern bitterness over civil rights.

The issue of granting greater rights to Negroes and other minority groups had stirred up a major problem for the platform writers as they got ready for their first meeting in Philadelphia tomorrow.

The platform committee, headed by Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, is reported to intend to try to find some compromise satisfactory both to the backers of President Truman's controversial civil rights program and to the southerners who have threatened to split the party wide open over that program.

Public Hearings Tomorrow.

The group plans to hold public hearings tomorrow, Thursday and probably Friday. The convention opens Monday. The civil rights question is expected to get a full—and possibly violent—airing before the committee and the full convention.

Leaders of Negro groups, representing substantial voting strength, have asked to be heard by Myers's committee. They are expected to demand a plank calling for anti-poll tax, anti-lynch, fair employment and other civil rights legislation.

Meanwhile, at Minneapolis, Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey, a member of the platform committee, announced that 50 party leaders, including Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., would try to squeeze Truman's entire program into the platform.

Any such move would be sure to set off furious southern reaction.

Proposed Policy.

Caught between the two disputing groups, the compromisers are reported to be considering this tack as a middle ground which might hold the support, however reluctant, of both factions:

1. Put into the 1948 platform the same general language on civil rights that was incorporated in the 1944 platform after a bitter struggle.

2. Follow this with a strong plank stating the party's opposition to federal interference with states' rights.

The 1944 Democratic race platform said:

"We believe that racial and religious minorities have the right to live, develop and vote equally with all citizens and share the rights that are guaranteed by our constitution. Congress should exert its full constitutional powers to protect those rights."

Southern Democrats accepted this language in 1944. They began a bitter attack on Truman early this year, however, when se sent a message to Congress calling, omang other things, for a fair employment practice bill and legislation against lynching, poll taxes, and segregation on interstate transportation.

Congress passed none of these measures.

The Republican party, in its national convention last month, wrote into its platform a plank favoring legislation against lynching and poll taxes and opposing racial segregation in the armed forces.

Negro leaders, reminding the Republican platform writers that the 1944 document had said nearly the same thing, accused the party of having failed to deliver on its promises.

Little Fanfare as Democrats Begin Arriving at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (UP)—Democratic leaders, headed by United States Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic national chairman, began arriving here today for pre-convention meetings.

Unlike the early arrivals for the Republican convention two weeks ago, however, there was little fanfare to the Democrats' entrance.

National committee officials disclosed that of four labor leaders invited by McGrath to address the convention, only one has accepted. He is A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who threatened to spend millions to help defeat President Truman after the rail strike of 1946. He got back on the Truman train last year.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declined. Two others, Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and Daniel J. Tobin, head of the Teamsters' Union, have yet to be heard from.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN NIGHT, FOG

BOSTON, July 6 (AP)—The 2076-ton Swedish ship Ella was reported standing by the Belgeanne today as it proceeded slowly toward St. John, Nfld., after the ships collided last night in a dense fog about 780 miles southwest of Greenland.

The Ella's distress signal was picked up by the cutter Mendota. The Coast Guard said the Belgeanne apparently was damaged, but no details were radioed.

1500 INSPECT 40-PASSENGER AMERICAN AIRLINES FLAGSHIP

More than 1500 persons inspected the flagship St. Louis, a 40-passenger transport plane operated by American Airlines, at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday despite inclement weather.

The plane, which was placed in service last Thursday, was christened with a bottle of champagne by Miss Dorothy Danforth, Veiled Prophet queen, after short talks by George C. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Milton M. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service.

Principal features of the $350,000 airliner are air-conditioning, baggage racks to enable passengers to handle their own luggage, and a built-in ramp which eliminates the need for the conventional gangways now in use.

Dead With Shoestring Around Neck

Truman Text: 'We Honor Bolivar For Aid to Cause of Freedom'

Following is the text of President Truman's address at Bolivar, Mo., yesterday at the dedication of the Simon Bolivar memorial statue there:

WE have come together today to dedicate a statue of the great South American liberator, Simon Bolivar. This man led the movement for the liberation of half a continent. His memory is part of the spirit of freedom and independence in North and South America alike.

We are especially honored that this statue is presented by the distinguished leader of the Venezuelan people, President Romulo Gallegos. I am proud to be associated with the great statesman who today directs the destinies of Venezuela with the same high purpose and the same lofty ideals that motivated the father of his country, Simon Bolivar.

Freedom Gained in His Lifetime.

When Bolivar was born, in 1783, the movement toward independence in the New World had only begun. When he died, in 1830, sovereign states were governing themselves throughout the hemisphere. Today, we honor the memory of the liberator in a spirit of thanksgiving for his great part in establishing freedom and democracy in the Americas.

There are many other great leaders to whom we are indebted for our liberty. They, too, were animated by high purposes and inspired by high ideals; but among them all Bolivar stands out for his service to the cause of liberty in many different countries and for his clear vision of the eventual solidarity of the American family of nations. In honoring his memory, we are in a very real sense honoring those principles of liberty, unity and friendship which guide the American nations today.

Generous Venezuelan Gesture.

This monument is the result of a generous desire on the part of the people and the government of Venezuela to honor this city in Missouri which is named for Simon Bolivar. Not only are the city of Bolivar and the state of Missouri deeply grateful for this friendly sentiment, but it is appreciated also by the people of the whole United States.

A spirit of international friendliness has prompted the private citizens and officials of Venezuela and this country, and notably the members of the Simon Bolivar Memorial Foundation, who have worked together to erect this statue. This action symbolizes the many bonds of friendship between the citizens of the republic of Venezuela and the citizens of the United States of America. In the American family of nations, our two countries have been drawn closer together over the years. The spirit of good neighborliness that has marked our national relations has grown more and more into personal friendship between our citizens. That friendship is now cemented more firmly than ever by the visit of our distinguished guests, President Gallegos and Senora Gallegos.

Characteristics of Bolivar.

The historic figure of Simon Bolivar was characterized by steady moral balance and by a deep serenity of mind—gifts of a truly great leader. His virtues were great as a military leader, as a statesman, as a tireless organizer, and as a valiant fighter. His burning spirit of freedom was even greater. Although he might have wielded arbitrary power, his ideals never permitted him to do so.

In the United States, we admire the life and deeds of the South American liberator. We recognize in him a figure of the most commanding force and genius—one who has helped tremendously to shape the destiny of the peoples of the Americas. The overwhelming odds he was obliged to face in his fight for the liberation of the Spanish American colonies make his achievements even more remarkable. While other leaders made valiant contributions to the work of liberation, circumstances, together with his unique gifts, made Bolivar the soul and symbol of that work.

Liberator and Apostle of Unity.

We honor Bolivar today as the great liberator. We honor him equally as the father of the great concept of solidarity among the American nations. His plans and labors for unity among the countries of the new world constituted a basis of policy for the American republics which has persisted for more than a century.

Over 100 years ago Simon Bolivar called the first Pan-American Congress in Panama City. In historical perspective, we can clearly perceive the great vision of the liberator in this invitation to understanding. It has led to our present system of regional co-operation which sustains the peace and security of the Western Hemisphere.

As I listened to the eloquent words of President Gallegos, in presenting this monument to the people of the United States, I was again reminded how closely parallel have run the lines of experience, and how intimate have been the spiritual association, among the members of the American family of republics.

Today, the 21 American republics are bound together by every tie and consideration of political, economic and cultural interest. All 21 nations stand on equal terms. Pan-Americanism means equality of all nations, and sympathetic and effective co-operation among all nations.

And there is not a single American republic afraid of invasion from its neighbor to the north.

Struggle Still Continuing.

It is these same ideals for which the peopls of the Western Hemisphere are working today in common with other free peoples of the world. Through the United Nations, we are seeking a world order under which all of the countries of the world will live together in the equality and friendship which prevails among the American nations. We know, of course, that we do have differences between nations in the Americas. But we know also how to settle those differences by peaceful means and on a basis of mutual respect and forbearance.

The example of Pan-American co-operation, worked out slowly and painstakingly over the years, shows us that we can succeed in establishing the same kind of co-operation with other countries in the United Nations. The way before us is not easy. We must expect delays and disappointments. But we can suceed.

If at times our progress seems slow, we must remain steadfast in the faith which sustained the great leaders of the past who, like Simon Bolivar, fought for human liberty and understanding among nations.

This monument will be an enduring symbol of these great aspirations, and of the warm friendship between Venezuela and the United States. In this spirit I am glad to accept this statue on behalf of the Government and the people of the United States.

MAN OUT ON BOND IN KILLINGS ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING GIRL

Robert Allen, Negro, charged with two murders and released both times on bond, was held by police again today on an assault charge after a 12-year-old Negro girl reported he had molested her last May 7 in his ice cream stand at 4200 St. Ferdinand avenue.

Allen was released on his first murder charge last December after he was accused of the killing of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Juanita Smith. Last Sunday he was released on $7500 bond, approved by Judge David FitzGibbon of the Court of Criminal Correction, after he admitted shooting Willie Coleman, Negro, in his store.

Police said he shot the Coleman woman after she objected that Allen had overcharged her 12-year-old son on an ice cream cone. An inquest will be held today. Police will apply today for assault warrants in the case involving the 12-year-old girl.

PROWLER HELD DESPITE LEAP FROM SECOND-STORY WINDOW

Donald Lee Dale, a pipefitter, was held by police today after his leap from a second-story window to escape two policemen who found him in a grocery last night was unsuccessful.

Investigating a report of prowlers in Bettendorf's Market, 2655 Lafayette avenue, Detective Sgt. Arthur Sullivan entered the building while Detective Frank Carbrey watched a rear entrance.

Sullivan found Dale attempting to break open a soda-dispensing machine with a meat cleaver. He chased Dale around the store until Dale ran to a balcony, jumped from a window and was captured by Barbrey. Dale, who said he lived at 2129 Russell boulevard, admitted taking 75 pounds of bacon and four pounds of ham, valued at $75.

HARD OF HEARING NOW HEAR CLOCK TICK

A new device has been developed to give hope for the hard of hearing. Through the adoption of a new miniature electronic tube, science now brings restored hearing to the deafened.

No more cumbersome batteries or battery cords needed. This new device weighs only a few ounces yet so powerful the hard of hearing may now hear whispers.

It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, write Tonemaster Hearing Aids, 954 Paul Brown Bldg., St. Louis, Mo., for full information or call CH. 4565.

TWO FUGITIVES FROM FARMS ARE CAPTURED AFTER ROBBERY

Two Negro youths who robbed a grocery a short while after escaping from Bellefontaine Farms Saturday evening, were back in custody of police today, thanks to the alertness of two patrolmen who didn't wait for working hours to begin to start nabbing criminals.

Patrolman Eugene Watts of the Penrose street station had just left his home at 5838A West Florissant avenue, on his way to work Sunday morning, when he saw the two youths, one carrying a bundle, walking on Riverview boulevard. As he approached, the youths fled, and he gave chase. Patrolman Hugh Smith, 5639 Park lane, also on his way to work at the Penrose street station, joined in the pursuit and helped capture the youths after a short sprint.

The bundle, unwrapped at the station, yielded six cartons of cigarettes, which the youths, 15 and 16 years old, said they had just stolen, along with $24.90 in cash, from a grocery at 8816 Newby avenue.

U.S., WEST EUROPE NATIONS BEGIN MILITARY AID TALKS

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Ambassadors of five western European nations and Canada held an 80-minute conference with Under-Secretary of State Robert Lovett today. These talks are the first of what may prove to be a historic series of meetings on American military support for the western European Bloc.

After today's session, the State Department press officer, Lincoln White, said the conversations are expected to continue for some time "since they are purely exploratory. No information concerning the substance of the conversations will be made public until such time as decisions may be reached."

American officials said Canada's participation was a logical outgrowth of its close military links with America and Britain and its strategic position in the world.

YUGOSLAV LOAN SUCCESS DESPITE ATTACK ON TITO

50 Million in Bonds Sold in 5 Days — Party Leaders Continue to Support Premier.

BELGRADE, July 7 (AP) — Yugoslavs were reported today to have given evidence of support for Premier-Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz, who has been denounced by the Soviet-controlled Cominform.

The Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba said last night that in five days the public subscribed $50,000,000 of the $70,000,000 national loan.

Other press accounts said local committees of the Communist party all over the country are sending messages to Belgrade that they are "with the marshal." The national organization of war invalids resolved that its members will renew their efforts toward helping build Socialism under Tito.

Press Contradictions.

But there was an air of contradiction in the press. On the front pages appeared reports of blistering replies by Yugoslav Communist leaders to the Cominform charges that Tito and his lieutenants were deviating from the orthodox Communist line, and were pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia.

The back pages of the same papers carried news items telling of normal operations between the countries belonging to the Cominform, or Communist International Information Bureau.

(In Budapest, the new Workers party expelled Anton Robr, Hungarian member of Parliament who leads the Yugoslav minority. He was accused of voicing support for Tito, and of "deserting the principles of Marxism and Leninism.")

Borba said the members of a Bulgarian cultural delegation asked on their arrival in Belgrade last week that no dinner be given in their honor. However, the Yugoslavs solved the problem by telling them there would be no toasts at the dinner, thus eliminating the need for praising Tito or anyone else.

Yugoslav-Albanian relations apparently remained strained. The Yugoslav legation in Tirana said Albanian police had blocked all food for Yugoslavs in the border town of Scutari.

Borba, which carried the report, said: "This made the feeding of Yugoslav representatives impossible."

Cultural Pact Signed.

It was assumed in Belgrade that the Yugoslav representatives were supervising one or more of the numerous Yugoslav-Albanian trade agreements.

Albania severed trade relations with Yugoslavia last week and ordered the expulsion of military, political and cultural missions, but there was no indication that any of them had left Albanian soil.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said Bulgaria and Yugoslavia have signed a one-year agreement for cultural co-operation. The report indicated that the backing Bulgaria's ruling Communists gave to the Cominform's denunciation of Tito has not impaired diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Well-informed sources in Bucharest, Romania, said they believed the Cominform met there over the weekend, possibly to discuss its controversy with Tito.

AIR RESERVE ON ACTIVE DUTY

WOMAN'S COMPANION ROUTS PAIR TRYING TO SEIZE PURSE

Miss Lucille Bahr, 1576 Wellston avenue, Wellston, told police she and Richaird Shepard, 5759 Easton avenue, were walking near Gravois and Eichelberger avenues when two young men approached them and attempted to grab her purse.

Shepard wrestled with the two men until they fled to an automobile parked nearby and escaped. Shepard and Miss Bahr were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

RIVERSIDE, CALIF., AGAIN TERRORIZED BY MOTORCYCLISTS

One Killed, 54 Arrested in Wild Riding, Fights in Bars.

RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 6 (AP)—As the last of "those wild motorcycle boys" chugged off, citizens of Riverside began sweeping their way today out of the dust and debris.

Perhaps the loudest sigh of relief came from Sheriff Carl F. Rayburn, sponsor of the three-day meet which disrupted the city.

"That's the last time I'm inviting the motorcycle crowd," said the sheriff. "I don't think it's a good thing for a little town like Riverside."

Sheriff Rayburn, however, placed the blame on a "bunch of crazy kids," and said American Motorcycle Association members were not responsible for the wild riding down main streets and fist throwing in sundry bars.

When the 2000 cyclists departed, the box score stood one dead, one injured and 54 arrested.

The association's 100-mile dirt track race was won by Ed Kretz of Wilmar, Calif., with a time of 2 hours, 26 minutes and 2.15 seconds.

That seemed a short race to some residents after the impromptu series of street dashes Saturday and Sunday nights.

Flying beer bottles, firecrackers and fists punctuated near riots which brought all available police and sheriff's officers into action.

It was the second time in a year that Riverside had undergone a motorcycle invasion. Last Labor day two were killed, 15 injured and more than a score arrested.

40,000 ON STRIKE IN CAPTIVE COAL MINES DISPUTE

10,000 Other Miners Fail to Return to Work—Reason Not Clear, May Be Sympathy Walkout.

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP)—Some 50,000 of the nation's 400,000 bituminous miners refused to work today—four-fifths of them in steel company captive pits.

While most of the United Mine Workers returned to work under their new contract, about 40,000 in the steel firm mines in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Kentucky and Utah observed the United Mine Workers traditional policy of "no contract, no work." The steel companies' mines have refused to sign the contract.

The remaining idle miners were commercial coal diggers, principally in western Pennsylvania where many captives are located. Whether they were on a sympathy strike was a matter of conjecture.

Mines owned by United States Steel, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Weirton Steel, Wheeling Steel and Jones & Laughlin Steel were among those affected by the captive work stoppage.

Telegram to Lewis.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association, which reported an additional 36 commercial pits idle, sent this telegram to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers:

"Notwithstanding the fact that this association has a signed contract with you, more than 30 mines operated by members are on strike today. We demand that you notify the men to honor it and return to work immediately."

Steel production was hit at once. The Carnegie-Illinoil Steel Corp., a U.S. Steel subsidiary, announced at Pittsburgh the banking of at least eight blast furnaces and 28 open hearths. Its Bessemer output at Youngstown, O., was cut in half.

Output 20 Per Cent of Normal.

Over-all coal production in western Pennsylvania, which employs 56,000 miners, was only 20 per cent of normal.

The big United States Steel Corporation reported all 14 of its Pennsylvania mines, employing 11,000 men, were idle, causing a daily loss of 55,000 tons of coal.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association reported commercial coal production in the Pittsburgh-Uniontown area was only one-third of normal, with 30 pits and 10,000 men idle.

Commercial producers hit hard included the Pittsburgh Coal Co., which reported 14 of its 17 deep mines in Pennsylvania closed.

Steel companies refused a new contract because of a union shop provision. Captive mines are those whose output goes to a parent firm, like a steel company. The output of commercial mines is sold in the open market.

The majority of the 400,000 bituminous miners had a new contract from commercial coal operators granting a $1-per-day pay increase and a welfare fund royalty doubled to 20 cents a ton.

The walkout actually was an extension of the 10-day miners' vacation which ended yesterday.

Under the union shop, employes are required to join the union after they are hired. Steel spokesmen say this violates the Taft-Hartley law.

Effect of Law.

The Taft-Hartley law does not bar a union shop, but provides that a union shop can be set up only after a majority of employes have voted for it in an election conducted by the NLRB.

In order to use NLRB machinery, union leaders must comply with Taft-Hartley law provisions, swearing they are not Communists and filing certain financial and other data. John L. Lewis, the UMW chief, thus far has not complied.

Hard coal miners also returned to work today after a 10-day vacation during which a new agreement was reached between anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers.

The agreement reached here over the weekend gives 80,000 Pennsylvania hard coal miners wage increases of a dollar a day and increases the employer contribution to the health and welfare fund from 10 cents per ton to 20 cents.

Union President Thomas Kennedy said the union now could plan to provide a pension system for its men similar to the $100 a month pension planned for soft coal miners after the age of 62.

Union spokesmen said under present wage scales men classified as company miners average $11.10 for a seven-hour day, company laborers $10.53 a day, and men operating on a piecework basis average $13 a day.

MAN FOUND FATALLY STABBED

Police were searching today for an assailant who fatally stabbed Charles Slaughter, Negro, early Sunday. Slaughter, a laborer, 926 North Fourteenth street, was found lying on a loading platform in the rear of 1101 North Third street, and died six hours later at Homer G. Phillips hospital.

He told police he had been drinking Saturday evening and early Sunday and did not know who stabbed him. He was 54 years old.

OFFICER TAKES HIS TRAFFIC TECHNIQUE IN AIR TO TAG FLYER

PONTIAC, Mich., July 6 (AP)—Lurking in the sun like a traffic cop behind a billboard, State Police Trooper Henry A. Delooff flagged down and ticketed an errant flyer yesterday.

The arrested man, Marine Pfc. Richard J. Koester, 20 years old, on leave from his station in Washington, paid a $30 fine to Justice Burt I. Lockwood. The charge was reckless flying.

Trooper Delooff said he watched Koester take off "like a cowboy" from the Pontiac airport. The officer took over another plane and followed Koester for 18 miles, with the rays of the sun as a shield.

He said Koester made two low dives over populated areas. After the second one, Delooff pulled up beside Koester and gave him the same signal traffic cops use to flag motorists to a curb. Koester obediently landed and was arrested.

"You should have seen his face when I flew alongside him," the trooper commented.

NO CLUES FOUND IN LONDON PLANE CRASH KILLING 39

2 Americans, British Official Among Victims in Collision of Swedish Craft, R.A.F. Transport.

LONDON, July 6 (UP) — The cause of Britain's worst civil aviation disaster, the collision of two four-engined transports which killed 39 persons, apparently was lost today in the shredded wreckage.

Two Americans were listed among the victims of the crash of Swedish DC-6 and Royal Air Force York transport in a rainstorm over Northolt airport outside London.

None survived, and investigators despaired of finding the answer to their questions in the tangled, flame-scarred remnants of the planes and mutilated bodies.

Apparently exploding when they collided, the two planes wheeled crazily to earth a quarter of a mile apart on either side of a narrow valley. The werckage was scattered haphazardly over a wide area.

Six Crewman Killed.

Sir Edward Gent, British High Commissioner for Malaya, was flying in on the York by way of Malta for consultation over disorders in the Malay peninsula. Six crewman died with him.

A spokesman for the Scandinavian Air Lines said 25 passengers and seven crewman were abroad the Swedish liner, inbound from Stockholm and Copenhagen.

Among the passengers, the spokesman said, were two Americans who boarded the plane in Copenhagen. They were named as Gustav Richard Boerger and Frank Wederholt. A Danish newspaper identified Boerger as manager of a New York steel concern with Scandinavian branches. Wederholt was registered in care of the Jay Madden Corp., a paper concern at Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

Both planes had been in touch by radio with the Northolt control tower. There had been no sign of trouble until their signals ceased suddenly.

Visibility Limited.

The last message from the Swedish plane said the weather was too bad for a landing and it was going back to Amsterdam. It had been raining most of the day and visibility was limited. The York had been circling the area for some time, waiting for a rift in the clouds.

Hours after the crash the wreckage still smouldered. A fireman said workers had "got some torsos out of the RAF plane. They were badly burned, but they were bodies. It was not like that in the Swedish plane. We didn't get anybody out of that—just bits of legs and arms."

Gent, who was 53 years old, had been in the British colonial service more than 20 years. He became governor of the Malayan union in 1946 and his title was changed when more home rule was granted the Asiatic colony early this year.

A wave of killing that began last month has cost the lives of more than 50 Britons and Chinese in Malaya. Some British officials have blamed the Communists. Gent declared a state of emergency June 15, but the riots did not stop.

HOMES FOR 875 VETERANS FOUND BY COUNTY GROUP

Housing for 875 veterans and their families has been found by the St. Louis County Veterans' Welfare Association within the last 18 months, Charles A. Blair, in charge of the county branch of the veterans' association said today.

In spite of this average of almost 50 placements monthly, the association, a Community Chest agency, still has 286 applications on hand from veterans in emergency need because of evictions, Blair said.

The association, he added, is serving as the clearing agency for the St. Louis County Public Housing Authority, which has jurisdiction over 978 housing units at Jefferson Barracks and 12 units at Kinloch Park.

ALLEN IN TOUCH WITH TRUMAN AIDS ON MISSION TO IKE

of the "kitchen cabinet," was accomplished.

Senator McGrath, when a swarm of reporters descended on him following publication of the Post-Dispatch story Friday, denied that the White House had "taken steps" to get Eisenhower to issue a statement. McGrath, however, declined to say who attended the now-noted Wednesday strategy meeting, or to divulge what was discussed. The President himself is expected to deny the story at his next press conference. Political observers pointed out that none of those involved could possibly acknowledge, on the record, that the White House had made such a move.

Meanwhile, there was consternation among Democrats already committed to Eisenhower, and others who had intended to switch to the Eisenhower bandwagon in the near future. Informed party leaders, pro-Truman and anti-Truman, accepted the new Eisenhower renunciation as undebatable, despite Eisenhower's qualifying phrase, "at this time."

A few, like James Roosevelt on the West Coast, still insisted that the General would respond to a genuine draft, but this die-hard attitude was deemed by observers as a temporary maneuver designed to kill off Truman as the nominee and then switch support to Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Debate on "At This Time."

Others pointed out that Eisenhower's qualification, "at this time," dealt, in the context of that sentence, with his refusal to identify himself with any political party, and not with his flat statement that he could not accept nomination for any public office. To still others, the phrase meant that he might be willing to accept public office in four years, depending on the international situation and the record of the White House incumbent in the intervening years.

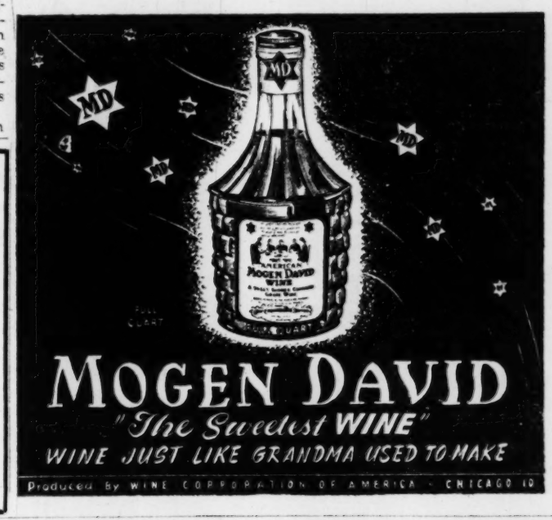

Many of the Eisenhower boomers secretly felt convinced that he would not run, but they kept the political tubs thumping in the thought that an overwhelming party defection to the General would force Truman to withdraw as a candidate. Once Truman was out of the picture, they planned, in the event of a new renunciation by Eisenhower, to swing all their support to Justice Douglas. These anti-Trumanites were sorely disapointed by the General's statement yesterday — a dismay based on timing rather than content. Had Eisenhower withheld his no-bomb until next Friday, they insist, it would have been curtains for Truman.

As things stand now, Truman's nomination on the first ballot seems a certainty. Only one sensational development can upset the picture. If Truman, on the eve of the convention, should surprise the country and the world by personally urging the nomination of Eisenhower, it is believed Eisenhower would yield to this as a real draft. But it is still only a pipe-dream.

HURT IN FALL FROM STAIRWAY

Joseph Kyle, 4345 Hunt avenue, suffered serious head injuries this morning when he tumbled over a railing on an outside stairway and fell about 15 feet to a brick pavement. He is at City Hospital.

The accident occurred at the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Theresa Kyle, 3966 Laclede avenue. She said he was leaving to go to work when he fell.

But Guerrillas Continue to Put Up Savage Resistance in Defending One Key Area.

ATHENS, July 6 (AP)—Gen. Demetrios Yadzis, Greek chief of staff, contends the Communist-led guerrillas are nearing the end of their resistance in the Grammos mountain area—their greatest stronghold.

At a press conference last night at Second Corps headquarters in Kozane, Yadzis said the guerrillas are using their full strength in the Grammos fighting near the Albanian border and are "playing their last trumps."

A break in their "inner security belt" is expected quickly, he said adding: "I am very satisfied with our progress."

The guerrillas were putting up savage resistance in one key area there—the Kleptis (Thieves) Heights. Greek Army troops were turned back yesterday after trying four times to storm the heights. Some of the Greek units got as close as a few hundred yards from the summit before they fell back.

A communique said the Greek army had repused rebel attacks in the Voion mountain area and near Orliaka, west of Grevena, in the Grammos mountain battle. Mopping up operations resulted in 47 dead rebels and nine captured. Army losses were placed at six dead and 18 wounded.

The bulletin said fighting eased in the Sarandoporos river valley and in the Smolikas mountains.

A dispatch from Patras said 130 guerrillas were killed and 250 wounded in fighting at Hallandritsa. The report said 36 police were killed fighting the rebels before reinforcements arrived.

In Athens, three members of the Communist civilian militia were executed. A dispatch from Salonika said a tribunal there sentenced a woman and a man to death, and four men to life imprisonment for aiding guerrillas. A dispatch from Herakleion, Crete, said four were sentenced to death there for organizing guerrilla groups.

ITALIAN COMMUNISTS BACK COMINFORM ATTACK ON TITO

ROME, July 6 (AP)—The newspaper Unita said today Italian Communists have approved the Cominform attack on Premier-Marshal Tito and other Yugoslav Communist leaders. The Yugoslav Communists were invited to "re-enter the great family of Communist parties."

Palmiro Togliatti, the leading Italian Communist, will speak to Rome Communists Thursday about the Cominform attack, which he signed. Communist sources denied reports printed in Italian newspapers that Togliatti intends to ask Russian support for the return of Trieste to Italy.

TWO NAMED IN KILLING OF NON-UNION PAINTER

A coroner's verdict of homicide, naming John S. Schumann and Ellis McKinley, was returned today following an inquest in the death of William White, Negro non-union painter who was fatally beaten while he was painting a house at 6038 Bartmer avenue last Friday. Schumann and McKinley are being held for a grand jury.

Rufus Iron, Negro, 1510 South Eighth street, who was helping White paint the house, testified Schumann and McKinley had driven up to the place in a taxicab. When Schumann asked White for a union card, Iron said a fight ensued, and Schumann struck White on the head with a paint can. McKinley hit White with his fists, Iron testified.

White, 43 years old, lived at 2413 Dickson avenue. His mother, Mrs. Susie White, of Indianapolis, became hysterical at the outset of the inquest, and had to be quieted. Schumann, an apprentice plumber, said he lived at 1241 Delaware avenue, Wellston. McKinley, a taxicab driver, gave his address as 3700 Salome avenue, Pine Lawn.

Weakness in Red System Makes It Improbable Russia Will Risk War to Clinch Control of Berlin

But Soviet Rulers Have Been Inflexible in Their Purpose of Dominating Europe and Asia, and Now They Are Undermining Unity of Western Allies.

By SUMNER WELLES
Former Under Secretary of State.

(Copyright, 1948.)

THE looming showdown in Berlin is the most spectacular of the many signs that the anticipated European crisis may be near. In the last three years' contest of power politics the Kremlin has been defeated in secondary engagements in Italy and in Greece; it has been contained so far in France and in the rest of western Europe; and it as yet has won no conclusive victories in Asia or the Near East. Its prestige in Europe has, at least momentarily, been weakened by the revolt against its authority in the Balkans.

Yet it has not been deflected one inch from the line that it has set for itself in order to dominate continental Europe and Asia.

Russia cannot gain supremacy in Europe unless she can control Germany. The prospects for eventual Russo-German collaboration are greater today than at any other time since the end of the war.

Wavering by Western Allies.

While the Soviet regime has been inflexible in its purpose, the Western allies have wavered. Even now they have no fixed policy in Germany. For lack of consistency and because of administrative incapacity they have needlessly lost several of the great tactical advantages they enjoyed in 1945.

Three years ago the defeated and submissive German people looked to the Western powers as their one hope of salvation from Russia. Today German nationalism is resurgent and an increasing number of Germans believe that Germany's survival depends upon partnership with Russia.

Three years ago the Germans were convinced that the determination of their future rested in American hands. Today the Germans see the Soviet Union demonstrate that it can prevent the United States from providing two million Germans in Berlin with even the bare necessities of life.

Three years ago the Western allies were united. Today the phony Russian peace offensive and the Berlin war of nerves have begun to undermine Western unity.

It is all very well for Gen. Clay to announce, with Washington's approval, that the Russians "could not drive us out of Berlin short of war." But French public opinion has already clearly shown that it deprecates any course in Berlin that might result in an open clash. And the leaks from London make it evident that the British Government is far from eager, notwithstanding Mr. Bevin's statements, to indorse Gen. Clay's blank check.

Direction to Create Disorder.

The instructions delivered by Molotov at the Warsaw meeting directed the Communist parties in Western Europe to create internal disorders designed to lessen the possibility that the western European governments would back vigorous American action. Strikes since have been called that have threatened to tie up Britain's ports, to prevent the harvesting of Italy's desperately needed crops, and to cripple France's public services and communications.

The horns of our dilemma are apparent. We cannot be sure of more than tepid French and British support. We cannot continue indefinitely to supply by air the needs of two million Germans.

The Kremlin does not have to use force. All it has to do is wait. It knows that public opinion here would never permit two millions of human beings under American jurisdiction to suffer slow starvation.

It is wishful thinking to maintain that the Russians will give in because they fear German resentment. The Russian alibi will be that if the Western powers evacuate Berlin, its inhabitants would be adequately provided for, and that their distress is solely due to this government's refusal to agree to a united Germany and to its demand that the Germans be kept in eternal subjugation.

The impasse in Berlin justifies the query why this government has allowed a situation, with all of these dangerous implications, to reach a stage where it can only be settled either by submission to Russia's demands, or by resort to armed resistance if that be forced upon us.

New Propaganda Chance.

Recourse to negotiations "at the top level," as the British Foreign Office is urging upon us, can at this late hour merely offer the Russians a new chance for propaganda designed to intensify German nationalism, and another opportunity to try to browbeat the Western allies into agreeing to some weak compromise that will ultimately result in a unified Germany under a centralized government with Russian participation in control of the Ruhr.

Withdrawal from Berlin under Russian pressure would be a major blow to American authority in Europe. It would convince the German people that they cannot look to the West for security. It would increase immeasurably Russia's chances of later controlling all of Germany.

As Winston Churchill warned the other day, this is a determining moment.

The United States cannot afford to retreat from the advanced position where her own faulty diplomacy has placed her. There is too much at stake. The decision, far-reaching as it is, is rendered easier by the fact that the weaknesses that have suddenly appeared in the Soviet system make it improbable that the Kremlin will run the risk of hostilities.

Red Plot to Set Off Trouble in Berlin Alleged Paris Foreign Office Reports Evidence of Plan to Drive Allies Out.

By ROBERT EUNSON

PARIS, July 6 (AP).

THE French Foreign Office announced today it has received from the British Embassy documentary evidence of a Russian plot to drive the western Allies from Berlin.

The foreign office said the British information was that Communists in Berlin were instructed by Moscow to touch off incidents which would cause intervention by Soviet forces. Similar information has come from French officials in Berlin, the foreign office added. Neither the British nor the American embassies here would comment.

Demonstrations Ordered.

French diplomatic informants said the Kremlin has ordered demonstrations leading to street fighting which would give Russian troops a chance to intervene and occupy all Berlin.

Referring to a statement carried by the Paris newspaper Le Figaro, which claimed to have a copy of the Soviet order, one source said: "I cannot vouch for that particular communique, but everything in it is true."

The communique, which Le Figaro said was issued to German Communists in Berlin by the secretary general of the party there, ordered the "disorganization" of electrical power and other essential services. The account was written by Roger Massip, chief of Figaro's foreign service.

The Radical-Socialist paper L'Aurore carried about the same information and said its story came from London sources.

Versions of Red Orders.

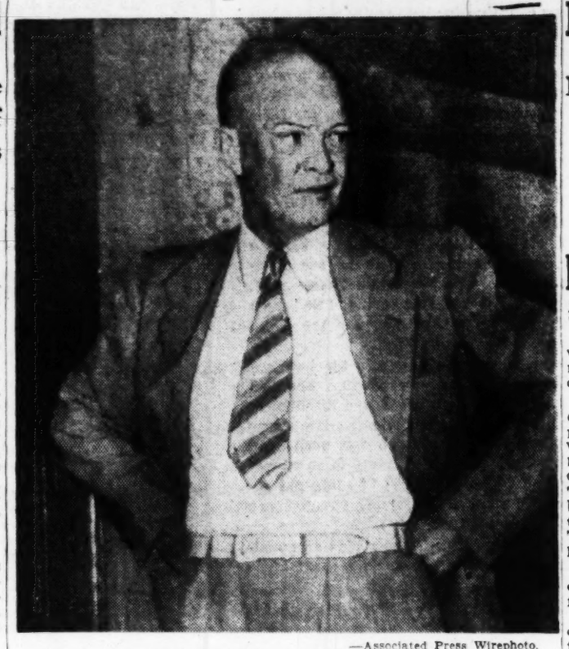

The statement in Figaro said the plan was in eight parts.

1. Disorganization of electricity "and other essentials."
2. Demonstrations in all sectors calling for unified government and a unified monetary system.
3. Communist demonstrators will be attacked by police and "it must be assumed that there will be numerous dead and wounded."
4. When this situation "has been created" Soviet troops will occupy the entire city of Berlin, plus the suburbs. Soviet forces will order the Western Allies into limited territory where "their safety can be guaranteed."
5. A state of "general public crisis" will be declared at a mass meeting of workers and a provisional government set up "by our Sondereinsatz-Truppen."
6. This will take place only in case of aggravated tension between the U.S.S.R. and the Western powers.
7. All decisions shall be referred beforehand to the central committee of the party. Detailed orders will be released later.
8. The present document shall be destroyed as soon as special officers and delegates of the central committee have taken due note of the information they need.

A diplomatic source said that "we have been aware for a long time that demonstrations have been called for."

Asked if he thought the orders came from Moscow, he replied, "That's obvious."

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Unsmiling, GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, president of Columbia University, tells newspaper reporters yesterday that he has nothing to say concerning the campaign to draft him as the Democratic presidential nominee. Later, however, he issued a statement through the university's public relations director declaring he "could not accept nomination for any public office."

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, July 6 (UP).

GEN. EISENHOWER'S statement that he would not accept nomination left scores of big-name Democrats out on the longest political limb this country has seen since Theodore Roosevelt bolted the Republican party in 1912.

The statement was a blockbuster. It scarcely can miss wrecking the Democrats this year. The ditch-Truman-for-Ike movement was spreading aggressively in at least 22 states when Eisenhower finally spoke. Four state delegations with a total of 110 Democratic national convention votes already had been pledged to him. They were New Jersey, Georgia, Virginia and South Carolina. In 18 others the rebellion against Truman's nomination was thinly disguised as an Ike-for-President movement.

The out-of-office New Dealers were whooping it up for Eisenhower and also for Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in the name of Americans for Democratic Action. Regular Democrats regarded this New Deal brigade as political mavericks but the regulars themselves also were going off the Truman reservation.

Boss Frank Hague of New Jersey tossed that state's 36 convention votes to Ike over the weekend. Jacob M. Arvey, new Democratic boss of Chicago, was heading the Ike-for-President movement.

Tennessee's Gov. Jim McCord had announced for Ike. Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York bolted the Truman Administration to join James Roosevelt and Democratic leaders of 15 other states in a summons to a pre-convention stop-Truman-nominate-Ike caucus.

All the Roosevelts who are active in politics are against the President's nomination next week. They were joined by Democratic organizations in nine of the Southern states, where the President's civil rights program announced last February was a summons to political rebellion.

So long as Eisenhower was a possible nominee the civil rights Northern Democrats and the anti-civil rights Southern Democrats had a candidate. It was Ike. None knew where he stood on the disputed civil rights issue or on many others which will figure in this campaign. But the General looked to the Democrats like a possible winner and they were willing to take a chance.

Eisenhower's withdrawal splits the North and South wide open. Northern Democrats and the New Dealers would like to nominate Douglas. Southerners know him as a veteran New Dealer and many of them have had enough of the New Deal.

Taft Turns Over Leadership of Party to Dewey

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP).

LONG a leading spokesman for the G.O.P., Senator Taft of Ohio has shifted that ticklish job to the presidential nominee, Thomas E. Dewey.

"The spotlight belongs to the winner—Tom Dewey," Taft told a reporter here. "I'm stepping out of it."

For more than a year Taft, chairman of the Senate G.O.P. policy committee with a powerful voice in important legislation, has been widely regarded as the "voice of the G.O.P." When President Truman and other Democrats blasted at the Republican controlled Congress, usually it was Taft who did the answering for his party.

"But Gov. Dewey is the man to do the talking now," Taft said firmly.

Taft has returned to his home city of Cincinnati with Mrs. Taft for a brief visit. He will return here July 12 and then take off for a long vacation in Canada.

William McAdams, public relations man who spent two years on the Taft campaign, is no longer on the Senator's staff. Taft will not seek the job of Senate floor leader, which will be open in Januard if Republicans retain their majority in that body.

The Senator and Mrs. Taft will go to their summer home on Murray Bay in Quebec for six weeks or longer to golf and fish.

One source here indicated that the total Taft-for-President drive, extending over two years and including outlays at the Philadelphia convention, cost near $200,000.

Business Outlook

33 ECONOMISTS LOOK AHEAD TO 1949

By J. A. Livingston

WASHINGTON.

DRAW up that easy chair and relax. Good times are in the bag for the rest of the year. Thirty-three economists in key positions in industry, government, finance, and research have looked into their crystal balls and see few refractory lights immediately ahead.

High spending, high production, and high employment are forecast, with a moderate recession starting late in '49. True, farmers may expect a 4 per cent drop in agricultural prices by December as a prelude to further declines in '49. But that's good news for housewives. Living costs will go down. If Wall Street follows the prediction chart, the stock market will rise 5 per cent during the rest of the year, hold level through the first half of '49, then drop 5 per cent.

The verdict of the economists is well nigh unanimous. Thirty replied to my semi-annual detailed questionaire with a forecast that industrial production at the end of '48 would be as high or higher than now. Only three expect a drop—and that less than 10 per cent.

Twice before the economists were so solidly agreed. In June, 1946, all were bullish—and right. They hit the production forecast for December 1946 on the nose. But in January, 1947, they were almost all bearish — and wrong. They voted 12 to 1 for the recession that never came. Which proves the pitfalls of prophecy and the danger of following prophets unthinkingly.

A basic point is involved. All men are subject to a pendulum-like swing in their judgment of the future. The unexpected has a way of upsetting calculations. Thus in September, 1946, the stock market took a header. Result: Many economists, along with business men, decided that a repetition of the 1920-21 commodity-price deflation was due to come.

Things That Didn't Happen.

A shift in thought—a rise in optimism—has taken place in the last 12 months, as feared events didn't take place. For instance:

1. Outright war with Russia. Americans gradually became hardened to the threats of the Soviet Republic. A step-up in armament expenditures tended to generate hopes for peace rather than fear of war.

2. A wide-open break in commodity prices which would spread throughout the business community. The drop in February of this year was limited in scope, and soon after, prices started up again.

3. Pricing of consumers out of the market. On the contrary, housewives followed prices up.

4. A bear market in Wall Street. After the September-October break, the stock market did not continue to slide.

5. A collapse in exports. The Marshall plan came to the rescue of Great Britain and western Europe, made possible continued high shipments of goods from the United States, though not at so high a level as in the spring of 1947.

The economists have not given up the notion of a postwar depression. When it didn't come on schedule, they put if off for another six months. But each postponement has caused self-doubts. A nationally known economist writes: "I do not want to seem discourteous in not answering your questionnaire. It is simply that I have been so wrong—on the bearish side—regarding the whole postwar situation that I am, and have been for some months, trying to reorient myself."

Upsurge in Confidence.

This time the economists are more confident about the outlook. They see no noticeable drop in production, employment, or prices between now and June 1949. Formerly, they put a six months' "stop-loss" on their prophecies of good times. But they do expect a marked decline in residential building, which is strange in view of the expected high level of production.

Not only that, but today the economists are figuring on a less severe setback than they expected six months ago and a year ago. Three out of four are betting that in the year ahead industrial production will be either higher or down no more than 10 per cent; six months ago, only two out of three were that optimistic; a year ago, only one out of three. Here's a tabulation of how the economists forecast the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production for the year ahead:

Drop in Production.	Per cent of Forecasts Year 6 Mos. Ago.	Ago.	Today.
20% or More	31%	4%	4%
10% to 20%	34	30	22
Less than 10%	21	33	26
Unchanged or up	14	33	48

The economic consensus is that 1949 will mark the end of the postwar inflation. Production of goods and services, now at a rate of 244 billions a year, will go up to 250 billions by the end of this year and then recede to 238 billions by the end of 1949. Production, at 192 today in the Reserve Board index, will rise to 195 in December, then slip to 187. Auto output will remain relatively steady, unemployment will rise somewhat, and department store dollar volume will decline about 8% in the next 18 months.

CZECHS WAVE U.S. FLAGS IN ANTI-RED DEMONSTRATION

Shout Praise of Benes and Masaryk During Parade in Prague.

PRAGUE, July 6 (UP)—Czechs waved United States flags and shouted praise of Benes and Masaryk today in what appeared to be an organized protest against Communist control in Czechoslovakia.

Police appeared powerless to halt the demonstration. Witnesses said three young men, who shouted "There is no republic without Masaryk," were arrested.

Officials said there were 70,000 marchers with 111 bands in the parade.

The demonstrators erupted suddenly all along the line of march of the Sokol paraders. Individuals and groups whipped out small American flags and waved them. They shouted such slogans as:

"We want the republic of Benes and Masaryk."

They referred to Eduard Benes, resigned former President of Czechoslovakia, who gave way to Communist pressure a few weeks ago, and to the late Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, who was killed or committed suicide last March 10.

FREEDOM HOUSE PICKS VANDENBERG FOR 1948 AWARD

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, will receive the 1948 Freedom Award for leading "the united American people in the service of a free world," it was announced yesterday.

The awards, given annually by Freedom House, will be presented to Vandenberg at a dinner here Oct. 10.

An inscription on a bronze plaque to go with the award will say: "Above party and ambition, he led a united American people in the service of a free world."

Previous award winners include Walter Lippmann, Sumner Welles, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of State George C. Marshall. A posthumous award was made to Wendell Willkie.

Jap Quake Dead Put at 5570.

TOKYO, July 6 (AP)—Fukui prefectural police estimated today that last week's earthquake took 5570 lives and injured 19,628. Damage was estimated at 48,500,000,000 yen ($179,620,000).

5 Sentenced to Die in Yugoslavia.

BELGRADE, July 6 (UP)—Five persons were sentenced to death by a Ljubljana court yesterday for killing a government employe. They were alleged members of a terroristic organization connected with war criminals.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Forrest Smith Replies

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

My attention has just been called to an editorial about me in the Post-Dispatch of July 1.

In the last paragraph you say, "Mr. Smith, for his part, does not explain why he is receiving financial support from such sources." This is a misstatement of facts in that I have not received, I have not asked for and no financial support has been offered me by Lawrence Callanan of St. Louis or Charles Binaggio of Kansas City. The total amount of donations which I have received up to this time from all of St. Louis City is $150 and that amount was contributed to me by three of my former employes. The total amount of financial assistance which I have received from Kansas City has been $500 and approximately all of this amount has been received from former employes of mine.

I do not believe that you would want to make a statement which is untrue and this is the reason I am writing you giving the true figures of the total amount of financial support which I have received from St. Louis City and Kansas City. I am hoping that you can correct this misstatement in your paper.

Gall in the Milk

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It's absolutely beyond my comprehension how Pevely Dairy could summon enough nerve to run advertisements telling the public how good milk is for them and how saintly they have been in conducting their business, especially after being convicted of conspiring against the public for years.

If that isn't a classic example of naked, bare-faced gall, I'll be a milkman and work for the mob!

A Judge Says It's a Lottery

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Did Mrs. Farber of Manhattan win the $20,000 jackpot by skill or by chance?

Recently a Clayton resident by skillful research in musty music records found the "mystery melody." The Post-Dispatch and other papers published the title in advance. All Mrs. Farber had to do was answer her telephone and say, "Get Out of the Wilderness." This was the little she paid for her chance, yet under the promoter's offer this was enough, even though her consideration was non-monetary and all the skill was supplied by a Missourian.

What she was required to do was the consideration in one individual contract of the scheme. The total consideration was the listening audience that a $20,000 jackpot drew one Sunday night—millions of customer-contacts made up of eligible players, namely, several million telephone subscribers ready to try to complete their contracts, plus additional millions of kibitzers, all of whom were susceptible to sales plugs. This overall consideration is worth more to the promoters than the prizes and the advertising costs combined, or they wouldn't bargain for it.

All the prizes in "Stop the Music" are channelled through chance. The very first step is a drawing to select a telephone. Irving Berlin, blindfolded, picked the telephones one night. To the players this initial step is in itself pure chance. Other chance factors are whether or not the subscriber is home, whether or not the "mystery melody" falls within or without the subscriber's field of skill or knowledge, and whether or not a friend calls just in time to tip the telephone to a busy signal against the jackpot promoter's call. Chance, like June, is "bustin' out all over."

Nobody can dispute the element of prize. The element of chance is obvious and unmistakable. Likewise the element of consideration. These three constitute a lottery. "Stop the Music" is just another radio lottery—in my opinion a brazen defiance of the broadcasting statutes and a clear violation of the true principles of advertising and selling.

Behavior of Gasoline Trucks

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent headline "Gasoline Truck Driver Fatally Burned in Crash. Burning Fuel Spreads and Ignites Two Homes" is not an uncommon one. It is frightening to contemplate this sort of thing happening on the MacArthur Bridge, particularly on one of its long approaches. It is going to happen unless the Department of Safety does some necessary regulating. The number and size of these big tank trucks are increasing. From the speed and the kind of driving one can only think that the drivers are paid by the trip.

A Conflicting Statement

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It looks like Gerald L. K. Smith is blowing off steam again. His assertion in his letter to the Post-Dispatch that he does not set up to be an example of white supremacy is a conflicting statement considering that he is one of the leaders of the "White Supremacy—American First Movement."

One Who Remembers

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I read the letter written by Yancy Cravet in reply to "Hopeful" and it surely was tops.

I well remember those dark days of the depression. I am very fearful now we will have them again, because we poor people did not vote wisely or at all two years ago.

President Roosevelt was the greatest President we ever had, the only one we could call the poor people's friend.

Law of the Jungle

The people breathed a sigh of relief to learn that the power strike was postponed by the gracious permission of Operating Engineers Local 148.

Such a strike would have thrown 500,000 people out of work and otherwise thrown the community into a state of paralysis. For days preceding the postponement, the St. Louis area was on tenterhooks, and its leaders were preparing as if for a siege.

And why? Because a small group of men, comprising the local, have the power to throw the switches over a labor dispute involving a few cents in wages.

The men were advised by their leaders to accept the company's proposal. It was substantially the same proposal that had been accepted by eight other unions with which Union Electric deals. But because of a misunderstanding of the terms and an unwillingness or inability to analyze them, the men revolted against their leaders.

Now we have not a settlement, but only an armistice. Within a week, the community may have to undergo the same kind of crisis again.

Despite the fact that the company was able to make a strong showing of the fairness of its terms, it offered to present the dispute to an impartial board of arbitrators. The union arrogantly refused this offer. It refused it repeatedly.

The situation is reminiscent of one in 1946, when the same union pulled off a five-hour strike because the Union Electric Co. refused to go beyond the terms of its contract to discipline a member of the operating engineers' union.

It is reminiscent of the disgraceful situation in the same year when Pittsburgh became a "stricken city" for a month when a strike was called against the Duquesne Light Co.

The 1946 power strikes caused the Missouri Legislature to enact the King-Thompson law to provide drastic penalties against this kind of threat to health and safety.

It is to be observed that the law worked, in that the operating engineers on this side of the river had no intention of walking out. Therefore, the community would have had the benefit of the Union Electric's steam plants on this side of the river, and of Bagnell Dam.

This strongly suggests that a similar law might be enacted by Iowa and Illinois, where Union Electric's other installations are.

It also suggests federal legislation, if the Taft-Hartley law is inadequate to protect communities from such disasters.

As a result of the Pittsburgh strike, it is to be recalled that the late Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach told the offending union:

> Congress is going to meet again to consider labor legislation, and if the Pittsburgh strike continues much longer, it will be used as an example to convince members of Congress that drastic legislation should be adopted to deprive utility workers of the right to strike, and probably will result in a very strict compulsory arbitration law covering public utilities.

Union Electric or any other utility would not dare close down its plants and lock out its men. Such an action would no doubt cause the utility to lose its franchise.

By the same token—the matter of public interest — the men should not be permitted to paralyze a whole community when the civilized method of arbitration is open.

Little Irony in Panama

Much as orderly elections and political stability are to be desired in Panama, Arnulfo Arias' troubles can hardly be expected to provoke much sympathy in the United States.

Arias, who has had to flee his country and seek refuge on the United States-administered soil of the Canal Zone, is a fierily nationalist, former pro-Axis, gringo-hating demagogue. During the war, when the United States asked permission to build bases for the defense of Panama, Arias as President stalled it off as long as he could.

He forbade United States ships sailing under Panamanian register to arm for their self-defense. When, as a result of these pro-Axis tactics, he was overthrown in 1941, he accused the United States of engineering the coup. Then Secretary of State Hull denied it and supported his denial with documentation. After his expulsion seven years ago, Arias found sanctuary in Argentina, whose neo-Fascist Government he is now also supporting against the United States.

It is one of history's little ironies that this man who still opposes United States bases to defend Panama should run to a United States base for his own defense, and entrust his life to the country which he is trying to teach his fellow-countrymen to hate.

Why Milk Is High

After five days of backing and filling, dairy companies have raised the price of milk in St. Louis 2 cents a quart. A few small companies are holding back for the time being, but their volume is not too important.

As studies of the St. Louis Consumers' Federation show, these prices are out of line as compared with prices in comparably situated cities of similar size. Yet even after a successful anti-trust prosecution by the Department of Justice, competition is not strong enough in the milk business here to insure really competitive prices.

Why? The chief reason is the lack of an adequate supply of fluid milk in the St. Louis milkshed. The dairy companies have to import approximately 15 per cent of their annual fluid milk requirements from the Chicago milkshed, paying for it a net premium of four cents a quart. Although the 4-cent premium is paid on less than a sixth of the milk used in St. Louis, it tends to set the price for the rest.

The remedy, of course, is to increase production of Grade-A milk in the St. Louis area. Two or three times enough milk is produced in the St. Louis area to serve Grade-A needs, but most of it goes into condensed milk, butter and cheese.

At Cabool, a single dairying center in Texas County, less than 200 miles from St. Louis, the Producers Creamery Co., a farm co-operative, converts some 25,000,000 quarts of fluid milk each year into condensed milk. If the milk produced in this one farm community alone were brought onto the Grade-A inspected market, it would go a long way toward freeing St. Louis of costly dependence on the Chicago milkshed.

Cabool is only one example chosen from several which might be cited. The St. Louis Department of Public Welfare and the St. Louis Department of Health—if they would really try—could easily persuade enough dairy farmers to come on the inspected milk market to serve St. Louis' needs.

But they have not done so, and as a result milk consumers in the St. Louis district pay a penalty of $600,000 a year in extra costs to the Chicago milkshed. How much additional they pay in excessive prices due to the lack of enough local milk to make a truly competitive market, no one knows.

St. Louis can hope for lower milk prices when Public Welfare Director Caulfield and Health Commissioner Bredeck have taken the comparatively simple steps necessary to obtain production of an adequate supply of Grade-A milk in St. Louis' own milkshed. Meanwhile, for their failure, St. Louis pays through the nose.

Eisenhower Says It Again

Whether or not the latest Eisenhower statement was issued at the instance of a Truman emissary, as Edward A. Harris of the Post-Dispatch forecast was the White House plan, there is now the fact of still another "No" from the wartime Supreme Commander of the Allies in Europe.

Addressing himself this time to the harassed press officer at Columbia University, who had been swamped with inquiries as the Eisenhower boom mounted last week, the university's new president said that his position was unchanged since last January. Then he wrote to an admiring New Hampshire publisher: "I could not accept nomination under the remote circumstance that it were tendered me."

To that definite letter he now adds an equally positive statement, which concludes with these words:

> I will not, at this time, identify myself with any political party and could not accept nomination for any political office or participate in partisan political contests.

Sufficient though this will be for most citizens, it will not be enough for many political speculators. Many anti-Truman Democrats will read it hopefully for a loophole to encourage them to continue with their Eisenhower draft campaign. Not a few Republicans will be uneasy until the Democratic convention has opened, run its course and closed without nominating the popular military leader.

However the Southern Democrats and the Jake Arveys in the city Democratic organizations react to this blow to their ditch-Truman plans, there should be one definite result. Gen. Eisenhower should now be let alone. He certainly should be put on no more spots for more statements. He has expressed himself with clarity not once but repeatedly. He has fabricated no Coolidgean "I do not choose to run" puzzler, but has said, in much the manner of William Tecumseh Sherman, "I could not accept nomination."

This time, moreover, he makes it clear that he has not yet identified himself with either major party and has no intention of doing so under present circumstances.

Gen. Eisenhower not only chooses not to run, we guess by now he'd like to be allowed to stop having to choose.

Why Discourage Voting?

Missouri is deep in the vacation season with many visitors coming to see us and a lot of Missourians going visiting in other parts of the country. It is a reminder that just a month from now this state will hold the primary in which it nominates candidates for state offices, including Governor, and for seats in Congress. It is a reminder particularly that this important public business will again be undertaken without an absentee voting law of any real value.

The citizen of Missouri who is out of the state on Aug. 3 is in effect prohibited from voting and for no good reason at all. The present provision is that he may vote if he is in some other county within the state. That is good so far as it goes, but it obviously does not go far enough. Not all citizens who are away on business or vacations can vote in advance. The need is for a law to permit absent citizens to write in for ballots and to vote by mail.

Why should Missourians not have an adequate absentee voting law just as the citizens of Illinois and many other states have? The only answer to the question is: They should have such a law. Here is a subject that should be on every Missouri legislator's list in the 1949 session.

Peace Is Possible in Palestine

It is lamentable but hardly surprising that both the Jews and the Arabs have indicated that they will reject the Palestinian settlement proposed by Count Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator.

Inflamed by such agitators as the Grand Mufti, all the Arabs are willing to concede is preferred minority status to the Jews in an Arab Palestine. The Jews, on the other hand, are balking at Bernadotte's plan to turn over Jerusalem to the Arabs.

This goes beyond the United Nations partition plan under which both elements would have had rights in the ancient holy city. Especially since the Bernadotte plan provides for the merging of Arab Palestine and Trans-Jordan, the Jews must feel very strongly that they have been offered the short end of the deal.

It is hard to see how the four-weeks truce can be extended beyond its Friday expiration under these conditions. Since, as George Fielding Eliot points out, the Arabs are not able to push the warfare to a successful conclusion, it might simmer down to an interminable guerrilla contest. Thus, outside intervention becomes more necessary than ever. And that means British and American action through the United Nations.

London still has tremendous influence in the Arab world. And it is time to use it for the sake of peace. Washington, on the other hand, ought to reassert its support of the partition plan accepted at Lake Success under American pressure. Particularly if the Arabs were deprived of the leadership of British officers and access to British supplies, they would likely come to terms.

The Palestinian problem is not insoluble. London and Washington can handle it if they really want to. It would be tragic in view of the world need for British-American co-operation, if this situation were permitted to open a serious gap between them. And, of course, they also owe it to the victims of Palestinian warfare to bring about the peace that really is at their disposal.

It appears that the Kremlin not only took the wrong tack in Yugoslavia, but actually sat on it.

STILL A THREAT TO THE PUBLIC

Our Crippled Moscow Embassy

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Promotion and transfer of two ranking experts leaves our soldier-ambassador "without an immediate adviser well versed in the background and nuances of Soviet policy," says an observer; neither of their successors even has "a working knowledge of Russian."

V. V. in the Christian Science Monitor

The American Embassy in Moscow will be left without a single ranking expert on Russia when Minister Councillor Elbridge Durbrow and First Secretary Frederick Reinhardt leave at the end of this month. Both belong to the group of able and knowledgeable younger men whose careers have mainly alternated between the Eastern European Division in the State Department and various posts in eastern Europe.

Walter Bedell Smith

Mr. Durbrow was one of the charter group which opened the American Embassy in Moscow early in 1934 following the re-establishment of diplomatic relations.

Mr. Reinhardt served extensively in the Baltic States before the war and in Moscow during the war. In October, 1941, when the fall of the Soviet capital to the Germans seemed imminent, he was left in charge of the Embassy in Moscow while the Ambassador and the rest of the staff moved to Kuibyshev along with the Soviet Government.

Like their distinguished colleagues, Charles (Chip) Bohlen and George Kennan, Messrs. Durbrow and Rheinhardt command a fluent Russian, in addition to their close study of the land, its peoples and politics.

Where Knowledge Is Needed

As with all their previous moves, they are moving up, Mr. Durbrow to the War College post previously established for Mr. Kennan, before the latter went on to organize the State Department's policy-forming committee. As head of the Eastern European Division in the State Department, Mr. Rheinhardt will continue very much in the center of Soviet affairs.

Nevertheless, these transfers will impair Ambassador Bedell Smith's working staff in Moscow. At the very time when Soviet-American relations seem on the threshold of important transitions—for better or worse—the Ambassador on the spot is left without an immediate adviser well versed in the background and nuances of Soviet policy.

This observation is not meant as a slight to the officers slated for the vacated posts — Foy Kohler who succeeds Mr. Durbrow, and Brewster Morris who succeeds Mr. Rheinhardt. But apart from personal ability, both are new to Russia and must learn from the ground up.

Neither has a working knowledge of Russian. Mr. Kohler has been in Moscow since last fall as Mr. Durbrow's understudy. But before that he had concerned himself entirely with Middle Eastern affairs. Brewster Morris' closest approach to Russia so far has been assisting Ambassador Murphy in Berlin.

Suited for the Post

Gen. Smith, as he himself will be the first to admit, is no professional diplomat. He is first, last, and foremost a professional soldier who looks upon his present post as a soldiering assignment. He was ordered to Moscow and is obeying orders to remain there. But the job is not to his liking and he longs for its termination and the rest which his service record and the state of his health entitle him to.

Mr. Rheinhardt, who has lived at Spaso House as a member of the Ambassador's family, was ideally suited by background and temperament to serve as Gen. Smith's personal adviser and confidant, to smooth off rough edges and make his life easier, both officially and unofficially.

"Freddie" could unravel the intricacies of the Russian mind, explain the nuances of policy or document, polish the draft of a note, draw up the invitation list for an official function, or arrange the seating at a formal dinner with due regard for protocol, all with equal facility and unerring instinct.

An attractive and eminently eligible bachelor, "Freddie" has been a social asset of inestimable worth. Moreover, in Moscow, as elsewhere, the American colony is largely monoglot and there have been instances when hosts and guests have sat in dismal silence from soup to nuts for want of a common medium. "Freddie," who is at home in all the main European languages, as well as one or two minor ones, has served as a firm guarantee against such embarrassing situations.

Employment Can Be Steady

From the Milwaukee Journal

More than 25 years ago, the Procter & Gamble soap company decided that it could guarantee steady work to all its permanent employes. It had been operating the other way—using extra help in peak periods and resorting to lay-offs in dull periods. In the quarter-century since it made its decision to provide year around work, it has overcome many obstacles. Today it is convinced that 85 per cent of the industry of the country could go on a basis of steady month-in and month-out production and employment.

In a talk before the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, Richard R. Deupree, president of Procter & Gamble, expressed the opinion that adoption of this plan generally over the country would do much to quiet labor unrest, to avert a possible depression, and to stabilize prices.

Using his own company as an example, he showed that, if it were still organized on the old "peak" system, at least $100,000,000 more in capital plant would be needed and a large part of that plant would produce only in peak times. He said that the price of soap would naturally have to be higher.

He pointed out that with the old system the workers were under the strain of not knowing whether they would be working a month hence or would be taking a "vacation" of unknown length. Employment was unstable, buying power was often interrupted.

There is much in what Mr. Deupree says. Stability is our greatest need today—assured stability. Stability has to start somewhere. A good place to start is with employment. If the worker knows that his job will be there tomorrow and next month and next year, an excellent beginning has been made. Such stability should also tend to bring lower price levels.

The Healing of Mental Ills

YOU AND PSYCHIATRY, by Dr. William C. Menninger and Munro Leaf. (Charles L. Scribner's Sons, New York, 168 pgs., $2.50.)

No branch of medical practice is quite so open to abuse as psychiatry. Mental illness must be diagnosed in terms of secondary evidence and in general there is no way of verifying the doctor's verdict by any mechanical means. Tracings made by brain-wave machines do reveal certain abnormal types of brain activity. But for the most part there is no check-up that will prove anything. Certainly there is no instrument that will measure a Narcissus complex. So mistakes are made.

Nevertheless much human suffering has been alleviated by psychiatry and the suspicious layman—stunned by all the fancy terminology—would do well to examine the actual record of achievement in this field of science rather than dwell on the possibilities of error. For quite evidently there are many human disorders that cannot be reached by medicine or surgery.

One of the objects of this book by Menninger and Leaf is to minimize lay suspicion of psychiatry by discussing the subject in simple, common sense language. It should have this effect, I believe, because it does show that psychiatric practice is founded on simple logic and is, in no sense, a kind of magic. It also should help to dispose of the too widely held belief that mental illness is rarely cured and that it is somehow disgraceful. The latter is a superstition and cannot just be talked out of existence. The former, however, should yield immediately to the unqualified statement that the great majority of psychiatric patients always get well.

The book also may perform a needed service in reminding readers that life is a struggle. There is no way of freeing one's self from the resultant stresses of this struggle; nor is it desirable. But the individual can always survive and stay whole if he learns to balance the emotional stresses against the emotional supports and to find satisfaction in doing the things that are possible to him.

Dr. Wm. C. Menninger

In analyzing our nervous set-up, our relationships with other human beings, the composition of the personality and the mechanics of the mind, etc., the authors are dealing with material that will be familiar to many. The untechnical nature of the discussion, however, makes it easy for the least informed reader to get the essential facts and terminology clearly organized in his mind. At least he will not confuse a fear and a phobia. And he should know enough to make sure that any psychiatrist he consults is a member of the union; that is, the American Psychiatric Association.

The Indian Wars

WARPATH AND COUNCIL FIRE, by Stanley Vestal. (Random House, New York, 338 pages, $3.50.)

Many times the Plains Indians were on the warpath in the bloody years from 1851 to 1891 and many times they gathered around the council fires, but it took 40 years of struggle until there was a final decision at the Battle of Wounded Knee. Stanley Vestal, outstanding authority on frontier history, particularly as related to the Indians, and author of numerous books on the subject, has brought together in this volume much material used in them, presenting in a compact way the whole frontier history of the period, the scouts and other great figures who participated in the campaigns and battles. The stories of Custer's Last Stand and the Battle of Wounded Knee are retold with such clarification as is made possible by the author's exhaustive studies.

There is a complete bibliography, an index and numerous reproductions of photographs. Stanley Vestal in private life is Prof. Walter Stanley Campbell of the University of Oklahoma.

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Soaring Shaft of Liberty

JUST a century ago the cornerstone of the Washington Monument was put in place. There are a great many monuments in Washington. Some are ugly, some memorialize forgotten men, some are just plain misplaced and ludicrous. But through a fortunate combination of circumstances the monument to Washington was made to fit the greatness of the man.

In its simplicity, its dignity, its grandeur, that soaring shaft of marble could not be excelled. Even as the Capital has grown and the greedy and the self-seeking have from time to time seemed to take over, it has remained to remind the doubters and the disillusioned of what courage, integrity, character can mean.

Washington

Solid and enduring as the monument is, it has its moods and its moments. I think I like it best in October when the great elms around the Mall have lost their leaves and the light is clear and sharp.

Hundredth Birthday.

You can hardly see it, even though you see it a thousand times, without thinking of the man whom it memorializes. As he was the chief architect of our independence, slavin and toiling and sweating for it, so he should have the chief monument in the city that bears his name.

For this anniversary Chalmers M. Roberts has put together a book of pictures and text, "The Washington Monument, The Story of a National Shrine." It contains a great many interesting facts about the obelisk that dominates the horizon of the capital.

Among the 20,000 persons present on July 4, 1848, when the cornerstone was laid, were six men who were to occupy the White House. One was President Polk and another was ex-President Van Buren. James Buchanan, Secretary of State in the Polk cabinet, was among the dignitaries.

Lincoln Was There.

Abraham Lincoln was present that day, an obscure member of Congress from Illinois. So were two other Congressmen who would eventually move into the White House, Millard Fillmore and Andrew Johnson.

In the competition for a prize-winning design, all sorts of monstrosities were submitted, including a Victorian gimcrack closely resembling, if one may judge from the design, the hideous Albert Memorial in London, Indian pagodas and Italian renaissance towers were among the proposals submitted to the committee that proposed to raise the funds by public subscription.

In the original design for the obelisk, its base was to have been a pantheon containing portraits and mementoes of Revolutionary heroes. Fortunately, the pantheon concept got lost at some point or other and what we have today is the simple obelisk.

Long Delayed.

Public subscription raised the monument to 154 feet by 1854. There it stopped until Congress took over in the midst of the centennial fervor in 1876. Then again zealous architects came forward with new and elaborate ideas. But again the obelisk was preserved.

In December, 1884, the apex was completed, and on Washington's birthday the following year the aluminum capstone was set in place at 550 feet and the monument was dedicated. An oration written by the venerable Robert C. Winthrop, who had been Speaker of the House in 1848, was read.

"The storms of winter," Winthrop had written, "must blow upon it. The action of the elements must soil and discolor it. An earthquake may shake its foundations. Some mighty tornado or resistless cyclone may rend its massive blocks asunder and hurl huge fragments to the ground. But the character which it commemorates and illustrates is secure. It will remain unchanged and unchangeable in all its consummate purity and splendor, and will more and more command the homage of succeeding ages in all regions of the earth."

Modern Complacency.

That brings us down to our time. Representative Herter of Massachusetts likes to tell about an incident that occurred when he was with an UNRRA mission in Yugoslavia in 1946. He was traveling in a jeep with the wife of the Minister of War. She was a fiery Communist who talked at length about the glories of the new Yugoslavia. When Herter had been silent a long time, she suddenly said, "Don't you love your country?"

The startled Herter replied that he did love it very much.

"Then why don't you talk about it?" she demanded.

Most of us take for granted what we have with a complacency that is often downright smugness. That soaring shaft should be a reminder of a day when men struggled and fought and died for the freedoms we enjoy.

U.S. OFFICIAL WARNS OF NEW TEST FOR U.S.

Charles Sawyer Tells Turners American Way of Life Is on Trial.

The American way of life is on trial and Americans cannot hope to preserve the legacy of their forefathers if they are unwilling to fight for their principles and wish to live only a life of luxury, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer told members of the American Turners in an address given at Washington University field house, Sunday.

"Europe is darkened by a shadow which falls across every free institution we possess," Sawyer said. "Alien ways of life, unfriendly to our cherished social, economic and political ideals are making headway. We can be saved for ourselves and for the world only by ourselves. We must keep a clear mind in a sound body."

"Let us not be too sure," he warned, "that sometime, perhaps in the near future, we shall not again be called upon for a supreme effort. For that effort we must be prepared. We must save our strength and not dissipate it in advance. When the next time arrives, we may not be given two or three years to get ready. Other nations may not be there to take the blows of the enemy while we train ourselves for the final onset."

Sawyer spoke at the concluding exercises of the thirty-seventh national festival held by the Turners during a five-day period which ended Sunday. Following his address festival winners were announced and prizes presented.

V. ADMIRAL RUSSELL WILLSON DIES, SERVED IN TWO WARS

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—V. Adm. Russell Willson, former deputy commander in chief of the United States Fleet, died today at Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital. He was 64 years old.

Willson was admitted to the hospital yesterday. He served during both World Wars. In the first war he organized and developed the Navy's code and signal section and was credited with several secret communication inventions.

He was appointed superintendent of the Annapolis Naval Academy in January, 1941, and became deputy commander in chief of the fleet in September, 1942. Placed on the retired list in 1943 for physical disability, Adm. Willson continued on active duty as a member of the joint strategic survey committee of the joint chiefs of staff. He retired in February, 1946.

DR. J. GOODFRIEND, CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL PHYSICIAN, DIES

Dr. James Goodfriend, a full-time physician at St. Louis Children's Hospital and an instructor in pediatrics at Washington University Medical School, died last night of a heart ailment at his home, 88 Arundel place, Clayton.

He was 34 years old. A former Rhodes Scholar, Dr. Goodfriend received his medical degree from Northwestern University. He came here about two years ago. He was a member of the board of the Nursery Foundation of St. Louis.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wohl Goodfriend; three sons, James Goodfriend III, 6 years old; David, 4, and Andrew, 1; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Goodfriend, of Kansas City, and two brothers, William and Robert Goodfriend, also of Kansas City. Funeral services will be private.

A banquet in honor of the Rev. Henry A. Hermans, S. J., a member of the faculty of St. Louis University and its high school since 1915, will be held July 27 at 6:30 p.m. at Hotel Jefferson.

The dinner will celebrate Father Herman's fiftieth anniversary as a member of the Jesuit order. It was reported erroneously in Sunday's Post-Dispatch that the dinner would be held tonight.

Andrews Sisters' Mother Dies.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 6 (UP)—The singing Andrews Sisters—Patti, Laverne and Maxine—today mourned the death of their mother, Mrs. Ollie Andrews, 50 years old. She died of a cerebral hemmorhage.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

NUMEROUS parties for the debutante group highlighted the holiday weekend, and two more events mark today's social calendar. First of the July 4 parties was a breakfast given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Grote, 4 Brentmoor Park, in honor of Miss Carolyn Meyer and Miss Cynthia Berkley. Miss Meyer, daughter of Mrs. Alexander William Morriss, 2 Brentmoor Park, and Edwin R. Meyer, made her debut June 16 at a supper dance at Bellerive Country Club. Miss Berkley, daughter of the Robert McCoy Berkleys, 8 Brentmoor Park, where her debut dance was given Saturday evening, had with her a house guest, Miss Olive Colfelt of Santa Barbara, Calif. Another out-of-town guest at the party was Miss Shirley Pekor of Columbus, Ga., who is visiting Miss Janet Johnston.

An evening Independence Day party was given for Miss Margaret Parker Smith at St. Louis Country Club, where Mr. and Mrs. Francis Linton Gross entertained 10 of the season's buds and their escorts at the annual supper and fireworks party. Miss Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Battle Smith, 7221 Circle drive, Normandy, will make her debut in the autumn.

Two debutantes were honored at an outdoor cocktail supper party given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Wohltman, 536 Overhills drive, University City. Guests of honor were Miss Nancy Turner, daughter of Mrs. Gilbert Charles Turner, and Miss Joanne Hager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stafford Hager.

Mrs. Shelby H. Curlee Jr., 26 Kingsbury place, was hostess today at a luncheon at the University Club in honor of Miss Katherine Soulard Bull, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Bull. Pink and blue flowers decorated the long table at which sat the honor guest and her contemporaries, and at a smaller table, similarly adorned, the hostess entertained Mrs. Palmer C. Clarkson, Mrs. Fred H. Krug and Mrs. Bull.

Mrs. Curlee with her oldest son, Shelby H. IV, will leave Thursday for New York to take a plane July 12 for Stockholm, Sweden. After visiting Norway and Denmark, Mrs. Curlee will go to Paris and will join her son in London for the Olympic games. They will return home about Aug. 20.

Miss Marjorie Copher, daughter of Dr. Glover H. Copher, 5281 Westminster place, will be guest of honor this evening at an informal cocktail supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Baumhoff, 23 Middlesex drive, York Woods, Clayton. About 24 young persons will meet at 7 o'clock for supper, after which there will be dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Baumhoff will entertain Dr. Copher and Mr. and Mrs. Garret F. Meyer at a separate table.

MISS FLORENCE LEONARD

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT H. LEONARD, 127 Jefferson road, Webster Groves, gave a tea June 27 to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Leonard, to John Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, 546 Hollywood place, Webster Groves.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Christian College, Columbia, Mo., where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, and Phi Delta Delta, honorary art society, was graduated last month from Washington University. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Mr. Russell, a veteran of Army service in Europe, is a student at Washington University and plans to do graduate work there next year. His fraternity is Sigma Nu.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Proctor (Jacqueline Niedt) with their two boys, Derrick and Kimberly, have departed for their home in Philadelphia after a visit with Mr. Proctor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Proctor, 6843 Pershing avenue. The younger Proctors were guests at the wedding last Saturday night of Mrs. Proctor's cousin, Miss Patricia Niedt, and John E. McCadden Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony E. Niedt, 14 Princeton place, Mrs. Proctor's parents, and their son, Douglas, will sail from New York on the Queen Mary July 30 for Europe. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Gumbel of New Orleans and will tour England, Ireland, Scotland, France and the Scandinavian countries, returning home Sept. 1.

SEVERAL parties will be given honoring Miss Mary Ann Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Thompson, 434 Taylor avenue, Kirkwood, whose marriage to Nelson Alden Rehnquist will take place Wednesday evening, July 14, at First Presbyterian Church, Kirkwood. The bridal party and immediate families will return afterward to the Thompson home for a reception.

Miss Marilyn Hayes and Miss Peggy Fifer were hostesses last Thursday at a shower at the home of Miss Hayes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hayes, 7720 Club drive, Clayton. Miss Sally Rosenbarger and Miss Helen Jacaty will give the spinster dinner Monday, July 12, at the Jacaty home, 1333 McCutcheon road, Manhasset Village, and Mrs. Kennth C. Baker, aunt of the prospective bridegroom, will give the rehearsal dinner Tuesday evening at her home, 107 Joy avenue, Webster Groves. Mr. Rehnquist is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Rehnquist, 5909 Cates avenue.

* * *

Mrs. Edward A. Limberg, 372 Walton avenue, with her older child, Bruce, leaves today for Santa Barbara, Calif., for a visit with her mother, Mrs. I. Newton Perry of Chicago and Santa Barbara. Mr. Limberg will join them July 18 for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Foster Limberg, in Beverly Hills. They plan to be away a month.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Eberhard Anheuser of Golfinhurst, Sunset Country Club grounds, will depart this week for a tour of the West. After visiting Seattle and San Francisco, they will make their headquarters in Los Angeles while taking short trips to Santa Barbara, La Jolla, and other southern California resort places. They will be gone about six weeks.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Reed, 6822 Pershing avenue, University City, will fly from New York July 18 to London, going from there to Europe for a general tour of the Continent. While abroad they hope to see their daughter, Miss Mary Reed, who is making a museum tour with a group of art students under a scholarship from Pennsylvania Academy of Art. Miss Reed, who sailed from New York June 9, will be in Europe until mid-October, after which she will return to the academy to continue her studies in sculpture. Mr. and Mrs. Reed will return home early in September.

The Reeds' son, Nelson Reed, is spending the summer in Mexico, while another son, William E. Reed, is in Wyoming for a mountain climbing trip with Thomas Wipperman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Wipperman, 1062 Thornby place.

MRS. ROBERT L. BEALL'S FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert L. Beall will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Paschedag-Henke undertaking establishment, 2825 North Grand boulevad. Burial will be in Valhalla Cemetery.

Mrs. Beall, widow of Robert L. Beall, a former executive of the Union Electric Co., of Missouri and a member of its board of directors, died of a heart attack Sunday at her home, 3642 Lafayette avenue.

Surviving are her nieces, Mrs. Addie Belle Myers, Robinson of St. Louis and Mrs. Frances Shepherd, of Louisville, Ky., and two nephews, Walter D. Myers, vice president of the Louisville Electric Co., and Henry L. Myers, of Louisville.

FUNERAL OF LEUKEMIA VICTIM

Private funeral services were held today at St. Roch's Catholic Church for Andrew de Smet Carton, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Carton, 39 Kingsbury place. The child died Sunday at the home from acute leukemia.

The Cartons have three other children, Mary, 9, Michael, 6, and Nicholas, 3 months old.

NORMAN R. D. JONES ELECTED HEAD OF SCIENCE TEACHERS

Norman R. D. Jones, a biology teacher at Southwest High School, has been elected president of the National Science Teachers' Association, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of the organization's directors at Cleveland.

Jones was elected a general vice president of the group in 1946. The National Science Teachers' Association is a department of the National Education Association and is affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, Jones has taught in St. Louis public schools since 1930, and has been at Southwest High School for the last eight years. He was chairman of this year's Greater St. Louis Science Fair, and was personnel director for mobile medical units in the wartime local civilian defense organization. He lives at 5073A Mardel avenue.

KANSAS CITY UNITY SCHOOL OF CHRISTIANITY HEAD DIES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 6 (AP)—Charles Fillmore, 94 years old, president of the Unity School of Christianity, died yesterday at his home after a short illness.

The Unity school was founded here in 1889 by Fillmore and his first wife, Mrs. Myrtle Page Fillmore, who died in 1931. The Unity idea spread all over the world, and the current subscription lists for Unity literature now have 1,000,000 names. More than 5,000,000 pieces of literature a month are published at the printing plant at Unity Farm.

Surviving are his second wife, Mrs. Dora Fillmore and two sons.

CLAIMS MUSEUM PAINTING AS HERS, LOST YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ralph E Niedringhaus Says She Has Picture Showing It in Home

A painting, "Portrait of a Girl," became the subject of a demand notice, served on the Mayor and museum director Friday by Mrs. Ralph E. Niedringhaus, 135 North Hanley road, University City, after she viewed the picture recently, hanging in the City Art Museum.

The picture, she said, is owned by her and was lost about 20 years ago when it was left at an art gallery. The museum bought the painting from the McCaughen & Burr Art Galleries, 1010 Locust street, in 1946.

Mrs. Niedringhaus asked Mayor Kaufmann and Museum Director Perry T. Rathbone to return the painting within 10 days. Assistant City Counser Francis M. Barnes said the picture was bought for $350 from the McCaughen & Burr firm and that it would be turned over to Mrs. Niedringhaus when she displayed proof of ownership. Barnes said the national reputation and integrity of the firm is unquestioned.

C. Burr McCaughen, owner of the gallery, said he was astonished when he learned of the claim. The portrait, he said, has been listed as property of the firm for many years. It is the picture of a young girl seated among her toys and was painted by Manuel de Franca, Portuguese born artist, who was a fashionable painter in the nineteenth century in St. Louis.

Mrs. Niedringhaus said she has a picture showing the painting hanging on the wall of her old family home which was then in the 3700 block of Lindell boulevard.

LUNCHEON FOR EISENHOWER AS CHILDREN CRUSADE HEAD

Invitations have been issued to leaders of St. Louis civic and philanthropic organizations to a luncheon Thursday in New York honoring Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as honorary national chairman of the "Crusade for Children."

Aim of the project, which is sponsored by American Aid-United Nations Appeal for Children, is to obtain $60,000,000 to help feed hungry children in the world.

The luncheon will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, will be the principal speaker.

Women's Clubs Projects

FORTH WORTH, July 6 (AP)—The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs yesterday voted to pay 10 cents per member, effective immediately, in support of the International Federation. The convention also adopted a recommendation for continued support of the China Nursing Fund Project and the equal rights amendment.

Hall appointed Judge John A. Mullen of Providence, R.I., as a member of the grand forum for five years. Other appointments were:

Michael F. Shannon, Los Angeles, Elks national memorial and publication, five years; Charles E. Grakelow, Philadelphia, Elks national foundation, seven years, and Judge John F. Scilepi, Queensboro, N.Y., pardon commission, one year.

WILLIAM F. BRINKMAN FUNERAL TOMORROW

Head of Oil Firm, Pioneer Stoker Manufacturer Succumbs to Cancer.

Funeral services for William F. Brinkman, an oil man and former coal stoker manufacturer here, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the chapel of Chaminade College, near Lindbergh boulevard and Ladue road in St. Louis County, with burial in Old SS. Peter and Paul's cemetery.

Mr. Brinkman, who was 51 years old, died Sunday of cancer at Missouri Baptist Hospital. For about the last five years he had engaged in production of oil as president of the Brinkman Oil & Gas Co. of St. Louis and the Peru (Kan.) Oil & Gas Co.

Previously, he was St. Louis branch manager for the Iron Fireman Corp., and had been a pioneer manufacturer of coal stokers. He lived at 5290 Waterman boulevard, and was a member of the Missouri Athletic Club and the Engineers' Club of St. Louis.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence C. Brinkman; three sisters, Mrs. Victor Pfiffner, Mrs. M. R. Kahle and Miss Katherine Brinkman, and two brothers, J. Jules Brinkman and Albert B. Brinkman, both former State Representatives.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. SAMUEL GREEN

Funeral services for Mrs. Samuel McKnight Green, wife of the former superintendent of the Missouri School for the Blind, 3815 Magnolia avenue, were held today at the Lupton undertaking establishment, 7233 Delmar boulevard, University City, followed by burial in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Green, 87 years old, died Sunday following a paralytic stroke at Arkadelphia, Ark., where she had lived since leaving St. Louis several years ago. The daughter of a Confederate Army major, she was active in patriotic organizations. She served as Missouri regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and regent of the Jefferson chapter of the D.A.R. in St. Louis. She also was a member of the Colonial Dames and Daughters of the American Colonists.

Mrs. Green's husband died in 1941, after serving 44 years as head of the Missouri School for the Blind.

MISS LILLIAN J. SHAUGHNESSY FUNERAL IN UNIVERSITY CITY

The funeral of Miss Lillian J. Shaughnessy, retired school teacher, was held today at All Saints Catholic Church in University City, with burial in Calvary Cemetery. She died Sunday of diabetes at St. Vincent's Sanitarium, where she had resided for a number of years.

Miss Shaughnessy, who was 74 years old, became a teacher in the St. Louis public school system in 1892. After serving for seven years at the Mullanphy School she was transferred to the O'Fallon School, where she taught until 1937, when she took a leave of absence because of her health. She retired in 1944.

She was the last of five sisters, all of whom were school teachers. A niece, Miss Margaret Fairchild, flew here from Monterrey, Mexico, to attend the funeral.

HARMONICA PLAYER LARRY ADLER IS MUSICIAN AT LAST

Union Finally Concedes That He Is Not Playing on a 'Toy.'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6 (UP)—The Musician's union has recognized a harmonica player, Larry Adler, as a musician.

Although Adler has played with symphony orchestras and appeared as a concert artist for years, the union had said he was not a musician because he played a toy, not a musical instrument.

Adler appeared before an examining board of Local 6. Acting President Walter Weber told him to play a chord in F sharp. "Can't do it," Adler said.

"Play it in E flat, then," said Weber. "I can't do that, either," Adler replied. "But I can do this . . ."

"I'll match that against Petrillo's trumpet playing anytime," said Weber. Adler passed and became a musician.

'PRINCE' MIKE ROMANOFF WEDS; HONEYMOON LATER

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 6 (AP)—"Prince" Mike Romanoff, favorite caterer to many Hollywood celebrities, mixed business with pleasure today.

He was back greeting visitors to his Beverly Hills restaurant and accepting congratulations on his marriage to Gloria Lister, 22 years old, at Las Vegas Sunday night.

Romanoff, born Harry F. Gerguson in Cincinnati, said a honeymoon trip would come later. It was the first marriage for each. They eloped by plane and were wed by Justice of the Peace Harvey McDonald.

NEW POLICE ACADEMY CLASS

A new class of 64 men at the police academy was sworn in yesterday by Ben L. Liberman, a member of the Board of Police Commissioners. Those who complete an eight-week training course satisfactorily will become probationary patrolmen.

A class of 73 men was graduated last June 26. When the new class graduates, the police department will have about 1860 men. Authorized strength is 1916.

SHOW AT SCOTT AIR BASE

"Cross Our Hearts," a musical comedy, produced and staged by members of the Chanute Air Force Base, Chanute, Ill., will open a five-night engagement at Scott Air Force Base, beginning tomorrow.

The show is being presented at most of the training command's bases, and the proceeds will be donated to the Air Forces Aid Society.

Saint Louis' Mortuary of Distinction
It Isn't the Time To Talk Business
When you are under stress of emotion, due to sorrow and the tragedy of losing a loved one, you certainly are not in a normal frame of mind to discuss business. Your good judgment is impaired, and you probably will give consent to an agreement that you would not sanction under ordinary circumstances. That's why many foresighted persons arrange funerals in the modern and intelligent manner by investigating the
ROBERT J. AMBRUSTER PRE-ARRANGED FUNERAL PLAN
It's a plan built on services for which the Robert J. Ambruster Mortuary is distinguished . . . one which includes every detail at one all-inclusive price. It's a wise investment of your time to look into this avenue of protection for your family in their hour of distress. Ask about it, we'll explain it without obligation. FIRM'S TRUCK STOLEN TO CART AWAY ITS SAFE WITH $600

A 400-pound safe and a company truck to haul it away were stolen from the Grand Laundry & Cleaning Co., 3028 Lawton avenue, some time during the weekend, it was reported to police yesterday by Fred Russard, superintendent.

Theft of the safe, which contained between $600 and $700, was not discovered until yesterday. A mechanic, Louis White, said the truck was stolen Sunday from a garage in the rear of the laundry.

Police said entry to the building had been made through several open windows which were being repaired.

BURGLARS CUT HOLE IN FLOOR, GET $3130 CASH

Intruders Loot 2d-Story Store, Then Force Way Into Carl's Cocktail Lounge.

Approximately $3130 was taken early yesterday in the combined burglary of Carl's Cocktail Lounge, and the Jacob Mange & Son children's clothing store, located on the floor above the lounge. Of the amount, $3000 was taken from Carl's.

The burglars apparently entered the building by climbing a ladder, chained to the rear of the Park Drug Co., 711 Washington avenue, and over an iron beam to the Mange company fire escape. They pried open a window and then cut a hole in the floor in order to drop eight feet to the balcony in the cocktail lounge. In the Mange store, Charles Steiner, the manager, told police, the burglars knocked the combination off the safe and took $130 from it.

A safe and a filing cabinet in the basement of the lounge had been battered open with a sledge hammer. Also taken from the lounge safe were two wrist watches, valued at $1100, and indorsed payroll checks amounting to $3100.

Police said the burglary was not done by amateurs as no burglar alarm was set off during the time they were there. The robbery was discovered by Charles Love, 5520 Maxwell avenue, Affton, a chef, who reported for work at 6 a.m.

MUSEUM HEAD FOUND HANGED, BOOK ABOUT HANGING NEARBY

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 6 (AP)—After apparently reading a book titled "The Man Who Wouldn't Hang," John H. Bailey, 39 years old, director of the Davenport Public Museum, hanged himself, Coroner Frank Keppy reported today.

The coroner said Bailey was wearing a rubber swimming cap and a gas mask when the body was found in the museum about midnight last night. A hangman's knot was used, Keppy added, and not far from the body was the book which also contained several news clippings about hanging.

Keppy said the death was a suicide and no inquest would be held.

Bailey recently underwent a serious operation.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Sleep Walker.

BOSTON — Paul Lawless, 26, went sleep walking right up to his armpits in a chimney. Summoned by neighbors, police found him wedged in the flue. They quoted him as saying he was sleeping on the roof of his home and did not wake up until he toppled in the chimney. Lawless's plight was discovered by a neighbor who heard bricks falling. City hospital attaches said he apparently suffered no injuries.

Hot Stuff.

SALT LAKE CITY — The door leading to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, destroyed by a fire, originally bore the legend, "members only."

Firemen battling the blaze smashed the door with axes, and clipped of one letter of the sign. Now it reads:

"Embers only."

Have You Heard This One?

NEW YORK—The 4900-acre airport below looked a trifle large to Alfred Stranieri of Worcester, Mass., but he landed his light plane there anyway.

"Is this Columbia Field, Valley Stream?" he asked John Smith, operations supervisor.

Stranieri, embarrassed, said he'd made a mistake. He was looking for Columbia airport, a three-acre field on Long Island.

4 SAVED AFTER LEAP FROM DISABLED BOAT

River Current Draws Cabin Cruiser Under Bows of Cutters and Barges.

Four persons narrowly escaped drowning yesterday afternoon when their disabled inboard cabin cruiser was swept under the bows of Coast Guard cutters and barges in the Mississippi river at the foot of Iron street.

The 18-foot cruiser, the Dorothy Lee, was drifting in the powerful current after its engine failed. The occupants were paddling in an effort to reach the Nagel Avenue Yacht Club, downstream from the Coast Guard Depot.

The occupants of the cruiser, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sturm, 2338 Arkansas avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Reyburn Young of Valley Park. As the cruiser was swept against the cutters, Mrs. Young grabbed a barge cable and hung onto it until rescued. The Sturms and Young jumped into the river and were swept along the sides of the larger boats for several hundred feet until pulled from the water by the Coast Guard men.

"It was a very narrow escape," said Sturm, a piano technician, "and we are just getting over the shock of it today. None of us required hospitalization but we were badly shaken up by the experience."

The cruiser, he explained, was drawn by the strong current under the bows of the cutters and barges and its cabin was tilted as it bounced against the bows of the big boats.

"The cabin of our boat was taking water fast," Sturm added, "and I saw that we could not stay aboard her. Mrs. Young grabbed the cable and hung on. I saw that Young and my wife got into the water and then jumped in myself."

The cruiser disengaged itself and received only minor damages. Coast Guardsmen from the cutters, Poplar and Foxglove, pulled Young and the Sturms from the water and put a line on the disabled cruiser. The Coast Guardsmen had been stationed at Iron street because of the large holiday crowd on the river and the possibility of mishaps.

EX-GOV. EDISON SAYS HE WILL BACK DEWEY

He Is Former Democratic Executive of New Jersey and Navy Aid Under F.D.R.

WEST ORANGE N. J., July 6 (AP) — Charles Edison, former Democratic Governor of New Jersey and former Secretary of the Navy under Franklin D. Roosevelt, announced yesterday he would vote for Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for President.

The former Republican, who entered the Roosevelt administration during the late President's first term and soon became a voting Democrat, said in a statement:

"Our governmental house is choked with litter and rubbish. It needs a thorough housecleaning from top to bottom. Changing one man won't do the trick. We must have a complete change of management."

The son of the inventor, Thomas Alva Edison, continued:

"The two-party system was evolved to accomplish just that. Now is the time to put it into operation. There are no streams and no horses to worry us now. There will never be a better time to change. For the welfare of the nation I intend to vote for Dewey."

Edison served as Governor from 1941-44. Almost immediately on taking office he broke with the then Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, state Democratic leader.

"Frank Hague's political double-cross of the President of the United States again points up the domination of the Democratic party by the worst political elements of our country."

WINDOWS BROKEN IN SCHOOL

Twenty-four panes of glass in windows in the Bryan Mullanphy School, 4221 Shaw boulevard, were broken by vandals over the week-end, Rudolph Kuehler, custodian, reported to police yesterday. Stones apparently had been thrown at the windows.

Business Outlook

Street were moderately bullish. They figured U. S. Steel, now around 80, would rise to 91 and then drop back to 83. General Motors, now around 64, would go up to 71 then slip to 67.

Interest rates, both short and long term are expected to rise; the cost of living, now at 171 is put at 162 by the end of 1949; prices received by farmers are expected to drop from 289 to 258. But wholesale prices in general are hardly expected to decline at all. The inference is that industrial prices will hold firm or continue to rise.

A federal deficit is predicted for the end of 1949, notwithstanding the oft-mentioned Washington housecleaning if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is elected president. Explanation: Increased national defense expenditures will offset savings. No letup in the rise in consumer credit is anticipated, and U. S. exports, propped by ECA funds, are not figured to change. But residential building is expected to be down 32%. Assumption: Home-buyers are being priced out of the market and the more urgent demand is being or has has been satisfied.

KAISER-FRAZER ANNOUNCE PRICE RISE OF $23 TO $169

DETROIT, July 6 (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. today announced price increases ranging from $23 to $169 on its Kaiser and Frazer automobiles.

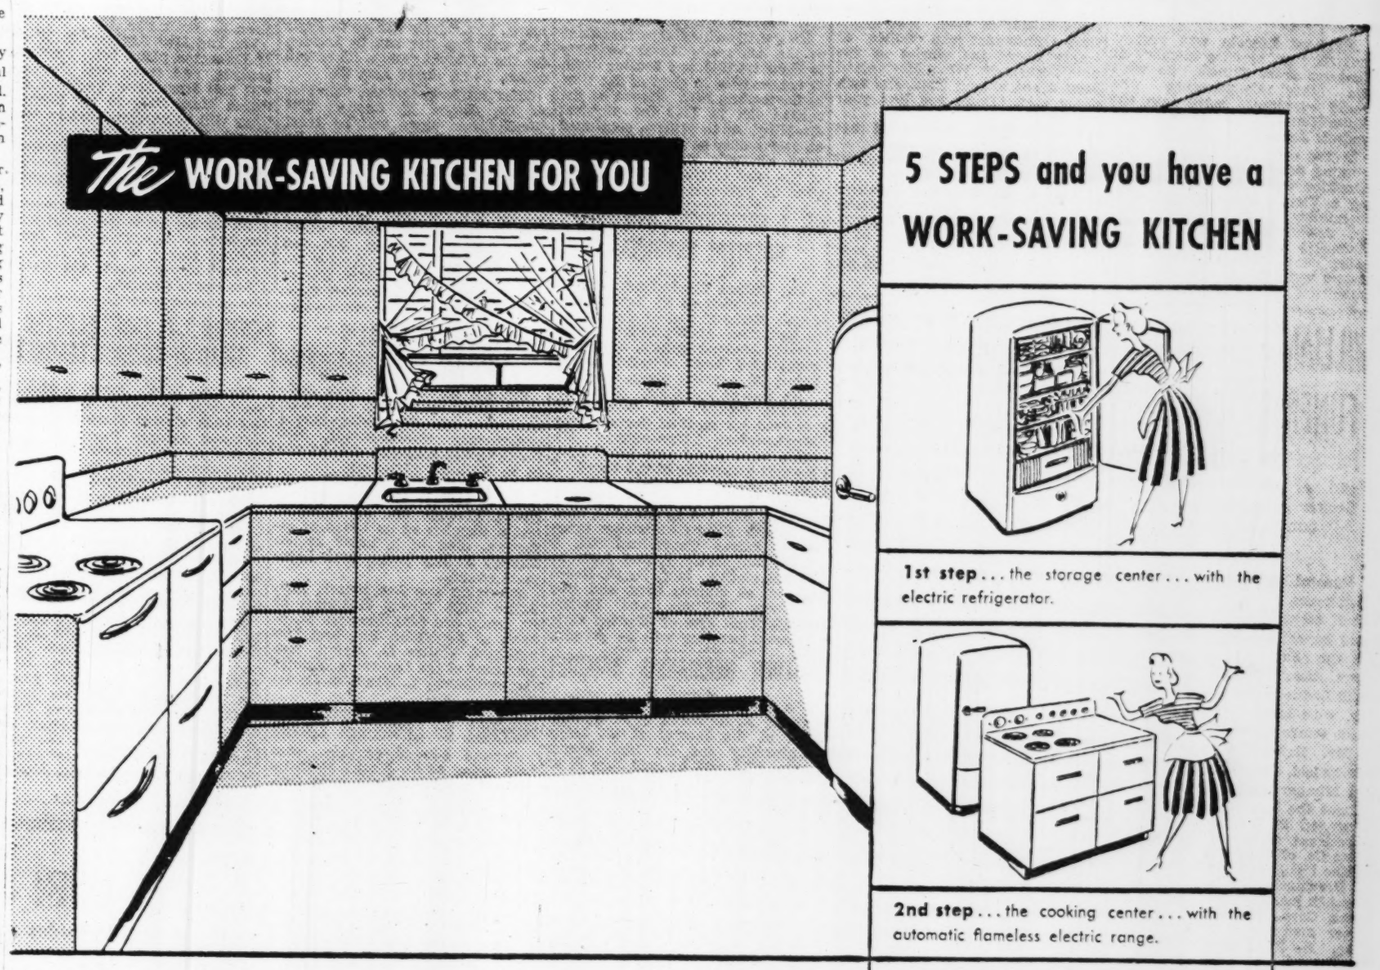

The new factory list prices are: Kaiser, $2091, up $124; Frazer, $2,321, up $169, and Frazer Manhattan, $2573, up $23. The Kaiser custom model price remains unchanged at $2301.

The increase, the first for 11 months, was attributed to higher costs of materials, plus a new wage agreement.

Two Women Seriously Injured in Crash in City —Police Car, Another Vehicle Collide.

Twenty persons were injured, two seriously, in automobile accidents in the St. Louis area over the holiday.

Mrs. Hilda E. Jackson and her daughter, Mrs. Francis R. Robinson were seriously injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another at Magnolia and Louisiana avenues. Mrs. Jackson suffered a fractured right shoulder and Mrs. Robinson, a fractured left leg.

The machine was being driven south on Louisiana by Mrs. Jackson's husband, James P. Jackson, who was uninjured. The other machine, eastbound on Magnolia, was driven by Theodore A. Belleville, 1830 Lafayette avenue, who also escaped injury. The Jacksons and Mrs. Robinson live at 3401 Hartford street.

A policeman and two other persons suffered slight injuries in a collision between a police car and another automobile at Southwest and Marconi avenues yesterday. They are Patrolman Clifford Fleming, 4922 Murdoch avenue, who was a passenger in the police car; Sam Chetta, 5710 Columbia avenue, driver of the other machine, and Chetta's 14-year-old son, James, who was with him. Cpl. Bernard LaRose, driver of the police car, was uninjured.

3 Hurt When Auto Upsets.

Three Negroes suffered minor injuries early yesterday when the machine in which they were riding overturned on the Express Highway near Taylor avenue.

They are Arthur Jefefrson, 1740 Division street, driver of the automobile; Alonzo Miles, 1319 Biddle street, and Louis Johnson, 1725 Lovejoy lane. They were treated at Homer G. Phillips Hospital and sent home.

Three persons were slightly injured yesterday when their automobile plunged into a ditch on Illinois Route 159 five miles south of Belleville. They are Mrs. Velma Presswood, 4022 Grove avenue; Charles Brown, 228 South Main street, Wood River, and Monte Keaton, 420 Third street, Wood River.

Nine persons were injured in two separate automobile accidents Sunday on U. S. Highway 61 near Arnold, Mo., the Missouri State Highway Patrol reported.

In the first of these accidents, four St. Louisans were injured when the machine in which they were riding, being driven by John J. Beausang Jr., 1813 South Ninth street, skidded on wet pavement and crashed against a truck. Those injured, none seriously, were Beausang and his wife, Bernice; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Holobradek, 1831A South Tenth street, and August Arthofer, of the Sauth Tenth street address.

The Beausangs's 5-year-old son, John, was uninjured as was the driver of the truck, Fred E. Baisch of DeSoto, Mo.

Five persons were slightly injured in the second accident near Arnold, which occurred when an automobile being driven south by Horace E. Rombach, 5022 Elinore street, collided with the northbound machine driven by Billy Joe Lee of Avilla, Mo.

Lee, who told patrolmen that something went wrong with his steering apparatus and he lost control of the machine, which swerved into the path of the other automobile, suffered cuts and bruises as did Myrtle L. Bellstarcher of Carthage, Mo., who was riding with him.

Rombach suffered cuts of the face and his wife, Marcine, and Mrs. Rosemary Lyons, 5022A Elinore street, another passenger in Rombach's machine, were slightly injured.

St. Louis Boy, 12, Killed in Auto-Train Crash on West Coast.

A 12-year-old St. Louis boy and his aunt and uncle, with whom he was visiting in California, were killed late yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a train at a crossing near San Francisco, relatives here were notified today.

Those killed were Jerry Scheetz, son of Mrs. Orville Ludwig, 4444 Lexington avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buzbee of San Francisco. The Buzbees formerly lived at 1814 North Twenty-third street, St. Louis, but have resided in California for two years.

The bodies of all three will be returned to St. Louis for burial.

THREE WHO ADMIT SLUGGING AND ROBBING WATCHMAN HELD

Three young Negroes were held by police today after they admitted sulgging Paul Holland, a night watchman, and robbing him of $10 early Sunday.

Holland, who lives at the St. Francis Hotel, 604 Chestnut street, said he was walking in the 1400 block of North Thirteenth street when he was accosted by the three youths. Police, who found Holland lying on the street, arrested the three several blocks away.

They gave their names as Henry Henderson, 19 years old, living in the 1300 block of North Fifteenth street; and Edward Kennedy, 17, living in the 1200 block of North Eleventh street. The third youth, 15 years old, was turned over to juvenile authorities. Holland was treated at City hospital for head injuries.

Groundskeepers Help Cardinals Keep Heads Above Water in N.L. Race

Staley Shines in Relief On Rainy Afternoon; Musial Keeps Going

By Bob Broeg

A standing-room-only crowd of 30,534 crammed Sportsman's Park yesterday for the occasion. It was Unsung Heroes' day, though the event wasn't publicized, and the men of the hour—of six long hours, that is—were Bill Stocksick's ground crew and Eddie Dyer's clean-up pitcher.

Through tense moments when both games hung in the balance, the unidentified workmen of Groundkeeper Stocksick and an almost equally unknown member of Manager Dyer's staff toiled so effectively that the Cardinals won a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 3 and 5 to 2. The second gafe was called because of darkness, rain, wet grounds and general exhaustion after five and one-half innings.

By their spirited devotion to duty, the groundskeepers made the twinbill possible, putting on an taking off a heavy tarpaulin more often than milady trying to pick out a new hat. And then Gerald Lee Staley, 25-year-old righthanded reliefer of the Redbirds, saved both games and was credited with the two victories, his first and second of the season.

There Was That Exchequer.

There was more than a gulp or two in the Office of the Exchequer as rain, falling heavily at 1:15 o'clock, threatened to create a postponement and a run for refunds. But Mr. Stocksick's gallant crew—the young and the old and the middle-aged—hurried those two huge strips of ancient canvas into place and weather-stripped the vulnerable home-plate area. An hour and 37 minutes late the first game began, but the huffing keepers of the soil weren't through.

Rain fell again with Marty Marion, batting in the home half of the fourth inning, causing a 16-minute halt, and once more the Stocksick dragoons rode their charley-horses and aching dogs up the left field line. The water-logged cover was heavier and harder to handle now, but the ground force worked so fast that they had half the infield protected before Plate Umpire Jocko Conlan could signal that he wanted to let nature take its course.

The game went on again, for even the elements seemed to bow before stiff competition, and Staley, the other Unsung Hero, didn't make his appearance until the eighth inning.

By then lefthanded Johnny Schmitz and the Cubs held a 3-2 lead, for, after Murry Dickson singled home two St. Louis runs in the second inning, Chicago bunched three hits and a walk for two tallies in the fourth and then took a lead in the seventh, an inning in which four hits produced only one run because Ralph Lapointe started a quick double play in between.

Here Comes Stan the Man.

Staley, of the big shoulders and little reputation, set the Cubs down in the eighth, but the last-place team still seemed headed for its fourth straight victory over the penant contender. Then Marion beat out a high-bounding infield hit to third and Stan (The Wonder Man) Musial singled him to third and the excitement was great.

Next, George Kurowski hit a high fly to short right field, where Capt. Phil Cavarretta of the visitors committed an important error of omission, misjudging the ball for a run-scoring single. One run scored on the tainted hit and, after Enos Slaughter sacrificed Musial and Kurowski into scoring position, Manager Charley Grimm ordered Erv Dusak passed intentionally. Then he called upon righthander Jess Dobernic to pitch to Nippy Jones.

But it wasn't Jones the Chicago relief pitcher faced. Round Ron Northey, the stellar pinch-hitter, waddled off the bench and lined a two-run single off Second Baseman Henry Schenz's glove. And then Del Rice added an extra run with an outfield fly.

The four-run uprising, a rare recurrence of the Cardinals' old-time come-from-behind tradition, put things up to Staley in the ninth. Jerry set the Cubs down in order, went to the clubhouse to change his wet uniform "14" for a dry one and then reported back to the bullpen.

The abbreviated second game, did not begin until 6:07 and was played in a steady drizzle. Mr. Stocksick's grounds men had had enough, Plate Umpire Bill Stewart decided, but Manager Dyer had other plans for Staley.

What No Wrigley Field.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the first and another in the third off slender righthander Ralph Hamner, who, like Schmitz, couldn't bring Wrigley Field along with him. But in the fourth Dyer figured that only circus catches would hold up starter Jim Hearn, for, after Musial made a hard run to his right and a diving grab of Andy Pafko's low line drive, Bill Nicholson whacked his ninth home run far over the pavilion roof and Peanuts Lowrey rapped a hard single to right.

Shaky at first and getting out of the fourth only because Musial pulled down Al Walker's drive at the right-center fence and Lapointe speared pinch-hitter Cavarretta's sharp liner, Staley then allowed only one infield single the next two innings. And two more St. Louis runs merely convinced Umpire Stewart everyone needed his eyesight and dinner.

So at 7:31 the Cardinals returned to second place, only two games off the lead. Staley went to a well-deserved shower, this one without clothes, and the groundkeepers went back to work.

Redbird Notes.

George (3-7) Munger and Russ (8-6) Meyer, righthanders of far different success this season, probably will be the opposing pitchers in the final game of the series tonight at 8:45. The Cardinals made no provisions for a day contest in the event of a power strike.

George Kurowski was struck on the left elbow by one of Hamner's pitches in the first inning of the nightcap and was forced out with a painful injury.

Musial, raising his runs batted in total to 60 and his batting average to .410, played two outfield positions and an inning at first base in the doubleheader. Maybe the guy will win a regular job one of these days.

Dyer grinned after he successfully flouted the baseball book in the fourth inning of the first game, moving a runner into scoring position with an intentional pass. Men were on first and third, two down, when Dyer ordered a walk given to pinch-hitter Nicholson, filling the bases. Schmitz, the next batter, flied out.

Big Bill Baker, in his first appearance with the Cardinals here, singled once in three times at bat.

With 69 of their 154 games played through the holiday doubleheader, the Cardinals have drawn 1,199,562, a home-and-away total of 75,000 ahead of last year's record attendance.

Dreisewerd Sold by Browns to the Giants

Clem Dreisewerd, lefthand pitcher who has seen little service with the Browns this season, was sold to New York Giants for the waiver price it was announced by the St. Louis club today.

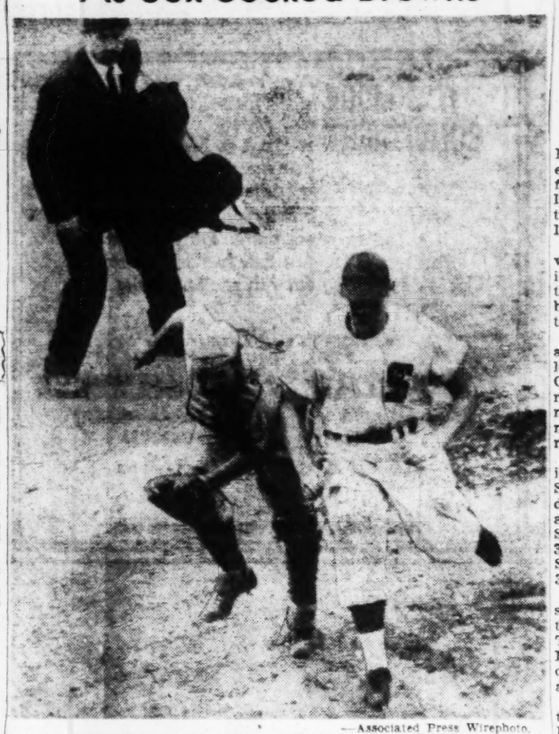

Dreisewerd was a player of "bonus" category which prevented the Browns from sending him to one of their farm clubs. He obtained his bonus stature when a major league club, in sending him back to the minors some years ago, undertook to pay part of his salary, above the fixed minor league figure.

Bob Carpenter Admits He Pulled Boner in Voting for Bonus Rule: 'It Hurts Players, Club, Fans'

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies who have spent approximately $165,000 for five bonus players within the past year, today said he was opposed to the intricate bonus rule.

Carpenter, 31-year-old owner who has been running the Phils' front office practically single-handed since the death last winter of Herb Pennock, his general manager, said he would openly oppose the rule when it comes up for discussion in St. Louis next Monday, the day before the annual All-Star game.

"No one in baseball seems to recognize the fact that young ball players have any right," said Carpenter. "The minute a bonus player gets into baseball he's penalized. In other words, a prospect with unusual ability is given a bonus to sign. Immediately he is handicapped. Under the present rule he is denied normal minor league development and teaching."

"I was one of those who voted for the bonus rule but I'm willing to admit my mistake. Herb (Pennock) was opposed to it and I should have listened to him."

What a Bonus Man Is.

A major league bonus player is one whose first-year salary and bonus exceeds $6000. As such he must be brought up to majors during his first season or be subject to unrestricted draft. Once a bonus player reaches the majors he cannot be farmed out unless waivers, which cannot be recalled, are asked. And if a bonus player is sold down to the minors, the major league club which originally sign him can regain his services only by draft.

"It's a good thing the bonus rule wasn't in effect sooner," said Carpenter, who has spent $3,000,000 since taking over the Phillies in 1944. "If it were we wouldn't have had a ball club today.

"We wouldn't have fellows like Richie Ashburn, Ralph Caballero and Granny Hamner. They got their necessary experience in the minors, something a bonus player cannot do today.

"Since the bonus rule has been in effect there's been more money paid out to kids in one year than in the entire history of the game. No matter how good Pitchers Curt Simmons and Robin Roberts turn out just think how much better they might have been with more minor league experience."

Fans Get Hurt, Too.

"The rule not only hurts the player and his club but the fans, and the fans are the backbone of baseball."

Simmons, 19-year-old southpaw from Egypt, Pa., received a $60,000 bonus for signing right out of high school last year. His only organized ball expetience was two months at Wilmington, Del., the Phils' Class B Interstate League farm club.

Roberts, 21, former Michigan State College star, got $25,000 for signing and this spring won nine out of 10 decisions at Wilmington. After losing a five-hitter in his first start with the Phils the cool curve-baller won his next three starts. Another bonus pitcher with the Phils is Charley Bicknell, 19, who received a reported $15,000 for signing. Two other bonus players are now with Wilmington.

They are Pitcher Hugh Radcliffe, 18, who is reported to have received $40,000 for signing, and Stan Hollmig, 22, former Texas A. & M. athlete, who inked a contract for $25,000. Both must be brought up to the Phillies either before the end of the season or before the minor league draft period. Hollmig, an outfielder, broke in with Wilmington with a home run and a triple.

Big Offers for Young Stars.

"If it hadn't been for the bonus rule," added Carpenter, "we would have had Roberts with the Phillies this spring. If he didn't make good then we could have optioned him out under the former rule."

In the spring Manager Bucky Harris of the world champion New York Yankees said he was willing to give $100,000 for Roberts. As to Simmons, one club is reported to have offered the Phils $150,000 for the big southpaw.

"Most of the clubs in baseball bid for the three bonus players we have with the Phils and the two at Wilmington, said Carpenter. "Does that show a mistake on our part because we outbid other clubs?

"The way things stand now you can't buy a Stan Musial or his likes for a half million dollars. That's what the bonus rule has done. It most certainly hasn't helped the fans to see the finished ball player they are entitled to see. If we're going to be big league, let's be big league."

If Old Baseball Axiom Holds True It Will Be Indians and Braves in the World Series

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves will meet in the world series next October if the old baseball axiom—"the team in first place on July 4 wins the pennant"—holds true this year.

The end of the holiday activities finds the Indians still pacing the American League by one full game and the Braves on top in the National by two.

In the American League's 47-year history, the team in first place Independence day won the pennant 30 seasons against 17 winners who had not led on July 4. That is a .638 percentage.

The July 4 first-placers have fared even better in the National as 31 went on to win the flag against the 16 who didn't. That represents a .650 percentage.

Nearly two thirds of the teams which led on July 4 became the eventual pennant winners.

The Indians were held even in their doubleheader with the Tigers in Cleveland yesterday, but lost no ground to their closest pursuers as the second-place Philadelphia Athletics also split a twin bill and the third-place New York Yankees were handed a rousing double dousing by the Red Sox in Boston.

The Indians wone the opener, 6-8, for Bobby Lemon's twelfth triumph. The Tigers took a 7-5 victory in the nightcap.

A bright spot for Cleveland was Ken Keltner's two home runs which put him on top in that department again with 19.

Held to six hits and defeated 3-1 by Mickey Haefner and the Senators in Washihgton, the Athletics bounced back in the second game, mauling five Washington pitchers for 14 hits and a 12-5 triumph. The split left the Mackmen one game behind the Tribe.

Bobby Doerr clouted three home runs, two in the second game, as the Red Sox topped the Yankees twice, 6-5 and 8-7. The Yankees appeared en route to a split, holding a 7-5 edge in the eighth inning, but Doerr's third home run with Ted Williams on b se tied the count. A single by Matt Batts, a sacrifice, and Dom DiMaggio's single broke up the game in the ninth.

Jack Kramer had easy sailing in the opener until the last two innings. Ahead 6-0, he allowed two runs in the eighth. Then, with two out in the ninth, the Yankees scored three times on Johnny Lindell's homer with one on and three singles.

After losing a heart-breaking 6-5 decision in 13 innings, the Braves bounced back to whip the Giants, 4-1. However, they lost a full game to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ralph Kiner belted three home runs in the first game for the Pirates. The Bucs split with Cincinnati, winning the first 10-3, and losing the second, 6-4. Kiner batted in five runs. It was the third time Kiner has hit three homers in one game. Johnny Mize of the Giants holds the record, five. Lou Gehrig, Yankee immortal, was the only other batter to own three.

Rex Barney pitched the second complete game of his big league career as the Brooklyn Dodgers jolted the Phillies in both ends of a Philadelphia doubleheader, 4-3 and 10-1.

Dyrgall Is Winner in 15-Kilometer Event

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 6 (AP)—Vic Dyrgall of St. Albans, N. Y., running under Millrose A.A. colors, yesterday won the National A.A.U. championship 15-kilometer race held here annually.

Dyrgall's time was 51m. 6s—55 seconds more than the record set in 1944 by Clayton Farrar of New York.

Ted Vogel of the Boston A.A. was second in 53m. 19s and Johnny Kelly of Acton was third in 55m. 1s.

Dyrgall finished fourth in the 10,000 meter Olympic tryouts at Milwaukee Saturday. The first three Milwaukee finishers were picked for the U. S. team.

Gardner Spooner, 58-year-old resident of New Bedford, whose application was turned down by the committee because of his age, ran numberless and finished forty first in 80m. 30s.

Forty five runners finished out of a starting field of 56.

Dade Arrives Thursday.

Harold Dade, Chicago fighter will not report until Thursday for his 10-round feature match with Charley Riley, St. Louis featherweight contender, on Promoter Hans Bernstein's boxing card next Monday night at Kiel Auditorium.

In the other bouts, Pat Iacobucci, Cincinnati and Pat Murphy, Racine, Wis., featherweights, go eight rounds; Charley Baxter, Cincinnati, and Jesse Turner, St. Louis, welterweights, six rounds; Virgil Akins, St. Louis, and Tiger Weems, Chicago, lightweights, six rounds, and Shady Coonce, Houston, and Lou Moeckel, St. Louis, lightweights, four rounds.

Two Cardinals Top Voting for All-Star Berths

Latest tabulation in the nation-wide poll of fans gave the Chicago infielder 976,592 votes, 24,230 more than Frankie Gustine of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bob Elliott of Boston in third with 940,106.

Heavy returns from the Chicago area helped Pafko increase his lead. The poll, conducted by the Chicago Tribune and 452 affiliated newspapers, radio stations and magazines, ended at midnight last night. Final returns will be announced tomorrow.

Ed Stanky of the Braves also increased his lead over Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals in the battle for the National League starting second-base job. Stanky polled 1,039,824 of the total 3,921,485 votes tabulated to date. Schoendienst has collected 1,016,302.

The American League appeared set on its starting lineup except the catching position where Birdie Tebbetts of Boston, and Buddy Rosar of Philadelphia are in a close duel. Tebbetts has 999,146, and Rosar, 981,024.

In addition to the second- and third-base races, the National League awaited late returns to decide starters at shortstop, right field and at the catching position.

Holiday Crowds

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — Eight major league baseball doubleheaders vied with the race tracks for drawing holiday sports fans yesterday and it was almost a tie.

The baseball games attracted 269,924, paced by the 59,042 turnout at Cleveland which swelled that club's attendance for the year to over the million mark.

Both crowd totals fell below last year's figures. On July 4, 1947, the baseball twin-bills attracted 283,736. Thirteen race tracks last year drew 309,494. But mutuel handle was comparable — $14,339,158 this year to $14,624,826 in 1947.

Jeppson Scores Eight Goals as Swedes Triumph

WORCESTER, Mass., July 6 (AP)—With Hans Jeppson, center forward, scoring eight goals, the championship Djurgarden soccer team of Sweden trounced the New England All-Stars, 10-3 yesterday at Worcester Tech field before a 6000 crowd.

Jeppson pulled the double "hat trick"—scoring three goals successively in each half. He added two more for good measure in the last half.

The All-Stars held the Swedish booters to a 3-2 score in the first half. But in the second canto the visitors ran away with the game, tallying seven times against once for the All-Stars.

Hans Andersson and Carl Eidefjell tallied the other markers for the Djurgarden eleven, both in the second half.

Browns' Backs Against Wall, Feet Only Inches From Cellar After Double White Sox Loss

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 6—The Browns, who had such high hopes of avoiding the American League cellar this season, stand in grave danger of backsliding into the dungeon.

Unless they can turn back the revived White Sox tonight under the Comiskey Park lights, their lead over the last place Chicagoans will be reduced to a scant half-game. Bryan Stephens is their man of the hour and his pitching opponent in this vital battle will be Marino (Chick) Pieretti, the half-pint righthander the Sox recently obtained from Washington.

Stephens will be seeking his third victory of the year, Pieretti his third victory in four starts for the Sox.

Two for the Want of a Run.

The plight of the Browns is due to their collapse in Monday's doubleheader here when they dropped both games, the first by 3-2, and the second, 5-4, after 13 innings, and more than three hours of baseball both brilliant and erratic.

It came, too, right after Charley DeWitt, the traveling secretary, had gone out on a limb in giving Manager Zack Taylor full credit for the team's fine showing to date.

Speaking over a local radio station, DeWitt praised Taylor to the skies. "Our great mistake," he said, "was in not having Taylor for manager last year."

Prior to the holiday tragedy the Browns had beaten the Sox five times in seven tries. They figured the best way to avoid the cellar was to keep slamming the door in the faces of the present occupants. But somewhere they lost the key.

They had plenty of chances to win both games, but couldn't cash in. Bad base-running gummed up a promising ninth-innig rally in the opener, which was lost because Fred Sanford yielded a homer to Pat Seerey and three bunched hits good for two runs in a later inning. Gerry Priddy homered for St. Louis.

Tough Luck for Sanford.

Cliff Fannin deserved a victory in the nightcap. He pitched 12 brilliant innings after a shaky start. His mates made five straight hits off Glenn Moulder to open the game and give him a lead, but the Sox whittled it down and finally tied the count on doubles by Luke Appling and Cass Michaels in the seventh.

Then, with Al Widmar pitching, the Sox put over the winning marker in the thirteenth. Michaels singling with the bases loaded and two out. Two scratchy hits, a throwing error by Andy Anderson and a pass set the stage.

Ralph Weigel, second-string catcher of the White Sox, will be lost to the team for at least three weeks. Weigel suffered a wrenched left knee in Sunday's first game against Detroit here. He was taken to Mercy Hospital, where Dr. John Claridge, White Sox physician, reports surgery may be required.

Fleischer Wins Walk.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Morris Fleischer, representing the Maccabi A.C., Brooklyn, yesterday regained the National A.A.U. 20-kilometer walk title he first won in 1945. Taking the lead from Bill Mihalo, an Olympic alternate from Detroit, at the half-way mark, Fleischer set the pace for the remaining half and finished in 2:10.07. Mihalo was second at 2:12.28 and Morris Davis of Maccabi A. C. third, 20 seconds later.

Riegel Adds Western Amateur to His List of Golf Championships

Wins From McHale in Final 3-1

The Glendale, Calif., shotmaker won the western amateur title yesterday, defeating James McHale, the ex-professional from Philadelphia, 3 and 1, in the final of the week-long tournament.

Riegel also holds the national amateur crown and the trans-Mississippi tournament tile.

The Californian, in beating McHale, played the 35 holes over the 6740-yard par-71 Wichita Country Club course in three strokes under par. He was two up after 27 holes.

Riegel holed a 19-foot putt to take the thirty-third with a birdie 3 and after that it was just a routine job to win the last two holes.

Earlier McHale, who once served as an assistant pro at the Winged Foot Country Club at Mamaroneck, N. Y., won the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth holes with birdie 3's to square the match. He lost the thirty-first with a one-over par 6 but won the thirty-second with a par 4.

He faltered after the thirty-second, however, and Riegel came through on the last three holes.

It was the first time Riegel participated in a western amateur tournament. He advanced into the final by beating Lawrence Glosser of Oklahoma City, 6 and 5. McHale beat Harold Paddock Jr., of Auroro, Ohio, 1-up, to win his semi-final match.

Riegel won the national amateur at Pebble Beach, Calif., last year and the trans-Mississippi tournament at Kansas City last month.

St. Louisan Is Third In Regional Trials For Olympic Diving

MILWAUKEE, July 6 (UP)—Favorites generally lived up to their reputations yesterday in the Olympic regional swimming trials.

Wally Ris of the University of Iowa, won the 100-meter free style yesterday in 57.8 seconds. Alan Ford of the New Haven Swimming Club was a close second with a time of 58 seconds.

Bruce McFadden of the New York Athletic Club was third in 1 minute and 2-10 second.

Winners of other events:

200-METER BREAST STROKE — Joe Verdour, Philadelphia, 2m. 42.6s; Bowen Stassford, Iowa, 2m. 56.5s; Don Hester, University of California, 2m. 59.2s.

400-METER FREE STYLE—Jimmy McLane, Andover, Mass., 4m. 52.9s; Ralph Sala, California, 4m. 56.2s; Ed Huber, Yale, 4m. 59s.

THREE-METER DIVE — Ray Trindade, United Sttaes Navy, 140 points; Eugene Tucker, Shaw Park, Clayton, Mo., 123.84 points; John Heichelbing, Downtown Y.M.C.A., St. Louis, 109.75 points.

Canadian's Entry Rejected.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Theo A. Dubois, Canadian sculler who won the 1947 United States single sculling championship, was rejected by the executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen as an entry for the title rowing at Princeton, N.J.

The Executive Committee confirmed the rejection of Dubois yesterday.

Dubois, who won the United States singles title in Detroit last July when Diamond Sculls Champion Jack Kelly Jr., tumbled out of his shell into the Detroit river, also won the Canadian Singles Olympic tryout two weeks ago.

But as the United States single sculling champion he forwarded his entry to John B. Kelly Sr., here for defense of his singles crown at Princeton where the event will be held together with the Olympic tryouts.

WRAY'S COLUMN

No "Point" to Our Olympic Monopoly.

"I'M sure I read that any Olympic points won by Herb McKenley of Jamaica will be counted for Great Britain," said an athletics-minded debater at a gathering of the Hoisters and Elbow Benders' Local, No. 1234, recently.

"If you read that, the author was about as right as Wrongway Gorrigan," one of the group protested. . . . In the lexicon of the International Olympic Committee, there is no such word as point. . . . Not as related to Olympic track and field scoring. . . . Olympic successes are not scored by points. . . . There are no team totals figured officially by computing firsts, seconds, thirds, etc. . . . Nor is there any national championship recognized, only individual champions."

Hoister No. 2 was right. . . . And the belief that the Olympic Games are officially scored by points with the view of determining a national champion is common—and erroneous. . . . Individuals may become champions in their special events. . . . Each receives a trophy denoting his Olympic success in that contest.

* * *

But while the Olympic regulations recognize no national championships, whether on the basis of points or of total firsts (medals won) by any national group, the sports writers suffer from no such inhibitions. . . . In recent times it has been customary for newspapers, and even the major press services, to score the meet unofficially on the basis of five points for a first, four for a second, three for third, etc.

* * *

When Nero Smote An Olympic Lyre.

OTHERS have recognized as national victor, in the track and field events, that country which scored the most first places. . . . In the 1936 games, even the Berlin press disregarded the Olympic regulations and scored the over-all Olympic events as a victory for Germany, on the basis of gold medals (firsts) won, including all sorts of contests, even music and art competitions. (N.B.—Don't laugh at this idea—Emperor Nero was an entry on one Olympic occasion. . . . He thought he was a pretty tough guy with a lyre.)

* * *

But that's all off the record. . . . Baron Pierre de Coubertin who more than half a century ago brought about the revival of the games, which had been dead since the fourth century, turned the stoplight against national championships.

The baron thought that national rivalry would promote national hatreds. . . . And from the way things have been developing as a result of mere newspaper exploitation of our United States Olympic successes, we think Monsieur Coubertin had something.

* * *

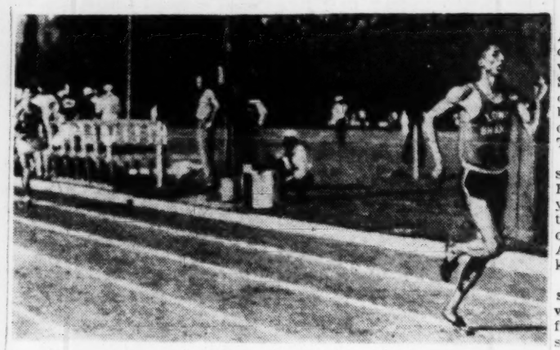

Unofficially, the United States has won every Olympic championship since they were resumed in 1896 . . . And we are likely to score the highest number of points or the greatest number of firsts for the twelfth time at London. . . . And probably we'll boast about it. . . . Naturally, after being pushed around in the points table for half a century, the remainder of the world thinks enough is sufficient. . . . But the unofficial scoring still will go on.

* * *

BUT, getting back to the Elbow Benders' original remark about Great Britain getting credit for a Jamaica athlete's achievement, unless there has been some especial finagling, that's impossible, too. . . . The British Empire, as such, is not an entry. . . . In the past its dominions and colonies have sent teams, on their own, including Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Egypt, etc.

* * *

So Herb McKenley's victory—or victories — will not count for Jamaica, for Great Britain or the British Empire. . . . Success may result in an Olympic medal or two, but the credit goes to Herbie, not his land or his nation.

In a Class by Himself

Just another world record for HERB McKENLEY, Jamaica Negro sprinter, as he ran the 400-meter race at Milwaukee in 45.9 seconds, Saturday, bettering the old mark of :46 set by Rudolph H'erbig, of Germany.

Trinsey Grabs Two Titles in Rowing Regatta

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—A 21-year-old cellist at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music will compete against Diamond Sculls Champion Jack Kelly Jr., of Philadelphia, for an Olympic berth in the singles sculling tryouts at Princeton, N.J., starting Thursday.

His first victory came in the senior singles quarter-mile dash when he edged out Art Gallagher, former national champion representing the Penn A. C., Philadelphia, to win in 1 min. 16.3 sec. Gallagher finished second.

Trinsey's second triumph was in the senior singles where he won the right to qualify for the Olympic tryouts by beating Dick McIntyre, his Vesper B. C. teammate, in 8 min. 17 sec.

Tom McCreesh, of Penn A. C., Philadelphia, swept to Victory in the senior 145-pound singles quarter-mile dash in 1 min. 23.3 sec., while James Barker and Gus Derkits of the Undine Barge Club, Philadelphia, added the senior 145-pound doubles title.

Only 321 Fans See Hogan Win Play-off Match

DETROIT, July 6 (AP)—Belting Ben Hogan today counted his season's golf earnings at $20,197.50 and decided to pass up the next two big oportunities to add to it.

The Hershey, Pa., star annexed the Motor City Open and $2,600 yesterday, finishing with a two-over-par 73, just a stroke ahead of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Albuquerque, N.M., in the special playoff that finished the first motor city competition.

Harrison, who won $1,900 for a second place share with his 74, immediately prepared to move on to Columbus, O., for the open meet that starts there Thursday. But Hogan will skip that affair, along with a Pittsburgh test that follows it on the National Tournament circuit, in favor of a few exhibition matches.

The playoff was an anti-climax to the four-day meet, from the standpoints of both fan interest and link finesse.

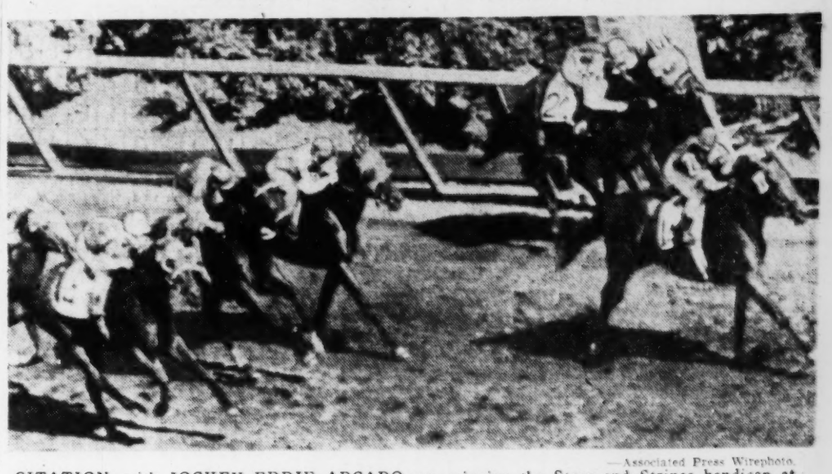

Although crowds of 12,000 and 15,000 had thronged the Meadowbrook Country Club fairways during the last two days of the tournament proper, only 321 spectators were on hand to see little Ben take a two-stroke lead on the first hole and never drop behind.

Patersen Back in Scotland After 12-Day Trip to Los Angeles

GLASGOW, Scotland, July 6 (AP)—Homesick Jackie Paterson, former world flyweight champion, came home by plane today—just 12 days after he left for a comeback attempt in the United States.

"I couldn't train, so I just had to come home," he said. He added that he missed his wife and two children on the brief trip that took him all the way to Los Angeles and cost him $2800.

How to Shoot an Ace And Still Not Win Hole-in-One Contest

Leonard Kaufman sent his tee shot 154 yards into the cup at the University City course's No. 8 hole on the Fourth, but M. L. Winkler won the event with a shot 30 inches away. Walter Repp was four feet away and Joseph Finnazi six feet two inches.

Kaufman hadn't entered. He later said he "wanted to shoot without pressure."

H. A. Balnis won the driving contest. His shot went 295 wards, five yards farther than C. H. Pallihan's.

Dodds Race Winner.

BOSTON, July 6 (AP)—Running with only one day of rest after winning the National A.A.U. 1500-meter race at Milwaukee, Wis., Gil Dodds yesterday easily won a three-mile handicap race at the annual city of Boston track meet. Dodds was hampered by a stiff ankle but easily lapped his nine rivals, one of whom had a 320-yard handicap.

Fairmount Park's Mutuel Handle Has Averaged $75,222 a Night

By Herman Wecke

That St. Louis district fans are becoming better acquainted with the harness horses is indicated by the increase in the mutuel handle in the last four days of racing at Fairmount Park Raceway.

A total of $430,907, an average of $107,725 a night, has passed through the windows the last four nights.

What's more, the fans are betting them on the nose. Last Saturday a new mutuel record for the meeting was established when $128,186 passed through the windows, a total of $86,591, or more than one-half, was wagered in the win pool. The place pool totaled $33,122 and the snow total was $22,549. The daily double pool amounted to $5924.

The wagering in the win pool went up with every race. It was $2632 in the first race; $5114 in the second, and then followed totals of $5738, $5985, $8228, $8486, $9225, $9484 and $9699.

For the 33 days of racing, a total of $2,482,439 has passed through the mutuel windows, an average of $75,222 a night.

When last night's holiday program was prevented by rain, it marked the sixth postponement of the meeting. This means that the trotters and pacers will go through July 24, instead of closing July 17.

Under Illinois law, a track is allowed a maximum of six days to make up for postponements. Thus should any more programs be canceled, they will be lost.

The program originally set for last night will be raced tonight. It will be featured by divided races for trotters and pacers, although the ninth, with only four horses entered, should be one of the best of the night. In this, a one-mile pace, Scottish Boy will be seeking his sixth victory, against Brother Harmony, Captain Cash and Howard Hanover.

Citation Establishes Two Money Winning Records With Victory

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Incredible Citation was more firmly established today as "horse of the year" while Ben Whitaker's My Request, sneaking from the shadow of the Calumet Flyer, had a strong bid in for runnerup honors among the season's three-year-olds.

Now No. 4 in Earnings.

Eddie Arcaro brought the Calumet star home in front of Augustus and Nahm's Eternal Reward and Hal Price Headley's Pellicle, which trailed in that order. Bracketed with Fervent as an entry, Citation paid $2.60 to win and $2.20 to place with no show betting.

The triumph was worth $38,000 to Citation, boosting his 1948 earnings to $427,020. This establishes a new money winning record for a single year, topping Assault's mark of 1946 by $2825. Citation's 19 victories in 21 starts during two years of racing have been worth $582,700 — highest earnings ever made over a two-year stretch. He is No. 4 among the all-time money winners behind Stymie ($904,835); Armed ($773,700) and Assault ($626,620).

"Citation is by far the greatest horse I've ever ridden," declared Arcaro. "On the far turn, Knockdown, Loujac and Colosal were lined up ahead of us. As we turned for home, I smacked him with the whip. He drew right away from those three, but they started coming to us on the sixteenth pole. I hit Citation again. He was beginning to puff. But he has so much class and gameness that he came right on in. I've never been on a horse to compare with him."

Near Track Record.

The third big event of the day's program — the $50,000 American Handicap at Hollywood Park — saw an outsider, Harry Warner's Stepfather ($22.10) run off with the big purse. The favored On Trust, with Johnny Longden up, was third behind Bert Baroni's Autocrat.

My Request, looking every inch a champion, streaked the mile and a quarter Dwyer route in 2:02—just three fifths of a second off the track record. He beat King Ranch's better self by four lengths with Alfred Vanderbilt's loser Weeper, a 50-1 shot, third. The winner paid $4.40.

Yesterday was a big day for Texan Ben Whitaker. His Miss Request won the $17,500 added Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park, paying $22.30 for $2. Miss Request beat C. V. Whitney's Mackinaw by a half length in the mile and a furlong test, being clocked at 1:50 2-5. Third in the field of six three-year-old fillies was King Ranch's Scattered.

Paterson Homesick, Returns to Scotland

Only 95 Min. to Kansas City

FLY TO KANSAS CITY ON YOUR BREAKFAST HOUR! Flight leaves at 7:15am (central standard time, remember!) Sleep a little longer, and eat breakfast aloft. You can arrive in Kansas City or Omaha in time for a day's business and still return home the same night. You'll find "flying Mid-Continent" faster, more comfortable than weary, time-wasting land travel! Other flights, 1:00pm (CST) or 6:00pm (CST). Only $12.85.

Save Many Hours To Minneapolis Or Des Moines

HAVE HALF A BUSINESS DAY IN TWIN CITIES—BE HOME SAME EVENING by taking Mid-Continent Airlines' 8:10am (CST) flight. Have even more time on DES MOINES trips. And on Minnesota vacations, "fly Mid-Continent,"—be "landing the big ones" a day sooner! Other flights, 1:10pm, 6:30pm (CST). Fares, only $16.35 to Des Moines, $31.70 to Twin Cities.

City Ticket Office, Jefferson Hotel. For reservations call Garfield 6280 or local travel agent.
Ask us about hotel reservations. We can get them for you in many cities on our line.

America's first 1949 cars

NOW ON DISPLAY

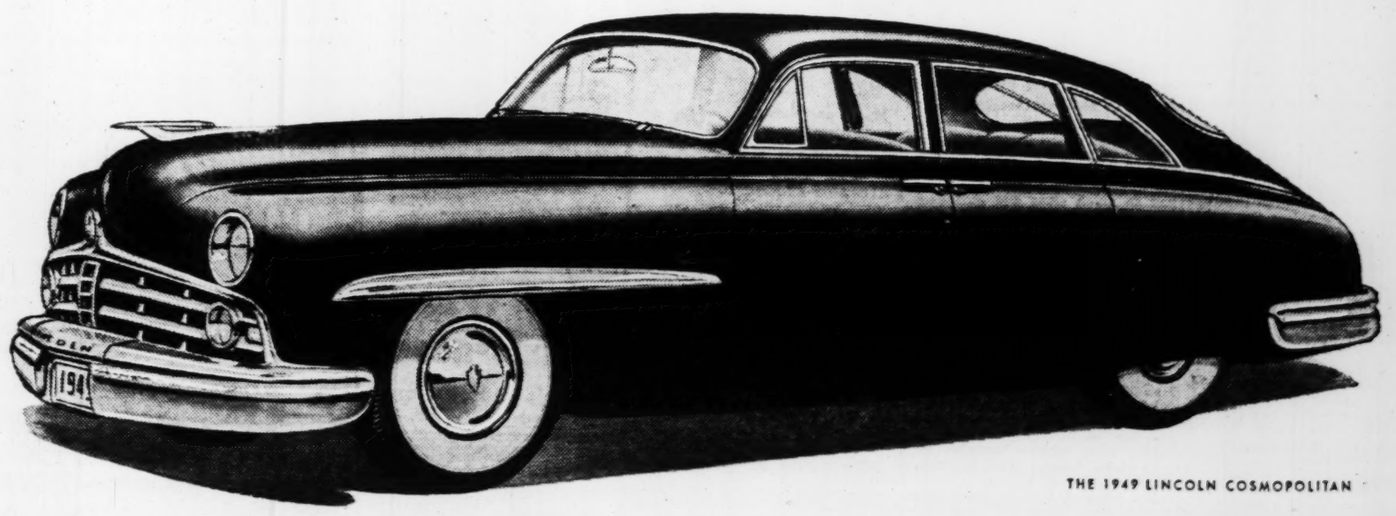

THE 1949 MERCURY

THE All-New MERCURY

Here is an All-New kind of motorcar beauty! It's not a "new model" looking pretty much like last year's with its face lifted. It's the All-New 1949 Mercury with longer, lower, wider lines in a new-as-tomorrow curved-arch silhouette...with a powerful V-type, 8-cylinder engine, designed and built exclusively for Mercury...with a new standard of driving comfort...with fine-car styling and performance usually found only in cars far above Mercury's price class. Come in today...let us show you the ALL-NEW Mercury for 1949!

TWO COMPLETELY NEW 1949 Lincolns

Here at last! The finest cars that human skill can build—completely new, completely right—The 1949 Lincoln and The Lincoln Cosmopolitan. They have long, low, sweeping breadth that promises eager, surging fleetness in action. The new power plant is a masterpiece—8-cylinder, V-type, 152-horsepower strong—perfect in every precision-built detail. A new lower center of gravity and new spring suspension cradle you in the "comfort zone" ahead of the rear axle. These great, new, luxurious Lincolns truly set the pattern for the fine cars of the Fifties. Nothing could be finer...or newer!

AVERAGE STOCK PRICE AT NEW 22-MONTH TOP

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The stock market found a steady footing today in comparatively slow trading.

Demand centered on the rail section at the start but soon spread to other groups. Late in the day the carriers and some other issues ran into a few mild flurries of selling and closed under the best levels of the session.

Both the Associated Press average of 60 stocks and the Dow-Jones group of 65 issues made new 22-month highs.

Security traders appeared to be reluctant to get into the market on any scale. Immediate news developments didn't have much effect one way or another and many dealers appeared to be standing by awaiting outcome of this nation's message to Moscow regarding the Berlin blockade.

Soft coal miners' failure to return to work at captive mines after their holiday, and the refusal of General Eisenhower to accept the Democratic presidential nomination were more or less ignored.

At any event, traders more or less ignored immediate news developments, good or bad.

Trend on the Curb.

Solar Aircraft moved ahead in the curb. The company just reported a net income of $800,967 for the year ended April, compared with a net loss of $509,065 in the preceding year. Also ahead at times were Sterling Aluminum Products, McCord Corp., and Cities Service.

Rubber company shares were equally listless despite a series of announcements of price advances in tires.

Steel stocks leaned ahead in the face of news that soft coal miners in the captive mines had not returned to work after their holiday. Steel companies generally are pretty well fixed now for coal but without a steady stream of supplies. The condition could soon change and steel making operations could be affected accordingly.

COTTON OFF 70C TO $1.70

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Cotton futures were easy in moderately active trading today. The market was under pressure of scattered liquidation partly reflecting evening-up operations in nearby July, prompted by the continued slow export demand for old crop cotton supplies.

CORN REGAINS HALF OF 8C LOSS, WHEAT RISES

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP) — The July corn delivery broke the 8-cent daily limit shortly before noon today at the Board of Trade. Today's selling was a continuation of Saturday's liquidation, and spread to all corn deliveries. Later some recovery was made.

Wheat was weak on mill and commission house selling, the result of record receipts of wheat of 4578 cars at Kansas City over the long holiday. The previous high was 3579 for three days set at Kansas City July 5, 1938. A mild rally near the close lifted prices from the day's low.

At the finish wheat rallied sharply and closed unchanged to ¾c higher than Saturday's close, July $2.28⅞@¾. Corn was unchanged to 4½c lower, July $2.08¼@2.08. Oats were ⅛c lower to ¾c higher, July 87¾@88c. Soybeans were 1½@3½c lower, July $4.06.

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

This is the ROADMASTER with Dynaflow Drive*—where Main Street's dense traffic, the inviting open road and the long, stretching hills are bossed with equal ease by a toe-touch.

For here you have the only passenger car in America where liquid replaces both the usual clutch and the low-second-high gear sequence of conventional transmissions.

Here you sit in blissful ease while the power plant itself meets and masters the thousand and one situations that come up in travel.

Gentle grades, steep hills, long straightaways, stop streets—once your lever's set, you simply step on the gas—and take them all in liquid-smooth luxury.

Does all this sound fabulous? It is.

So fabulous that folks are signing up in droves for the '48 fashion plate with this new-wonder drive.

So to take command of this traveler-touched-with-magic, come see us quickly and get your order in.

We'll take it in sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

What's different about DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays.

HEAD OF PANAMA POLITICAL PARTY FLEES TO U.S. ZONE

Arias, Apparent Winner of Presidency, Says 'My Little Country Is Going to Hell.'

PANAMA CITY, July 6 (AP)—Arnulfo Arias Madrid, his election to Panama's Presidency challenged, many of his supporters under arrest, and he himself a political refugee, says "My little country is going to hell."

Arias took refuge in the United States-controlled canal zone yesterday with other top leaders in the wake of political riots which claimed three lives in Panama over the weekend.

Panama's government declared a state of emergency Sunday following a shooting incident between Panama police and Arias's followers. The district attorney's office in Panama said 310 Arias men are under arrest.

Although Arias apparently was victorious in the May 9 election, there was a question whether he would get the post. His eligibility has been challenged on the ground that Panama's constitution bars anyone elected as President from running again for two terms after he last held office. The 47-year-old nationalist leader was ousted from the presidency in a coup d'etat in 1941.

Arias won an unofficial count in the May election, but a recount now is underway on behalf of his Liberal party opponent, Domingo Diaz Arosemena.

Arias, who is staying in the town of Gamboa at the home of his nephew, George R. Yates, told newspaper men: "For the time being I am awaiting developments. As you see, my little country is going to hell."

PERU'S ARMY MOVES TO CRUSH REVOLT

LIMA, Peru, July 6 (UP)—The Peruvian army moved today to stamp out a revolt of its Juliaca and Puno garrisons by imposing virtual martial law on the country.

Gen. Frederico Hurtado, army commander in chief, promulgated decrees regulating the activity of civilians and providing for the arrest of violators and trial before military courts.

Directly after the outbreak of revolt in southern Peru, the government suspended constitutional guarantees. It forbade mass meetings and warned leaders of the rebellion to lay down their arms or face punitive action by the rest of the army.

Army forces at Cuzco were understood to have departed to put down the rebellion. The leader of the uprising was reported to be Lt. Col. Alfonso Llosa Gonzales.

The Interior Ministry said all army garrisons except those at Puno and Juliaca had reaffirmed their loyalty to the government of President Jose Luis Bustamente.

Last week, Bustamente announced he would rule by decree because the right-wing minority in Congress was obstructing legislation.

Food Shop Robbed.

A total of $125 in cash and 75 cartons of cigarettes valued at $84 were stolen over the weekend from the Delmar Food Shop, 4211 Delmar boulevard. Entry apparently was gained by forcing open a rear window. The burglary was discovered by police yesterday morning. Dave Hutkin, 6609 Enright avenue, is the proprietor of the market.

CHARLES SKOURAS $985,300 PAY IN 1946 HEADS LIST

Charles P. Skouras, former St. Louisan, who was a bus boy at Hotel Jefferson before he entered on his almost fabulous career as a film theater owner, led the national list of big pay earners for 1946, with a showing of $985,300. He was at the top of the 1945 list with $568,143. This appeared in the Treasury Department's annual announcement, given out yesterday.

Betty Grabel, who lived in St. Louis in the 1930s and went through primary grades in Mary Institute, drew the highest salary total for a woman, $299,300, in 1946, and was No. 9 on the national salary scale.

Among present-day St. Louis residents whose names appear in the 1946 top-income roll, Francis M. Curlee, president of the Curlee Clothing Co., has the highest rating, $128,499. Next are Leonard Strauss, assistant secretary-treasurer of May Department Stores Co., which operates Famous-Barr, $127,319; and Fred Z. Salomon, vice president and treasurer of the same company, $127,269.

F. E. Fowler Jr., president of Southern Comfort Corp., is listed at an even $125,000 C. S. Lawton of Lawton-Byrne-Bruner Insurance Agency had $118,494, and T. L. Farrington of the same agency $115,169.

August A. Busch Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch Inc., received $115,000.

Morton J. May, president of May Department Stores Co., received $100,000. Randall Foster of Lawton-Byrne-Bruner Insurance Agency received $90,829; Leo J. Wieck of May Department Stores Co., $87,360; Marcus Rice of May Co., $84,884; J. B. Gander, president Bank Building and Equipment Corp., $76,171; and Albert C. Stannard, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., $75,830.

The tabulation included also officers of May Department Stores Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. and Cook Paint and Varnish Co., not St. Louis residents.

Bing Crosby Eighth on 1946 List With $325,000.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Among the top 10 money earners on corporation payrolls was Movie Actor Bing Crosby who drew $325,000 from Paramount Pictures and finished eighth.

Others near the top, in order were: Movie Producer William Wyler, Samuel Goldwyn Productions, Inc., $432,000; horse racing's Charles H. Strub, executive vice president of the Los Angeles Turf Club, Inc., $396,901; a grocery chain executive, Harry W. Bracy, paid $380,733 by the Kroger Co., Cincinnati; a textile man, Archie O. Joslin, who drew $373,024, getting $296,880 from the Rock Hill (S.C.) Printing and Finishing Co., and $76,144 from M. Lowenstein & Sons, Inc., New York; auto maker Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors Detroit, $337,193; "dime store" magnate C. W. Deyo, president of the F. W. Woolworth Co., $330,152.

In tenth place, bacl of Crosby and Betty Grable, was the late cigarette maker, George Washington Hill, who got $295,611 as president of the American Tobacco Co.

ALOYSIUS BUSSMANN TO HEAD GROUP BACKING THOMPSON

Aloysius Bussmann, president of the Bussmann Manufacturing Co., has been appointed chairman of the Thompson-for-Governor Committee of St. Louis, which will work for the nomination and election of Murray Thompson of Marshfield, Mo., a Republican. Edward L. Kuhs, a real estate dealer, will head the finance committee.

Announement of the selection of officers of the committee to work for Thompson was made by Henry A. Freytag, Thompson's local campaign manager.

Other officers of the committee are: Robert W. Herr and Joseph H. Grand, both attorneys, respectively secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Walter Wurdack, director of the women's division; State Representative Josiah C. Thomas, Negro, director of the Negro division, and State Senator David E. Horn, chairman of the speakers' bureau.

MAN AWAITING MURDER TRIAL IS FOUND DEAD IN CITY JAIL

The body of Will Jones, Negro, was found yesterday in his cell at City Jail, where he was awaiting trial on a charge of second degree murder in the fatal shooting last April 25 of Sol Johnson, Negro. Both men lived at 2710 Locust street.

Jones had been treated at City Hospital last Thursday for asthma and had been given a number of capsules of medicine, some of which were found in his possession at the jail. An inquest will be held.

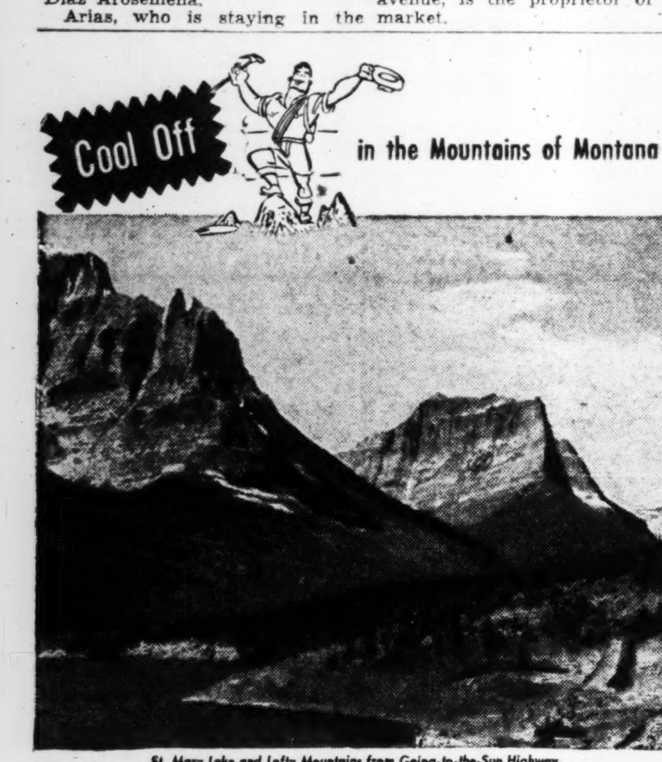

He served 17 years of a life sentence in the Missouri penitentiary for the murder of Police Lt. Sidney Sears at Fourteenth and Papin streets in 1924. Jones was released from the penitentiary Feb. 26, 1941.

369 CASES OF POLIO REPORTED IN NORTH CAROLINA THIS YEAR

RALEIGH, N. C., July 6 (AP)—The third worst outbreak of infantile paralysis in North Carolina history showed no sign of abating today.

Through yesterday the state had counted 369 cases this year. Sixteen new cases were reported during the day to the state board of health. The outbreak is concentrated in the central portion of the state. The disease already has been classified as epidemic in several central counties.

The outbreak is the worst in the state's history for this time of year. Outbreaks in 1944, which counted 878 cases, and 1935, with 675 cases, were generally later in the summer.

NEW RECORD SET IN JUNE CONSTRUCTION

$1,605,000,000 Total Value—$625,000,000 of It Spent on Housing.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The Commerce Department last night estimated new construction in June at $1,605,000,000, the highest dollar value for any month on record.

The total, measuring construction work actually done and excluding contracts for later performance, was an increase of 11 per cent over May.

It was a full 38 per cent higher than in June of last year and, $100,000,000 above the record levels attained last October and in July, 1942.

The value of all private construction in June was $1,218,000,000, a 10 per cent gain over May. Housing accounted for more than half of the total.

Private housing construction alone came to $625,000,000, a 9 per cent gain over May and a 54 per cent rise over June last year. The house construction total for the first six months of 1948 was $3,100,000,000, a 60 per cent increase over the same period of 1947.

Other types of privately financed work which gained in June 1948, as compared to June 1947, included: school buildings, 50 per cent; stores, restaurants and garages 82 per cent, and religious structures 138 per cent.

Industrial building was the only class of privately financed construction to decline. Totaling $110,000,000 in June, it was down 2 per cent from May and 21 per cent from June of last year. For the first six months of 1948, it was off 19 per cent from last year.

Public construction in June was valued at $387,000,000, up 14 per cent from June last year. Among the marked increases over last year were: Educational buildings 79 per cent, hospitals and institutional buildings 171 per cent.

FLARES OF TEMPER, EMOTIONS UPSETS LAID TO SUNSPOTS

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—If tempers flare and emotions are unbalanced, it may be due to the ultra-violet rays from the sun spots now nearing their maximum number and intensity for the first time in 11 years, says Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of Fels Planetarium.

These beams of invisible energy coming from the sun 93,000,000 miles away can easily affect human tempers, he said today.

Then too emotions are controlled by various glands of the body which readily may be disturbed by the sun's ultra-violet rays, Dr. Marshall told a reporter. He pointed out that the last time sun spots reached their maximum frequency was in 1937 when Hitler began his plan of world conquest.

Marshall said scientists don't know the "why about sun spots," but the ultra-violet rays emanating from them affect every living thing on earth. Some scientists, he explained, contend these very short rays have produced a more prolific growth of foliage on trees and more abundant crops this year.

Aside from the beneficial properties, the rays also have some annoying characteristics, Marshall said. For instance, blackouts in radio and telegraphic communication have been traced to sun spots.

Ambassador's Wife

Lady Franks Pleases Capital Press Gals

By Elise Morrow

WASHINGTON, July 6.

LADY FRANKS, the wife of the new British Ambassador to Washington, underwent her trial by fire last week and came through nobly for king and empire.

On a steaming hot afternoon, she had 200 females of the press, radio and dilettante writing set in for drinks and conversation. This is a multiplied equivalent of a new bride's having all her husband's critical maiden aunts in for dinner.

It is risky business, but it looks as though Lady Franks will not get the usual genteel clawing in print which has made life zestful for some of the other women newcomers to Washington. In other words, she went over fine—and her two small daughters helped considerably.

Sir Oliver Franks, the Ambassador, wisely kept out of sight—as did all men—while the girls gave Lady Franks the once over. They found her to be tall, pleasant, attractive and unpretentious—not good looking enough to make the girls seem dowdy by contrast, and not at all bad looking either.

★ ★ ★

LADY FRANKS wore a pink silk frock printed with black leaves—new look but not extreme. Her brown hair was cut short to form a halo of curls. Her eyes are deep set and hazel, and she has that famous English complexion. She had the girls cooing in no time at all, and as the guests departed, Lady Franks handed out as

It was the Franks children, however, who made the biggest hit. Nine-year-old Caroline and 3½-year-old Alison, in identical blue and white striped smocks, went about distributing cookies like two very proper little young ladies.

Both of the children were still in mourning for Lulu, their orange-colored Persian cat which disappeared on the Queen Elizabeth while they were en route to America, but they reported that the Embassy swimming pool was quite a consolation.

★ ★ ★

"IT'S SO HOT HERE," Caroline said, "that I'm just dripping to pieces all the time."

Caroline looks like her mother, but Alison is a platinum blonde. They are the first Ambassador's children to live at the Embassy here, which was built in the late '20s.

Lady Franks, who has visited the United States four times previously, making trips to Chicago and the West Coast, did a great deal of vegetable gardening in England during the war, and she cast a speculative eye on the Embassy's huge, formal gardens as she escorted her guests about the terrace.

"You know," she said, "I might set out some tomato plants."

★ ★ ★

MEANWHILE, Washington had itself an old-fashioned Fourth of July weekend, complete with parades and speech making, the particular occasion being the 100th anniversary of the laying of the Washington Monument cornerstone on July 4, 1848.

Politicians have fled the steaming city in droves; many of the Republicans who attended the Convention in Philadelphia didn't even bother to come back.

Because of the heat and the exodus, the Washington social pace has slowed down to a walk, but the hardy Venezuelans held high the torch with a cocktail party for 1000—count 'em—1000 guests. Anyone who can do that in the midst of a Washington summer is absolutely indestructible. The party was in honor of the President of Venezuela, Romulo Gallegos, and Senora de Gallegos, and was given by the Venezuelan Ambassador and Senora de Carnevali.

ODDS AND ENDS: Magnus V. Magnusson, the first secretary of the Icelandic Legation, was asked whether he had any news from Iceland. "No," he sighed, wiping his brow, "but I sure miss it."

Mrs. Perle Mesta, the Washington society hostess who pals around with the Trumans but entertained Republicans at Philadelphia during the convention, plans to return to Philadelphia for the Democratic shindig—but this time as a delegate from Rhode Island. She has a house at Newport—quite a house.

Mrs. John W. Snyder, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, can't decide whether to go to the Democratic convention and thus risk being parboiled in Philadelphia, or just stay in Washington and watch the whole dreary business on television. Mrs. John L. Sullivan, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, thinks she'll just stay at the seashore and let the Democrats nominate Harry Truman without her, but Mrs. Kenneth Royall, wife of the Secretary of the Army, will be in Philadelphia with bells on, as a delegate-at-large from North Carolina.

Margaret Truman, at last reports, doesn't plan to go to Philadelphia because, "I've been to one convention." Attorney General and Mrs. Tom Clark plan to go to Philadelphia, and so do Clark Clifford, President Truman's special counsel, and his handsome, blonde wife, but Presidential Assistant John Steelman expects to be stuck in Washington.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

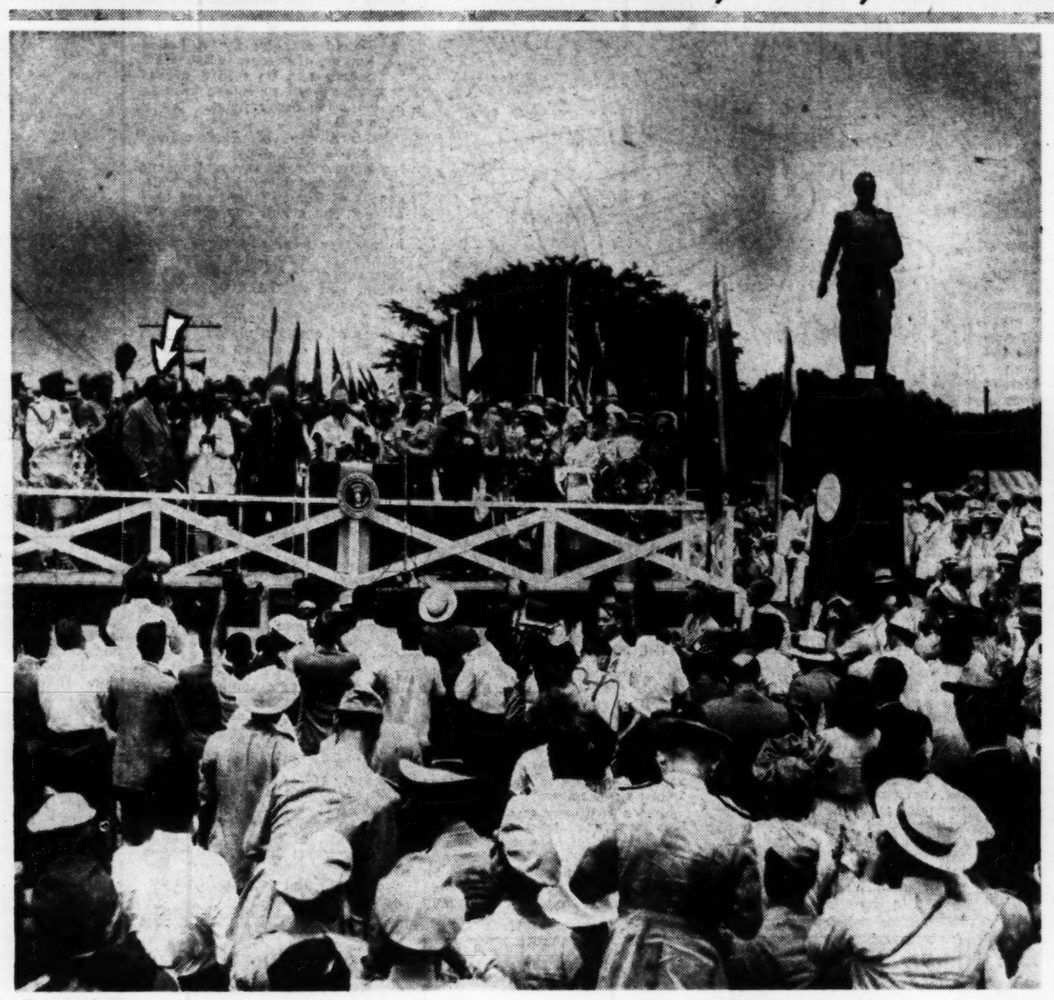

ANDREW HECHT tells the story of a big producer's daughter who was getting married to a famous star. All Hollywood turned out for the shindig, but there was an endless delay at the church. "I wonder what's holding things up," said one guest. "I think I can answer that," said another. "The bride's father is probably inside rewriting the ceremony."

What Am I Saying!

COURTSHIP, it seems to me, is usually that part of a girl's life that comes between the lipstick and the broomstick. Which reminds me of the old proverb that a bird in the hand may be worth two in the bush, but in courting a girl, the man who beats about the bush too long often gets the bird.

GALA DAY AS BOLIVAR, MO., ENTERTAINS TWO PRESIDENTS

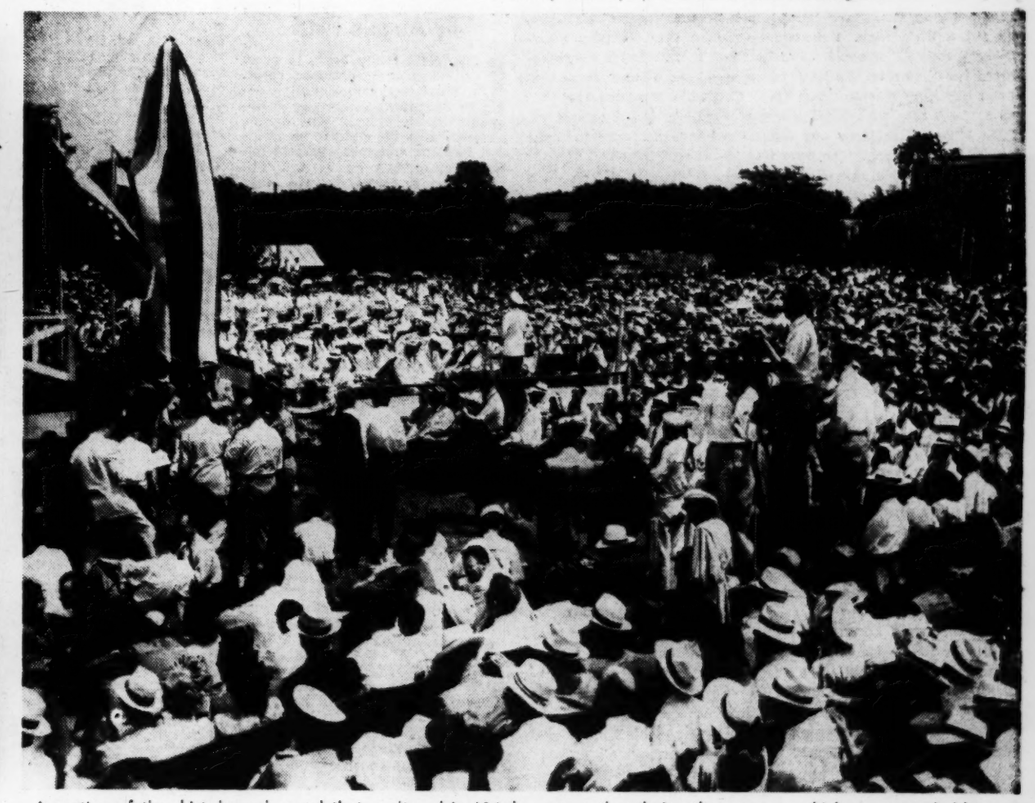

President Truman, at center of rostrum, addressing the throng that crowded into Bolivar, Mo., yesterday for colorful ceremonies in which a statue of the city's namesake, Simon Bolivar, was dedicated. President Romulo Gallegos (arrow) of Venezuela presented the monument of the South American liberator as a gift from his country. Gov. Phil M. Donnelly (in dark suit), another speaker, stands beside Truman.

President Gallegos (left) gazes at the bronze Bolivar monument, after unveiling the $100,000 memorial in Neuhart Park. Miss Margaret Truman, daughter of President and Mrs. Truman, is to right of flag. The two Presidents and their wives arrived in the Polk county seat by special train from Washington.

Keys to the city especially made to commemorate the occasion being presented to President Gallegos (left) and President Truman by Mayor Doyle C. McCraw in behalf of Bolivar's 3000 residents. Presentation was made on the platform of the presidential special.

Miss Barbara Braithwait, Bolivar bank employe who reigned as queen of the festival, looks over a flock of turkeys, for which Polk county is famous. Turkey was the featured dish at the picnic spread for the distinguished visitors. As the presidential party headed back to Washington, President and Senora Gallegos left the train at Willard, Mo., to drive to Springfield and board a plane for New York.

BROADWAY

RECORDED LOVE LETTERS

ONCE A SINGER (or instrumentalist) had to be seen before he could be heard. But in this jazzed-up, mechanical era everything gets the reverse twist. Many a star has become a household name to millions of people who haven't the slightest idea what the new "heavenly body" looks like. . . . One hit record—and a singer has built that better mouth-trap which starts booking agents beating a path to his or her door. Here's what we mean. . . . Six months ago singer Jerry Wayne was a star in total eclipse. But one night (at the Cafe Rouge) Frankie Carle told him about an old Viennese melody that his publishing house bought and which Chicago organist Ken Griffin had pressed for ice and roller skating rinks. Carle asked Wayne if he would, as a favor, sing a lyric to the organ record as accompaniment so they could issue a new vocal waxing. That 4 ayem, in a small Broadway recording studio, Wayne donned earphones and warbled into a mike while the organ record warbled into his ears. Five weeks later the new Jerry Wayne Rondo record of "You Can't Be True Dear" was shutting everything else out of the jukes and to date has sold more than 1,500,000 copies.

JERRY WAYNE

THE KING COLE TRIO was working in a small Hollywood neighborhood joint for coffee "and". . . . A song they liked was written by Nat Cole, "Straighten Up and Fly Right." One night Johnny Mercer wandered into the spot, heard and liked the tune, and made them an offer to do it for Capitol Records. . . . Cole told Johnny that a small label had already waxed it. Mercer bought the small company and the tune, issued it for Capitol—and the King Cole Trio hit the jackpot.

★ ★ ★

PEGGY LEE was just another band canary who had warbled with Benny Goodman and a string of others Then she decided to go back in the one-night stands grind. Peggy Lee is married to a musician named David Barbour. They love to fool around with Mexican dialogue. They worked up a couple of chords, added some whacky Mexican dialogue dialect and waxed it for Capitol. "Manana" by Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour practically became a national menace, and Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour are cashing in via a string of nightspot dates coast-to-coast.

★ ★ ★

EIGHT YEARS AGO a struggling pianist was entertaining at a party in an Albany hotel. As it often happens at parties, he got a little high. Someone suggested that he play something "original." He did. And he liked it. . . . Later he recaptured the theme on the back of an envelope. (Composers never have anything else to write on.) Columbia recorded the tune as a piano solo with rhythm accompaniment and it caught on. Glen Miller, Glen Gray and other top bands hastened to make records of the song. The tune was "Sunrise Serenade," and the composer was Frankie Carle. "Serenade" launched him on a recording career that has accounted for the sale of more than 27 million discs. In addition, Carle's movie and p. a. contracts and his composing royalties bring his earnings to a million dollar mark every year.

★ ★ ★

THE IDEA for "My Reverie," the pop tune adapted from Debussy, had been in Larry Clinton's mind for years. But the heirs to the Debussy estate would not let him put lyrics to the melody nor adapt it to modern tempo. Larry (along with Bea Wain) went ahead and did the pop version anyway, and Victor recorded it, though Larry didn't tell them about his difficulties with the Debussys After the tune had been waxed a dub was sent to the heirs, who were so impressed that, in giving their permission, they added: "We didn't know the vocal could be so effective." The tune was released as the "B" side of a record and clicked instantly. The "A" side, "A Study in Brown," which was supposed to be another "Stompin' at the Savoy," has long since been forgotten.

★ ★ ★

A DRUMMER on the Bing Crosby show got a little sick of playing everything straight. He wondered what it would sound like if he blew the roof off with trick sound effects—cowbells, sirens, horns and guns. Just a week before, he heard a Disney movie tune that he thought would fit right into his plans. So he worked up a derangement and did the number for Victor with a group of musicians who felt that some tunes should be kidded. It didn't take long before every disc jockey in the country was spinning Spike Jones and his City Slickers doing "The Fuehrer's Face" with the buzzer and all.

★ ★ ★

ART MOONEY had knocked around for years and spent more than $200,000 trying to find a style for his band. A record distributor sent a recording by the Uptown Swing Band to the MGM record company home office. Mooney had a recording date, so the song was "sluffed off" on him. That's how Art Mooney, who was told not to change one single note of "Four Leaf Clover," hit the Hit Parade.

★ ★ ★

PARAMOUNT PICTURES was releasing a flicker called "To Each His Own." Jay Livingston and Ray Evans on the Paramount staff were assigned to write a song just to help publicize the picture. Soon lead sheets were in the hands of all the popular bands and singers The tune's publishers, figuring it wouldn't make the Hit Parade, called the pluggers off the song. The pluggers asked their contacts to do other numbers. This one was "dead." But the singer had already waxed it and he couldn't get his record company to withdraw it from the market. And a good thing they didn't—because "To Each His Own" made a "name" out of an obscure singing bandleader named Eddy Howard.

Why Shouldn't Husbands Be Wary?

Most of Them Have Plenty of Reasons to Be Meat and Potatoes Men

By Hoyt Alden

"MY husband simply will not eat things like tongue," says Birdie the Bride.

Of course he won't. The poor chump is a plain meat and potatoes man because he is as wary as a mountain billy goat when something unusual turns up on his table. His first reaction is that Birdie has been out with the girls from the bridge club and has brought one of their recipes home. He's been stung too often.

That is the principal reason why so many men get into the steak and chop routine and never get out of it. Not that there is anything wrong with steaks or chops, but consider, for a minute or two, all the fine dishes they are passing up without knowing any better. We will never make civilized eaters out of the males until we pry the frying pans out of the hands of their wives.

Soak a smoked tongue of about four pounds in cold water. Now put it in a pot and cover with water. Add a clove of garlic, eight nicked peppercorns, three slices of seeded lemon, a bay leaf, some celery tops, salt and pepper. Bring the water to a boil, turn down the flame and simmer until the tongue is nice and tender. Trim off thick skin and cords. Slice.

Now chop up some parsley, onion and chives very fine, about two tablespoons of each. Chop a few mushrooms fine and sprinkle with lemon juice. Run enough cooked chicken through the grinder to make a cup. Melt a fourth of a cup of butter in a pan and put in all the chopped and ground stuff. Stir and add a little Madeira and tomato paste, enough to make the mixture into a spread. Now spread the tongue slices with the mixture and cover with a piece of cooked ham cut the same size. Wrap each sandwich in a piece of oiled, buttered paper, folding in the end and securing with paper clips. Arrange in a buttered baking pan and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes. Turn carefully and bake for 10 minutes more.

Now you are ready to go. Open the papers, skim off any excess fat, arrange on a platter, pour the juice over and serve with any well-seasoned tomato sauce.

Six to five he'll eat that.

In California, where the Spanish influence still prevails, there are many small places where tongue cooked in the old time manner is the specialty of the house. It's mighty good and it goes like this:

Boil a raw tongue with whatever spices you like. You can't go wrong by following the foregoing recipe. Do not slice, but put in the center of a platter surrounded by sauce made in the following manner:

Brown two cups of chopped onions in a little less than a cup of olive oil. Stir in a heaping cup of raisins and mix all. Now add a minced clove of garlic, a can of tomatoes, a half cup of sliced stuffed olives, a third of a cup of chopped green chili peppers, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil and cook a little while. Put the tongue in a baking pan, pour the sauce over and bake for an hour in a moderate oven.

WE WILL NEVER MAKE CIVILIZED EATERS OUT OF THE MALES UNTIL WE PRY THE FRYING PANS OUT OF THE HANDS OF THEIR WIVES.

★ ★ ★

AN old standby for a boiled tongue, of course, is Sauce Piquante and its record proves that it is good as it has been in business for many years.

To make:

Have a cup of beef extract which has been dissolved in boiling water. Brown two tablespoons of butter and blend in two tablespoons of flour. Pour in the beef extract. Put a half cup of the water in which the tongue was boiled in another pan, add three tablespoons of tarragon vinegar, a teaspoon of finely chopped spring onion, and cooked down to one-half the quantity. Stir this into the first mixture, add two tablespoons of chopped vinegar pickle, a teaspoon of capers and a teaspoon of finely chopped parsley. Put around the tongue and serve.

It is good cold, too, like this:

Cook a large, fresh beef tongue in water with some salt and herbs until it is tender. Cool it a little and peel. Melt butter in a heavy pot and brown the tongue well before it gets entirely cold. Add a little flour to the grease, pour in a cup of good white wine, fill to cover with water. Toss in a large onion cut in half and a few cloves. Simmer for five or six hours over the lowest of low fires. The juice should be well reduced. Now fish it out and put in a pan just a little larger than the tongue, pour the juice over it, and put it in the refrigerator to get cold in its own jelly.

In many Slavic countries lamb tongues are considered the greatest of all delicacies and this version might convince you that they are:

Melt some oil in the bottom of a heavy pot. Cover the bottom with sliced onions and cook them limpid, not brown. Add a little broth to keep them from drying. Now put in a layer of lamb tongues which have been boiled, skinned and split lengthwise. Salt and pepper and cook until tender. Eat.

Unimportant Advice.

THIS is the quiet month in the giving advice racket. People who have troubles this time of year, are either off on their vacations or figure it's just too hot to put the roof back on the house even if they know how. In short, the home owner gets pretty shiftless during July.

Use a special paint on canvas. Ordinary paint will damage the fabric. You can help a damp basement by rigging up an electric fan near a window to force the air out allowing moderately dry warm air to enter from the opposite open window. It is not absolutely necessary to remove an old plaster ceiling before replastering. If the old is still solid, laths can go right on over it and regulation three coats of plaster applied in the usual manner. This saves a lot of dirt and fuss. Remember not to put fish in a new concrete garden pool until you can stick a piece of pink litmus paper in the water without the paper turning blue. If the paper does turn blue the alkaline in the water may kill the fish. You can get pink litmus paper at most drug stores.

How Children Help Parents' Development

By Angelo Patri

PARENTS really begin to grow up when their children come. A child is the most enlightening, broadening, smoothing influence that life offers. Any decent parent wants his child to be a better, happier and more perfect human being than he is, and will bend every effort toward that ideal if he understands the necessity for doing so. That is when his education starts.

When a child is born, his parents begin planning for his education and training. They usually have hidden away in their hearts a secret hope for his future.

THAT HOPE will be based on what their cherished ideal of success happens to be. For some it is a distinguished career of usefulness, to others fame at any price or fortune fabulous, however gained. Only the first one is worth considering here.

The child who is to have a career of usefulness on whatever scale must be trained for it from infancy on. The most effective training is the day-by-day life of his parents. Do they want this child to be honest, just, preferring good to evil? Then they must, at whatever price in convenience, at whatever price of sacrifice, live the life that expresses honor, truth and justice. They can in no other way lead that child to that ideal.

MOST PEOPLE want their children to be pure in heart, sound in spirit, friendly to all he meets. That attitude of mind, that expression of the spirit must first be their own. Their child must see, feel and breathe in the spiritual atmosphere that alone breeds spiritual living. That entails personal sacrifice, personal disciplines that are not easy to accept. These disciplines, once accepted and applied to the daily occasions of life, however, become bulwarks of strength.

It is idle for parents who are indolent and selfish to preach usefulness and generosity to their children. It is a waste of breath for those who have forgotten God's Commandments to preach about the good life to their clear-eyed children.

That is why children are the greatest educational force on earth. They bring out all that is intelligent, all that is good, all that is lovely in their parents. For the children's sake, Father and Mother forsake themselves and live in the spirit. Thus they become the finest of God's creatures, a good man and a good woman.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.

YUGOSLAVIA certainly seems to be in a very difficult position. Trying to persuade the U.S.S.R. that it is not in agreement with what has been said by the Cominform must be quite a formidable achievement, since no one imagines that the Cominform makes any statements without having carefully cleared with Moscow.

Of course, if countries around Yugoslavia, such as Albania, decide to impose economic sanctions, it can be made very difficult for the Yugoslavs. One wishes very much that the U.S.S.R. could be brought to see the light and to give those countries on her borders which have genuine Communist governments sufficient latitude to let them feel they are acting as free and independent people.

THERE IS no question but what the Yugoslavs have a great admiration for Soviet Communism. They feel that, from the economic standpoint, the Russians have the only solution, both industrially and agriculturally. They are not opposed to Soviet political theories, and are even willing to follow along. They have an efficient secret police, and all they ask is that the secret police be their own and that they be allowed to enjoy their own brand of nationalism.

I happen to think that their desire could be achieved quite as well under democracy as under Communism, but they will have to find this out as time goes no. Meanwhile, there is no question but what the USSR should be willing to join in economic co-operation not only with those on her borders, but with all the states of Europe. Every counry in Europe needs to work with all the other countries, and there must be a flow of goods in both directions.

The Berlin situation seems to give rise to actual anxiety because it is one where a serious incident might follow if people lose their heads. Fortunately, we have in General Clay a very calm, farseeing, firm and patient man. One hopes that nothing will happen before the USSR comes to its senses, for it would be sad to force the other allies to serious protest.

IT IS INTERESTING to see that Henry Wallace has at last come out with a statement that, while he might lose 100,000 votes if the Communist party should run a candidate of their own, he would gain another 3,000,000. He actually adds that if the Communists want to help the third-party ticket, they would run a ticket of their own!

It is the first statement which begins to show that a glimmer of light is dawning on Mr. Wallace. He adds, of course, that he would never indulge in any Red-baiting. But no one would ask him to say more than the truth as he discovers it from time to time. This is a very good beginning.

Potato Dumplings

Take one-half cup of bread crumbs, made from sliced bread, crusts removed, which has been dried in the oven. Roll into fine crumbs with a rolling pin. Mix, thoroughly but gently with hands, one cup dry mashed potatoes, one teaspoon chopped onion, one teaspon chpped parsley, one egg—slightly beaten, salt and pepper to taste. Shape in 1½-inch dumplings. Have each smooth on outside. Cook seven to 10 minutes in gently boiling water (one quart water in a two-quart pan). Dumplings will go to bottom of pan then rise to the top. For a very smooth dumpling, roll in bread flour before placing in water.

Liver Dumplings: Boil one-half cup finely chopped calf or chicken livers in water until tender. Drain, and dry. Chop fine and add to above for a nice luncheon entree. Serve with drawn butter, mushruoom sauce or gravy.

Gin Rummy

By Oswald Jacoby

DIFFERENCE of opinion is one of the reasons that makes horse racing. In a lesser degree it makes gin games also. I know that all of you don't agree with all the statements that I make in these articles and at times the ones who disagree may be right and I may be wrong, particularly as gin is not exactly science. However, here is one statement that should meet with one hundred per cent approval.

The statement is: "It is always unwise to overlook the fact that you are gin."

Sometimes it does you no harm. Your opponent may knock, whereupon you will undercut him. Or you will discover that you are gin a couple of plays late and still win the gin bonus. But, ever so often, your opponent will announce gin himself, whereupon you will start to count your unmatched cards, only to find that you have none.

If you are a die-hard you may argue that you have tied your opponent's knock and are entitled to an undercut bonus. I have had several letters asking about this point. The answer to this is that unless you are playing local rules to the contrary you lose the gin bonus. In other words, gin is supreme and the player who knocks with gin wins.

This is covered in law 38 of my book "Gin rummy" as follows: "Gin. The player who knocks with all his cards matched has gin and receives a gin bonus in addition to his opponent's net total. The opponent may not lay off on gin. If both players have gin, the player who has knocked scores the bonus, and his opponent scores nothing."

The rule is logical. The object of play at gin is to knock with all your cards matched and if you achieve this objective you should win.

Sketched here are some of the new details . . . accordion or knife pleated ruffles that end in a flurry of fullness at the beltline . . . tunics rippling from a new and very deep front . . . and a wonderfully becoming deep flounce that is a miracle of good seaming!

Social Problems

REFERRING to my previous answer in this column—that when two or more hostesses invite you to a party, your obligation is then only to the hostess who is your personal friend—this letter continues: "But when invited to a party given by two hostesses, only one a personal friend, what is the guest's future obligation to the stranger at whose house the party is given? Does that in any way alter your previous answer?"

No, the answer is the same. The meaning of "obligation" may have been ambiguous, so let me add: While it is not exacted that you invite this impersonal hostess to a return party, it is definitely courteous to do so, if you can.

DEAR MRS. POST: Is there any kind of dress you would suggest that might substitute for a formal evening dress on the one or two occasions such a dress probably will be necessary on a Southern cruise? I have no use for a very formal dress afterwards.

Answer: An elaborately formal dress is not only unnecessary on a cruise but extremely unsuitable. In fact, one evidence of bad taste is any extreme of fashion in evening dress on shipboard. On the other hand, a smart afternoon dress with its new longer length skirt fits into the evening scene perfectly.

"TIPS for TEENS"

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM in my middle twenties and expect to be married soon. We plan to live in a town 125 miles from the present one. It is a crowded city and jobs and places to live are hard to get. I want very much to go to this town and take a look around, size up the situation regarding work for myself, and housing conditions. My fiance already has his job lined up. He has planned that we would leave early some morning, take all this in, and return home by evening. Mother does not approve of the idea. She says people will talk about me. She adds that she can't go with us as she will not leave my brother alone. My fiance and I are respectable people from respected families. I see no reason why it isn't all right to take this trip as long as we continue to behave like respectable people. What is your opinion? UPSET.

I very much doubt that anyone will criticize you for going on a house-hunting expedition at that distance, providing it is taken as you plan, and with no loitering on the way. If you cannot convince your mother that in this modern day it is unlikely that Mrs. Grundy herself will even turn a hair, then you will have to abandon the idea or help her find some way for your brother to be cared for so that she can go along as chaperone.

Dear Martha Carr:

I, TOO, BELONG to a bridge club like the one described by the person who wrote your column the other night. In my club, too, the women all discussed their husbands and the brazen women who were chasing them. I became disgusted with this kind of talk and left the group. It made me feel too depressed. I got my husband interested in bowling and soon we were both pretty good at it. We met new people, made friends, had fun. There will always be women who like to chase married men. Perhaps the men even encourage them a little. They are getting old, poor guys, and they dread it just as women do. They feel flattered by a young woman's attention. But she hasn't a chance anyway if the man's wife is kind instead of nagging, keeps on telling him how wonderful he is and gets him interested in some recreation they can pursue together. Be cheerful, keep affectionate and attractive, go with your husband everywhere possible, learn to trust him thoroughly and you won't have to worry about losing him.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "A. M. W.": Mother is right. I have some very nice party suggestions your group will enjoy. Outdoor games combined with a wiener roast will be fun, or a Scavenger Hunt, General Party Games, or a Leap Year Party. Each of these will keep the boys too occupied every moment for the bright idea of kissing games to enter in. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and you shall have these leaflets.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "N.L.": From your letter I don't feel I know enough of the circumstances to advise you to do anything but stay where you are and try to be patient. Your parents know the nature of your illness and their own reasons for being so strict. Rely on their judgment at least a while longer. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I'll mail you my Weight Chart.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "G.M.": Regarding finishing your education get in touch with the Board of Education, or in the Fall, with the high school in your neighborhood. You can learn to swim at the "Y," or one of the swimming pools listed in the yellow sheets of the telephone book.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO: "P.L.": I'll mail you the Leap Year Party you asked about if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Junior Lee": I have a Leap Year Party I am sure your crowd will think is tops. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I'll mail it to you.

Beating the Blues

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

MRS. J. has the blues—and it isn't washday, either. "I get such moods too often," she confesses. "They make me miserable, and they make all the rest of the family miserable. How can I beat them?"

Sometimes it is a constitutional problem, but most men and women can make occasional fits of depression less troublesome if they will go at the job energetically. A recent canvass by the Woman's Home Companion found that leading methods used by women readers for this purpose were: play with children or pets; reading; house-cleaning; prayer; buying something new; fine needlework; dressing up and going to the movies; a walk alone, perhaps preceded by a good cry. This wide variety of "tricks," many of which would fail with one woman even if they succeeded with another, suggests that you'll have to experiment a bit to find the key to your own situation, Mrs. J. Assuming that your physician says there is nothing he can do for you, I suggest that you lay out a program like this:

REMEMBER that you are going to have a spell of the "allovers" once in a while. It has happened before and will happen again. Take that for granted, so you won't pretend when it does occur, that this is something unheard of.

When it happens, tell yourself that this isn't "the real Mrs. J." Lots of people have troubles, many of them far worse than your own. "This, too, will pass," and you'll be your real self again; meanwhile you will try not to make others any more miserable than necessary, and you'll put up a good bluff—you'll pretend to be cheerful, even if you don't feel hilarious.

FINALLY, keep busy, preferably with something that represents a change, a new interest, and challenge. There's nothing like a fight to take you out of yourself in this way! I don't mean that you should start a fight with your husband, Mrs. J. Go after some of the evils of the world—not in Asia or Africa but in your own town. Find out, for example, how juvenile delinquents are handled in your city. That will give you something else to worry about. Before you know it, your gloom will have evaporated.

★ ★ ★

QUESTION: You advise cultivating a sense of humor—how can it be done? Either you have it or you don't.

Answer: Not at all; it can be cultivated just as the taste for good music or for baseball can be cultivated. Practice it. Hunt up a few funny stories to tell at the dinner table every evening. Encourage the children to do the same. It's a real contribution to family life.

Q: Should I try to bring up my children without fear?

A: Not if you want them to live: Fear is necessary; but to teach them to fear only fearful things.

A: He should never be able to remember that there was a time when he didn't know them.

A: Sociologist Read Bain says, "A person who can be shocked by the questions and actions of a child is not fit to be a parent." What do you think of that idea?

Where 1500 Students Center on Bible

Moody Institute at Chicago Has Record Number Preparing for Work in Mission Field

By Al Weisman
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 6.

THERE'S an intense air of urgency at the Moody Bible Institute today that would move the bearded, energetic founder of the world's largest Bible school, Dwight L. Moody, to break into a smile of pleasure and a cry of "Praise God!", were he alive.

The record number of 1500 day students from 65 different Protestant denominations now enrolled at the school don't saunter between classes in the 25 buildings sprawled across 12 acres of Chicago's Near North Side. They seem to race, as if there weren't enough minutes in the day to accomplish their mission. There is little of the corridor gaiety customarily found in other colleges; instead, there seems to be a seriousness of purpose among these young men and women, whose average age is 23 and who take but 30 minutes for lunch, so absorbed are they in acquiring as much knowledge of the Bible as quickly as they can.

Outside of the main administration building at almost any time of the day there may be seen a half dozen trucks backed up to the curbing. They await the thousands of tracts and books to be shipped to the 12,000 active correspondence school students scattered over the globe. And on the top floor of the same imposing 12-story administration building are two institute radio stations, which devote 14 hours daily of continuous broadcast to the Christian message.

This spirit of earnestness and acceleration which amazes strangers becomes understandable after a visit with Dr. William Culbertson, installed a few weeks ago as the institute's sixth president. A tall, cheerful man, the 42-year-old director of what has been called "the powerhouse of American Fundamentalism," turns rather grim as he begins his explanation with the revelation of his firm conviction that present world conditions may betoken the second coming of Jesus Christ. As we sat across the desk from him in his book-lined office, Dr. Culbertson picked up a copy of the New Testament. He tapped it gently as he said, in a resonant voice, "I base my conviction on the Bible, which teaches us that if the Jews return to Palestine, and there is a great apostasy and a rising tide of fear on earth, Our Lord may very well return again." Dr. Culbertson went on to point out the Jews have returned to the Holy Land; the great apostasy or a falling away from the church is indicated by "great multitudes who know nothing of Jesus Christ in our world today;" and the development of the atom bomb and the talk of war among the nations may very well be the great fear that exists in our world.

Dr. Culbertson paused at this moment, and then added:

"So you see why we're so busy here today. We have a great deal to do in order to do what Christ told us to do. We may be short of time."

At this point he turned and pointed out the window where workmen could be seen building additions to the Institute's present structures. He smiled and said, "That's a paradox for you. Here we are busy going ahead with expansion plans as we talk of the possibility of our age coming to an end."

The soft-spoken, humble-appearing Dr. Culbertson, who once was the youngest Bishop ever to serve the New York and Philadelphia Synod of the Reformed Episcopal Church before he came to the institute in 1942 as dean of education, is certainly not the dynamic evangelist in the Dwight Moody tradition. It is doubtful whether any of Dr. Culbertson's colleagues will pray as Moody's associates once did, "O God, do tire Moody or give the rest of us superhuman strength." But then again there's scarcely been another evangelist like the impassionate Dwight L. Moody.

DR. WILLIAM CULBERTSON, NEW PRESIDENT OF MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE, THE WORLD'S LARGEST BIBLE SCHOOL.

THE LATE DWIGHT L. MOODY . . . "WHILE WE SING ANOTHER VERSE, WHY NOT COME AND GIVE YOUR HEART TO GOD?"

The stocky, robust Moody was a shoe salesman who never finished the eighth grade and who gave up fitting people's feet for shoes and gave himself entirely to fitting their souls for heaven. He dominated the evangelistic world for the last half of the nineteenth century, traveling more than a million miles to address more than 100,000,000 people. His stories of sin and redemption brought literally thousands of people under conviction for their sins. Indeed, he was credited with having "reduced the population of hell by a million souls."

MOODY was no sentimentalist when it came to financial matters. He stuck to large cities and cultivated industrial executives to get money for the Bible Institute he founded in 1886. Once, during the Chicago World's Fair in 1893, Moody pitched a big circus tent and preached to 20,000 persons a day, collecting an average of $800 a day. The money he collected put MBI on easy street and it soon was on its way to becoming the largest of the 169 Bible schools in the world. At the time Moody died in 1899 his school was established as the center of fundamentalism.

Dr. Culbertson, while not endowed with the evangelistic fervor of Dwight L. Moody, is nevertheless preparing to carry on the fight against the Devil relentlessly. However, Dr. Culbertson will not find it necessary to travel about the world raging against the Devil, preaching the Bible. Instead he can depend on the 50,000 evangelists who have already been instructed at Moody and who are spreading the word in every corner of the globe. The institute itself is interdenominational and does not send missionaries abroad, leaving that to the mission boards of various denominations.

Wisely, MBI had adapted modern techniques to its program of spreading the Gospel, like the two radio stations. "God has put at our disposal so many great improvements that we should use them," says Dr. Culbertson.

The institute's latest adaptation and for which it has gained wide recognition is the use of the movie camera. The school has established the Moody Institute of Science on the West Coast and what has come out of there so far in the way of films is a credit not only to the religious but to the scientific world as well. For instance, the latest film is a 45-minute epic entitled, "Voice of the Deep," which reveals for the first time noises made by fish, achieved only after many weeks through special underseas cameras and hydrophones. This picture is part of a series, "Sermons in Science," and seeks to show science proves — not refutes — religious truths. "Our intent in 'Voice of the Deep' is to urge individuals to probe the Bible like our scientists have probed the deep." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios made Moody a large offer to distribute "Voice of the Deep," but it was rejected and is to be exhibited free of charge in churches throughout the world. Equally fascinating is a film adventure into the origin of life in the universe entitled, "The God of Creation," which is a combination of astronomical shots and microscopic photography so beautiful that it fairly takes your breath away.

Not even aviation has been overlooked in the modernized evangelistic program at Moody. The school has established its own aviation training school at Elmhurst, Ill., and has purchased six light planes to teach prospective missionaries how to fly. Already 75 students have completed the required 198 hours of ground instruction and 50 hours of flying time at Elmhurst.

THE written word has not been by-passed in this rush to utilize all modern inventions and the Moody Press, the publishing division of the institute, spends $100,000 a year in printing books and tracts for free distribution. Major publishing venture is the Moody Monthly, an attractive, four-color magazine, well written and edited, with a circulation of 75,000.

To equip the missionary with thorough all-round knowledge, courses are also held in meteorology, photography, radio, in addition to regular courses in the Bible. The students are also prepared for a rugged life, if they encounter it, with courses in rudiments of medicine and midwifery, which may come in handy in the far corners of the earth.

The regularly-enrolled students, some of whom come from as far as Korea and South Africa, pay no tuition during the three years they attend the institute. They pay for room and board, amounting to about $45 a month.

Unlike the founder of the institute, Dr. Culbertson need not be concerned with raising funds. Wealthy industrialists are on the Board of Trustees, men like C. Davis Weyerhaeuser, a member of the northwest lumber family, and Maxey Jarman, shoe magnate. But "the bulk of our donations and gifts are $5 and $10 sent in by thousands, including missionaries, from all over the world," says Dr. Culbertson.

The institute declines to reveal the value of its real estate holdings or its financial status, but several years ago it was estimated the school operates on a $2,000,000 budget annually.

Dr. Culbertson, whose only comment when named president by the board of trustees was "I want to be in the place God wants me to be," thinks the man-to-man type of evangelism is on the increase now, although large mass meetings have staged a comeback in the last 10 years.

"We have only one order of the day here," he continued. "We are dedicated to helping people physically and spiritually." And as to the speedup at the institute, he adds, "We must enter every possible door as quickly as we can."

No man, it seems, knoweth the day or the hour . . . when the heavens shall be rolled back as a scroll—remember moving pictures of the mushrooming atomic bomb? —and the Lord shall return to judge the quick and the dead, and the wicked shall call upon the rocks and the mountains to fall upon them and hide them from the wrath of an angry but just God. On the other hand, the saved will be safely hidden in the cleft of a rock, a rock known as the Rock of Ages.

Such are the teachings at Moody Bible Institute.

Contract Bridge

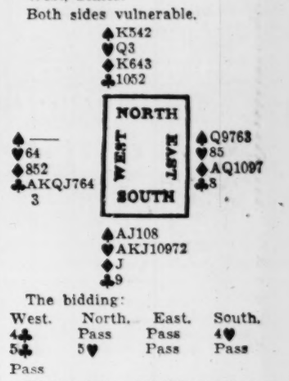

By Ely Culbertson

AMONG the many plays in bridge which are supposed to be "bad" is the first-round finesse. Beginners are taught that when they hold the ace and king of a suit, they should first lay down one of the high cards for the possible drop of the queen before finessing for that card.

As one more bit of proof that such "rules" are worth very little, if anything, let us examine the following hand:

West, dealer.

The bidding:

West.	North.	East.	South.
4♣	Pass	Pass	4♥
5♣	5♥	Pass	Pass
Pass

West led the club king and continued with the ace, East playing the diamond ten at the second trick. South ruffed and promptly led his singleton jack of diamonds. When West ducked, South went right up with dummy's king, hoping to steal the trick, but East of course won with the ace and continued with the diamond queen.

Declarer ruffed high and now led two rounds of trumps, ending in dummy. His next move was to cash the spade king—and right there and then his chances faded. Even though West showed out, there was no way to capture the spade queen and it became the setting trick.

South paid very little attention to the information he had concerning West's distribution. East's failure to follow the second lead placed West with eight clubs, and shortly afterward he showed two hearts and two diamonds. True, he might have one spade, but with at least four spades marked in the East hand, the odds were very great that the missing queen was not held singleton by West.

Thus, to maintain communications between the North and South hands, it was vital for South to lead a low spade from dummy and finesse, in order to keep the spade king as a re-entry for a second finesse.

Glazed chintz ruffling in three patterns and a wide range of colors, used for framing windows, mirrors, bedspreads, pillow tops, can be bought already shirred. It comes in either a five-inch or 10-inch width.

with BOB WOLFSON

Have you ever played nursemaid to a seasick cocker spaniel? I did. On a voyage of 45 days from India. In the Spring of '45, scheduled to fly back with about 30 other American Army men in India, it was found at the last moment that I couldn't bring Taj Mahal Wolfson I (world's finest cocker spaniel) aboard the plane. So I took a homeward-bound ship where regulations were more indulgent. This decision about Taj saved my life. The plane I was scheduled to take crashed over Rome—killing all those aboard.

IT'S A LONG JUMP from India and army life to Feld Chevrolet, 2400 Big Bend, but that distance didn't discourage a request by my friend Soorajmull Nagarmull Jalan. (I call him Sam.) He cabled from Calcutta, "Quote immediately prices Cadillac and Roadmaster Buick Convertible air-conditioned with radios. S. Jalan." I dug around to see what I could do for my Indian friend who had been exceedingly gracious to me. (Some time I'll tell you how he took me to visit Gandhi.) Jalan, as owner of numerous jute mills, is one of the richest men in the world — so I felt no qualms in cabling him "cost of car $4800" Back came a cable from Jalan. "Is that for one or two?"

So it goes in the automotive industry these days. Someone knows a man "who knows a man who knows someone who is a dealer." It's a somewhat difficult spot to be in. With a real and sincere desire to be exactly fair in assigning cars on the basis of customer needs, the average dealer is subjected to all kinds of pressure to jump a friend of a friend of a friend way up on the list for a new car.

One point of almost universal agreement is that there must be a better way to distribute new cars. I know that it is a matter of major concern to every manufacturer of automobiles whose products have a "suggested delivered list price" which varies somewhat from the "market price." Feld Chevrolet is likewise concerned, but the solution is, unfortunately, not as simple as recognition of the problem. We'd like you to know a couple of our remedial thoughts on the subject . . .

Cars should not be sold solely on a basis of priority in which prospective buyers come through the door. Consideration should be given to need. Our applications inquire as to the number of cars in the family; the number of people using the car, etc. Sincere effort should be made to insure against resale—hence big stress is made on selling to customers in need of a car.

I will personally welcome any and all CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTIONS from my readers and regularly will publish in this column the one that in my opinion, is the most original and practical. Five dollars goes to the writer of the letter selected for publication each week. Send your letters to me, Bob Wolfson, president, Feld Chevrolet, 2400 Big Bend, Maplewood 17, Missouri.

VAUDEVILLE HITS COMEBACK TRAIL. To one who as a kid thrilled to the vaudeville bill at the hometown theater, there came a very cheerful bit of news out of New York recently. Vaudeville, over which show business had been dolefully shaking its head, is back on the stardust trail again. The Texaco Star Theater has revived vaudeville via the NBC East Coast television network. The programs, on Tuesday nights, star Milton Berle as emcee for the first four weeks. Along with the vaudeville acts of past years will be appearances by top entertainers of today's radio, stage and screen. Seven to ten acts are presented each week. Variety, barometer of show business, gave the new "vaudevideo" a hearty pat of approval in its review.

SEEMS TO ME ST. LOUIS TELEVISION could emulate New York's television revival of vaudeville. This town has always been a popular one with those in show business. There are also reports that St. Louis will have the key television station on a central network. So perhaps in the not too distant future, the man on the flying trapeze can say "Meet Me in St. Louie, Louie, via television."

STAMP OF APPROVAL DEPT. June Darby's story hour on KXLW at 4:30 p. m., Mondays through Saturdays. "Whizzer, the magic airplane"; "Sparky and the Magic Train"; "Bugs Bunny," are some of the characters which hold children in the KXLW listening area enthralled. The program is warmly endorsed by parents as a welcome relief from the blood and thunder serials.

AFTER YOU, ALPHONSE. The Public Service "Glad to Have You Aboard" campaign is giving me Ideas. Any one of these days now, I'm going to push a buzzer and inform all concerned that cars serviced at Feld get rolled onto a red plush carpet. When the service job is finished, rose petals will be sprinkled on the car, and the customer will receive an engraved invitation to call again. Can't let those Public Service boys get ahead of Feld in courtesy! All kidding aside, however, it's a splendid idea the company has — an idea that might apply to any business. Remember that old bromide about its taking so many muscles to achieve a frown and so few to wear a smile.

SIGNING-OFF DEPT. If you have a compliment, beef or problem, I'll appreciate your dropping me a line at Feld Chevrolet, 2400 Big Bend, Maplewood 17, Missouri. Don't forget, too, those CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTIONS you send in may be worth five dollars to you as a weekly winner. Also any items about St. Louis and St. Louisans will be welcomed. As you may have guessed, I get paid on the basis of how much fan or pan mail I get when the man in the gray uniform and Limey sun helmet comes in each day. See you next Monday.

Sincerely yours,

BOB WOLFSON.

What Makes Woman Attractive?

THERE are two kinds of gals men turn to look at—the strictly make-up doll and the woman who's "delightful to the senses" —which is the dictionary definition of beauty. One thing's sure—you can't just smear it on. According to authorities, good looks are a woman's total "impression value" —and her personality's a big part of it.

Many a dame is easy to look at although she hasn't got a face or build that would launch a thousand ships, or even a rowboat. But she knows her best points and how to turn them on — her smile, voice, carriage.

She has an inner capital too, which includes health, intelligence, pleasant disposition. No amount of cosmetics can put glamour on a sourpuss. As the head of a famous model agency said in a magazine article: "Girls walk into my office who by every standard of physical measurement should be gorgeous. But they walk as if they were riding a horse, their voices are shrill, their minds shallow."

He lists some features which most lovely babes have in common: A glow of health, lustrous hair, soft, modulated voice, easy stride, erect carriage, intellectual curiosity, integrity, naturalness. How about dabbing some of these on—you gals who consume your own weight in lipstick between the ages of 15 and 50?

ERNEST BLAU.

Take My Word for It

By Frank Colby

WORDS TO WATCH

A GOOD word to watch is wreak. Overheard on a newscast: "The storm wrecked much damage to roofs and store windows." The word used is wreaked, "inflicted or executed." Wreak is correctly pronounced: reek. The past tense, wreaked, is "reekt."

Overheard at a memorial service: ". . . to pay home-age to his memory." The word used is homage, "reverence or respect." It has no connection with the word "home." The first syllable should rhyme with Tom; the second syllable rhymes with ridge, thus HOM-idge.

Overheard on a fashion commentation: "For riding, blue jeans have almost replaced the once-popular jod-ferz." The word used is jodhpurs, "riding breeches which fit closely from the knee to the ankle." The breeches are named for Jodhpur, a state in Rajputana, India. The first syllable rhymes with code, mode. The second syllable begins with the sound of "p," not "f." Better say: JODE-purz.

Overheard in a physician's waiting room: "He's treating her for an infection of the LAHR-nicks." The word used is larynx, "the organ of voice." Note that the second syllable is -ynx, not "-nyx." Also note that the "a" in the first syllable is flat as in Larry. Say, LAR-ingks.

Overheard at a banquet: "This is indeed a mo-men-choo-tiss occasion." The word used is momentous, "of great importance." Note it has only three syllables: Mo-men-tous. Better pronounce it: mo-MEN-tuss.

Overheard at a luncheon club: ". . . stripped the room until the walls and floor were NECK-id." The word naked should have the long "ay" sound in the first syllable. Correct: NAY-kid; or NAY-k'd.

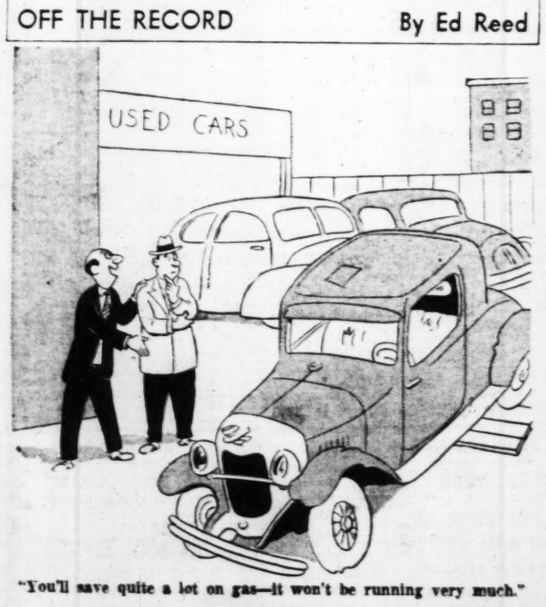

Overheard at church: "The ushers will now pass among you for the offer-uh-tory." The word has four, not five, syllables: of-fer-to-ry. But many of us manage somehow to sound an extra "uh" syllable between the "of-fer-" and "-tory," as we do also in athlete ("ath-uh-lete") and athletic ("ath-uh-letic").

Correct pronunciation: OFF'er-TOE-ree.

A good rule to remember in serving green vegetables that have been steamed or boiled is to add a teaspoon of butter or margarine for each serving. The hot vegetable will melt the fat as it comes to the table.

The Phrase "Straws in the Wind."

ONE of our readers inquires for the origin of the familiar expression, "straws in the wind." This turns out to be almost three centuries old, its source being in John Seldon's famous "Table Talk," on the subject of "Libels," by which Seldon meant lampoons, the abusive censures or satires of the time, Seldon wrote as follows:

"Though some make light of libels, yet you may see by them how the wind sits; as, take a straw and throw it up into the air; you shall see by that which way the wind is, which you shall not do by casting up a stone. More solid things do not show the complexion of the time as well as ballads and libels."

Noteworthy literary uses in the history of this expression as metaphor include Bulwer Lytton's, in the play, "Rienzi": "The Provencal, who well knew how to construe the wind by the direction of the straws."

And in the well known "Cloister and the Hearth," dating 1861, by Reade, we find the following: "And such straws of speech show how blows the wind."

Later, in Lee's work on England of the sixteenth century, published in 1907, there is this: "Bacon set forth these views, as mere ballons d'essei, as straws to show him which way the wind blew."

Answer to Saturday's Puzzle

It's an Idea
By Vera

The entrance to the humblest cottage may be given importance and beauty. An old-fashioned china washstand pitcher is filled with greens or flowers and stands at one side of this doorway.

Baked beans mixed with crumbled crispy cooked bacon and sweet pickle relish make an excellent luncheon salad when served on salad greens. Serve with buttered Boston brown bread if desired.

In order to have red cabbage keep its color, cook it with an acid. A few tablespoons of vinegar should be used for each cup of shredded cabbage and added to the cooking water.

Remarkable Help to Sufferers of Arthritis
Bowan Jones, one of St. Louis' leading Physical Therapists, participated in this research. Mr. Jones, who has charge of the various types of treatment at THE HOUSE OF HEALTH, 4947 Delmar Blvd., feels that in every case, some help can be afforded by this six-point program.
